

Plane Crashes Into Atlantic; 15 Feared Lost

Air Force Pilot Apparently Ditched to Avoid Nantucket

NANTUCKET, Mass., (AP) — A U.S. Air Force plane loaded with sophisticated radar gear crashed into the Atlantic Ocean like "a ball of fire" Tuesday night. There was only one known survivor among the 16-member crew.

The pilot, Col. James P. Lyle, 47, was credited with ditching the four-engined Super Constellation in a heroic effort to avoid the sleepy island village of Nantucket.

Lyle, who has 47 combat missions on his record, was one of 13 crewmen missing. Two bodies were recovered.

Rescued from the water was Lt. Joseph L. H. Guenet, 29, Montreal, Que., the navigator. He was listed in fair condition.

Last Minute Maneuver
"I am convinced that he—Lyle—was fighting desperately to get it to the water and avoid this summer colony," said Albert L. Manning, one of three experienced private pilots who agreed that a last-minute maneuver kept the craft from striking the island.

The plane left Otis Air Force Base at Falmouth on Cape Cod at 6:50 p.m. and crashed in flames 10 minutes later 1 1/4 miles south of Nantucket, an island just off the coast of Massachusetts.

The piston-powered craft was one of several the Air Force uses as "pickets," flying race track patterns in 12-hour shifts over an area extending over the Atlantic from the Canadian border to Charleston, S.C.

Skies were clear and visibility almost unlimited this morning as search boats, planes and helicopters swarmed over the area.

'Burst of Fire'
All that could be seen, however, was a large oil slick, a half mile square.

Rene A. Orleans, one of the private pilots who witnessed the crash, said he had "never seen anything like it. It skidded along the water for about 4,000 feet and when it hit there was this huge burst of fire and a big red fireball."

Officials at Otis said they had reports before the crash that crewmen were manning individual life rafts for a ditched landing at sea, but there were doubts that many could have survived the explosion.

If the crewmen were able to don their rubber suits and escape in the life rafts, they could survive at sea "for a considerable period of time," Col. John M. Konosky, wing vice commander, told a news conference at Otis.

The crash was the third fatal plunge in less than two years involving Otis radar planes, which fly air defense missions between Newfoundland and Bermuda. The propeller-driven craft cost $2.5 million and carry additional millions worth of radar equipment.

Two Die as Plane Crashes in Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force reconnaissance plane crashed in flames and the two men aboard perished as it skidded into a home Tuesday night.

Lorenzo Caldwell, his wife and six children escaped through the back door of their house as the twin jet RF4C struck and exploded. The dwelling burned.

Hoffa's Son Wins Primary Election

DETROIT (AP) — James P. Hoffa is the Democratic nominee for state representative from Detroit's 18th District.

The 25-year-old son of the jailed president of the Teamsters Union outdistanced 14 rivals in a special primary Tuesday. Young Hoffa, a lawyer, is a legislative aide in Lansing.

LBJ, Kiesinger Agree To Hold Consultations

Leaders Confer for Two Hours

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Johnson said today he and West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger agreed they would have "constant, complete and full consultations" before either of their governments takes decisions on matters of interest to both countries.

The President spoke to newsmen after his second meeting with the West German chancellor since his arrival Sunday for the funeral of former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Johnson said he and Kiesinger had taken "no hard and fast decisions" but he hoped there would be more to announce after the chancellor visits the United States "at an early date."

The two men spent more than two hours together at Kiesinger's residence. The President said they discussed:

1. The projected treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons;
2. Trade and monetary problems;
3. Troop deployment;
4. The security of the two nations;
5. The prosperity of their peoples.

After the discussions with Kiesinger, Johnson took off by plane for Washington accompanied by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Kiesinger, who spoke to newsmen first, put the emphasis on the agreement to consult. West German leaders have often complained in the past that they were not consulted sufficiently before American decisions.

Kiesinger has said that the Soviet Union and the United States were in "atomic complicity" on the nuclear pact, to which the West Germans have strong objections.

"We will speak openly to one another," he said.

Dirt Picked Up by Surveyor's Scoop

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 3's little scoop picked up a clod of lunar soil today, moved it several feet and dumped it on its own foot pad.

The pad is white, giving a better background for photographing.

Therefore scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, controlling Surveyor's lunar surface explorations, were able to use all the color filters available in the spacecraft's cameras in taking pictures of the soil sample.

They didn't know at first whether the object scooped up was soil or rocks but when the door of the scoop was closed the material squashed, proving it was soft soil.

4 Teen-Agers Killed in Fiery Auto Collision

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A flaming car-truck collision Tuesday in the Milwaukee suburb of Franklin took the lives of four teen-age boys and caused serious injury to two Idaho truck drivers.

Killed were:
Rufus A. Weaver Jr., 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus A. Weaver Sr., of Oak Creek; Andrew J. Bennin, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome C. Bennin of Franklin; Daniel Gustin, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gustin of Oak Creek; and Thomas Lewis, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Lewis of Oak Creek.

The truck drivers were identified as John Klingaman, 32, and Kenneth Hitchcock, 47, both of Rathdrum, Idaho. They are reported in poor condition at St. Mary's Hospital Burn Center.

Police said the car carrying the four youths struck the truck broadside, just behind its cab. The truck was loaded with two 15,000 to 20,000 pound generators on its flatbed.

The tangled mass of both vehicles was carried about 125 feet down the highway.

The car, caught under the flatbed, was crushed under one of the generators.

The gasoline tank on the car and the diesel oil tank on the truck both ruptured and burst into flames after the crash.

Uphold Europe Borders

Communists Call for End of NATO Alliance

KARLOVY VARY, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Communist party leaders of Eastern and Western Europe signed a declaration today aimed at upholding present frontiers in Europe and persuading the West to abandon the North Atlantic Alliance in favor of an all-European security system.

The Karlovy Vary declaration on peace and security in Europe was signed on the final day of a three-day meeting of chiefs of 24 ruling and non-ruling Communist parties at this health resort. The conference was shortened by one day and no official reason was given.

But Czechoslovak informants said it was because of the death of Soviet comrade Vladimir Komarov. Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev was among those at the conference.

The declaration is aimed against the policies of West Germany and its claim to represent the entire German nation. It seeks to promote neutrality for Western Europe, hostility to U.S. influence in Europe, rejection of allied plans for renewing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization expiring in 1969 and recognition of all present European borders, including those of divided Germany as permanent. An all-European conference on European peace and security is proposed.

15-Year-Old Girl Could Get Electric Chair

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Juvenile Court judge looked at Mary Crane, 15, and said: "Mary, it is my sad duty to bind you over to the grand jury. I hope someone will be able to provide the help you need, because it is not available in this court."

The girl is charged with first-degree murder. The slaying involved $2.

Juvenile Court officials said they believe she is the youngest girl ever to be bound over to an Ohio grand jury for murder. The maximum penalty is death in the electric chair.

The teen-ager is charged with the fatal shooting last December of Paul Williams at his East 151st Street home when he refused to give up $2 he allegedly had taken from her girl friend.

U.S. Continuing to Apply Bomb, Bomb, Bomb Theory

Incredible Tonnage Rate Almost Surpasses That of World War II

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tactic is bomb, bomb, bomb — and U.S. planes are doing it. The April tonnage seems likely to exceed the World War II rate.

'Just Unbelievable'
Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara often points to the bomb tonnages to show that the magnitude of air operations in Southeast Asia "is just unbelievable. . . fantastic in size against any previous standards."

The 77,000 tons in March compares with 29,000 tons per month spilled against the Japanese at War II.

Pilots Blast Railway Bridge in N. Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force pilots pressed their war against the Hanoi area with unrelenting fury today, bombing a key railway and highway bridge across the Red River four miles from the center of the North Vietnamese capital.

The steel and concrete bridge carries the only rail line between Red China and the North Vietnamese capital, the U.S. Command said.

U.S. spokesmen were unable to give an immediate assessment.

Cesar Chavez Speaks in Milwaukee

Organizer of Farm Workers Seeks State Backing for California Strike

BY DAVID GIFFEY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — Cesar Chavez, California leader of organizational efforts among farm workers, Tuesday night paid his first visit to Wisconsin to organize support of state labor leaders for a boycott against the products of a California grape processing firm.

Chavez arrived unannounced in Milwaukee shortly before 8 p.m. to appear at a meeting at El Centro Hispano-Americano, a Spanish-American center on Milwaukee's south side.

The meeting was attended by about 50 backers of farm labor organizations including representatives of the AFL-CIO, United Auto Workers (UAW), Obreros Unidos (United Workers) and Protestant and Roman Catholic clergymen.

Chavez left Milwaukee about 11 p.m. to return to Delano, Calif., scene of a strike against Perelli-Minetti Co., the firm which also is the object of the boycott.

Sought Support
The 39-year-old head of United Farm Workers Organizing Committee said he spent the last six days traveling around the country organizing support for the boycott. He arrived in Wisconsin after visits to New York and Chicago.

The boycott was announced late last week in Wisconsin by Jesus Salas, Wautoma. Salas leads United Workers, an organization of migrant farm workers, and last year led a march from Wautoma to Madison to demand improved working and living conditions for migrants in Wauwasha County.

Chavez asked for support of Wisconsin labor leaders in the boycott. The Perelli-Minetti firm exports to other states, prominent brands of brandy and vermouth.

"We need the cooperation of the people in their respective communities to get these Perelli-Minetti products off the shelves," Chavez said.

Chavez' organization is seeking "fourth-party" mediation in the strike which has been going on for 21 months. He charged that the Teamsters Union in Delano signed a "sweetheart contract" with the company after farm workers' picket lines had been set up.

"Agricultural workers," he said, "are not covered by the National Labor Relations Act and, therefore, unfair labor practices cannot be filed against Perelli-Minetti."

The strike started, Chavez said, after the company refused to recognize the UFWOC as a collective bargaining agent.

"I've never seen people suffer so much during a strike as the one we have in Delano," he said. "They have been living from the strike fund, eating from the strike fund. Everything they do they have to go through a committee for approval."

Chavez criticized large grape growers and the state administration of California as being "unfriendly" and creating a "power structure" so that "it's almost impossible to build a union."

Wisconsin has become a target for the boycott, according to Chavez and Salas, because the state is one of the major consumers of brandy in the nation.

The boycott in Wisconsin will begin in earnest, they said, when retailers and distributors of the products are notified. Picketing of business places which sell the boycotted products is included in the plans.

Provision of Kellett Bill

Merger of Aeronautics Criticized at Conference

BY DICK LYNEIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SHEBOYGAN — Provisions of the Kellett reorganization bill, which would merge the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission into a new state transportation department, came under heavy criticism here today at the 12th annual Wisconsin Aeronautics Conference.

Thomas K. Jordan, commission director, said the Kellett bill "would affect every airport owner-user and airplane owner in the state and interstate traffic using state airports."

Jordan explained that the bill, now being considered by the Legislature, proposes to abolish the five-member commission and transfer its powers to the secretary of transportation and its functions to the transportation department.

'Serious Damage'
"After careful study, Jordan said, "The aeronautics commission has advised the governor and Legislature that the course would seriously damage the state's economic and aeronautic interests. The commission recommended that it should be transferred to the proposed department of transportation intact with its present powers, responsibilities and staff."

The bill, as now amended, would make the five-man commission an advisory body to the secretary of transportation.

"Wisconsin, under present law," Jordan said, "has made aviation progress equal to that of any state in the country. There is no assurance that the proposed change will produce better results in the future. In fact, it might be found that the results will not be desirable as

Westmoreland Fans Senate War Debate

Doves Claim U. S. Commander Is Being Used as Propaganda Tool

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has erupted into bitter, renewed debate of the Vietnam war with Gen. William C. Westmoreland's forthcoming address to Congress providing the spark. Senate critics of U.S. policy charged Tuesday that Westmoreland, American military commander in Vietnam, was being used as a propaganda tool by the Johnson administration. Backers of administration policy said the debate itself feeds North Vietnamese hopes for final victory.

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee, disputed in an interview today contentions that President Johnson is using Westmoreland's current visit home to silence dissent to war policies.

Assess Situation

Russell said Westmoreland, scheduled to address a joint meeting of Congress and to brief governors at the White House Friday, is giving a "well-reasoned assessment" of the war situation.

Westmoreland told the annual meeting of The Associated Press in New York Monday that he sees no end to the war except by exerting maximum military pressure to grind the enemy down. He said U.S. fighting men are "dismayed" by "unpatriotic acts" of dissent at home that give the Communists hope they can win politically what they can't win by force.

"You can't please some people," Russell said. "If the President brings the general home to report on the war, that's propaganda in their minds. If he

Second Vote Might be Asked Of Teamsters

Fitzsimmons Notes Small Response to Proposed Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Teamsters Union says the membership vote on a proposed national contract may be indecisive enough to force a second balloting.

Frank Fitzsimmons, Teamsters general vice president, said Tuesday union members whose votes have been counted so far "are voting a majority" to accept the proposed pact.

But he indicated large numbers of the 450,000 Teamsters involved are not voting, and added, "If a substantial number of employees do not vote, a mail referendum may have to be conducted."

Apparent confusion among some Teamsters over whether the contract already had been approved — plus reluctance by some to vote while a trucking strike-lockout continues in Chicago — was generally credited with the low vote.

In Chicago, where union members and employers are not part of the national contract, federal mediator C. K. Call summoned leaders from both sides to a meeting in hopes of helping talks.

A new call for an end to the dispute came from Thomas Coulter, spokesman for the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry, who said the stalemate has "vitally affected commerce, industry and employment" in the nation's second largest city.

Teamsters struck eight Chicago trucking companies last week.

Love's Signing of Looser. Abortion Law Follows 'Difficult Decision'

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Gov. John A. Love said his decision to sign a bill liberalizing Colorado's abortion laws was "one of the more important and difficult decisions of my experience in office."

The governor said before signing the bill Tuesday his mail ran to about 5,000 letters and telegrams — "about 2,000 against and about 2,400 for the bill."

Love said "the bill itself is completely permissive, not requiring any hospital, doctor, nurse, potential mother or any other person to act in any way to trinate a pregnancy at any time."

Leonard Carlin, president of the Catholic Lawyers Guild of Denver which opposed the bill, said he was disappointed, but not surprised.

Legislative Landmark

"My impression," Carlin said, "was that he (Love) was one of the most enthusiastic supporters of the bill."

Dr. Dana McLean Greeley, Unitarian Church leader, telegraphed Love, "We believe this bill, setting forth certain conditions for the interruption of pregnancy will be a landmark in American legislation."

Dr. Greeley is president of Unitarian Universalist Association, the national organization of the Unitarian Church, which is beginning its National Assembly in Denver Saturday. Colorado's seven Unitarian ministers also signed.

Love said the new law requires that abortions be performed only in accredited hospitals and that each operation must have the unanimous consent of a special three-man board of physicians.

Severe Tests

"I am certain that the operation provided for will occur only in hospitals, subject to a severe test of accreditation, which will successfully prevent anything approaching abortion clinics," Love said.

"The fear that some have that Colorado will become an 'abortion Mecca' if this bill becomes law does not seem to me well founded."

Love said "the use or abuse of the bill will continue to be of great interest and concern to me. If we find defects or omissions or if abuses do, indeed, occur, we shall be the first to seek changes."

He said, "I believe that the bill as written contains safeguards and is designed to do something about areas of suffering and abuse which have been of concern to a great many people for a great period of time."

Prevent Abuses

"I have confidence that our licensed physicians, acting as a three-man board, and with the protection of the law, will act responsibly to prevent possible abuses," the governor said.

Colorado law previously allowed abortions only in cases presenting a severe threat to the physical health of the mother or in pregnancies resulting from forcible rape.

The new law permits the ending of pregnancies presenting a severe threat to the health —

Soviets Say Soyuz Had Flown Before

5,000 Mourners Jam Red Square For Cosmonaut's Hero's Burial

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union gave a hero's burial in Red Square to cosmonaut Vladimir M. Komarov today and disclosed that his new Soyuz 1 spaceship had been flown before without a man on board.

Mstislav Keldysh, president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, said in a funeral oration before 5,000 mourners that Komarov took up the Soyuz 1 last Sunday "following its unmanned flights." The spacecraft crashed Monday.

Keldysh made only this passing reference and gave no other details. It was the first time that Soviet authorities revealed a spaceship had been tried out without a man on board before a manned flight was risked.

Flight Returned

The earlier flights of the Soyuz 1 were not reported. It was possible that they were disguised as part of the Cosmos series of unmanned earth satellites. A report from abroad said one of the recent Cosmos flights had been brought back to earth.

Keldysh's words tended to discount speculation that the Soyuz had never been tested before and had developed unexpected trouble in trying to land.

Komarov's ashes were to be placed in the red brick Kremlin wall.

As the chimes of the Kremlin tower struck 3 p.m., Russia's leaders and its plain citizens gathered in the huge square to pay their last respects to Komarov.

Top Soviet leaders present included Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

Komarov's weeping widow, Valentina, was supported by two women as she walked behind the urn containing her husband's ashes. The flower-bedecked urn rested on a platform drawn by an armored car.

Soviet Leaders

Behind the widow came Komarov's fellow cosmonauts and then Soviet leaders.

Some 5,000 ordinary Russians filled the square. Many carried portraits of Komarov draped in black.

A spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington said plans to send American astronauts L. Gordon Cooper and Frank Borman to the funeral were abandoned because of Soviet coolness to the idea. He said NASA was told the funeral was an internal Soviet affair.

Moscow's newspapers published messages of condolence from leaders in the Soviet Union and other countries as reports circulated that Soyuz 1, the new spaceship in which Komarov, 40, crashed Monday, had given him trouble almost from the time it was launched Sunday.

One report of the flight said the trouble forced cancellation of plans for a crew to ride a second satellite into space Monday for a linkup with Soyuz 1 and an exchange of cosmonauts between the craft.

Calm Returning To Tense Greece

ATHENS (AP) — Troops were withdrawn from most parts of Athens today as calm prevailed throughout Greece, but the new military government kept the country under tight rein.

The new rulers are acting under a 55-year-old siege law that strips the people of most of the guarantees normal to a democracy.

mental or physical — of the mother. It allows the termination of pregnancies resulting from incest or from any of the classifications of rape — including statutory rape.

Abortions also will be permitted under the new law in pregnancies likely to result in a deformed or retarded child.

Westmoreland to LBJ's Aid

There had been some speculation some months ago that the Republican party, eager for another Eisenhower, might persuade General William Westmoreland to come home from Vietnam and lead the party to victory. But General Westmoreland's speech at the Associated Press meeting in New York left no doubt but that he is, for one reason or another, LBJ's man.

The four star general made a fine impression and paid high tribute to the American fighting man, always a topic of pleasure to Americans. He carefully and rightly evaded being pinned into a corner concerning the number of American troops that will be needed to win the war or how far the United States would go in widening the war in order to win. Clearly those are classified matters.

But overall his speech was an echo of the line that is being pushed now by the

Johnson Administration. The major points are that we must deter Communist aggression in Vietnam or risk losing practically the whole world to it; we have the fire power but must continue to have the resolve; the anti-war demonstrations at home serve to prolong the war by encouraging the leaders in Hanoi; and the South Vietnamese are able and willing allies.

All of these points may be true although there has been considerable evidence to indicate that each is not quite as black or white as it is expressed. But it is interesting that a month ago President Johnson flew to Guam reportedly because General Westmoreland could not take the time from his duties to meet in Washington.

Clearly the general now has other duties and one of the major ones is to help sell the Johnson line regarding the war to the American people.

Coup in Greece

The army coup in Greece, apparently unexpected in Washington, follows what has amounted almost to political chaos for several years if not decades.

The real struggle between young King Constantine II and what has been a left wing pressure in both political and military affairs came into the open almost two years ago. Then Premier George Papandreou was suddenly dismissed by the King after charges had been made that the former premier's son, Andreas, had been organizing left wing military officers to take over positions held by the more conservative. After that, there was no secret that the Papandreou intended to abolish the monarchy, not merely diminish the King's authority. "The King reigns, but the people rule," was the slogan of the left wingers.

Backing for King Constantine came from conservatives, much of the military, and others who feared that the Papandreou were even closely allied to the Communists who had been defeated in a bitter four year civil war soon after the end of World War II. One trouble, however, is that Greece does not have a tradition of monarchy of its own. King Constantine is a descendant of a Danish prince who was set up on the throne in 1863, some 30 years after Greece had thrown off the control of the Ottoman Turks. King Constantine I, married to a sister of Kaiser Wilhelm II, tried to get Greece on Germany's side in World War I but his own premier would not agree. In 1936, King George II backed an army coup led by General Metaxas who stayed in power until World War II when the country was overrun by the Nazis.

The first reports of the current coup related that it was backed by King Constantine II and it was widely supposed that he took action to prevent the elections scheduled for next month when the Papandreou might regain political power. Now there are reports that Constantine did not back the military move and only agreed to swear in the new Cabinet members to save the lives of the former ones. Nor has the King suspended the Constitution under the military pressure, according to the latest reports.

Greece's choice is a difficult one. Perhaps the monarchy, particularly because it was superimposed although more than a century ago, is of no use to political stability in Greece. But the Papandreou enthusiasm for the far left is not encouraging either. Greece's relations with Turkey have always been explosive and the latest move is not likely to improve them.

Space Probes Still Dangerous

The death of the Russian cosmonaut when the parachute guiding his way back to earth was fouled by ropes points up the immense difficulties which accompany man's probing of space.

As in the tragic deaths of the three American astronauts last January, the Russian tragedy came through the malfunction of a relatively ordinary maneuver. It was not encountering something strange and unexpected in space that killed the American astronauts but carelessness in equipment development in a simple test. Apparently the same type of thing happened in the Soviet Union.

There have been reports that many more Russians have died in the earlier secret tests of space adventures but never any sound confirmation. Despite both our competition with Russia in the race to the moon and our vast philosophical differences, Americans can only sympathize with Russians over the loss.

Moon Diggings

The miniature American ditch digger on the moon, Surveyor 3, so far has established some evidence that the moon's surface may not be as treacherous for human landings as had been feared.

Some months ago the first close photos of the moon's surface seemed to suggest that an object as heavy as a man might sink to an unknown depth. But the Surveyor shovel dug a trench some fifteen inches long and photographs show there has been no tendency for the sides to cave in. The texture of the surface of the moon appears to be something like wet, packed sand. But since the temperature is probably about 200 degrees above zero, any moisture like water would be evaporated. Some other fluid or possibly a sticky sort of substance must be present.

Thus far, the Surveyor probes have indicated that the moon's surface is "disappointingly normal," according to one scientific observer. Since the first astronauts who set foot on the moon will be hampered by the complete strangeness of the circumstance, anything that remotely resembles a situation on earth is to be appreciated.

Economics and Ecumenicalism

Ecumenicalism has reached even Ireland.

The Irish government has just announced that the two colleges of Dublin—Trinity College and University College—will be merged since "clearly the state cannot continue to subsidize any avoidable duplication of university services." But it has so subsidized them for many decades.

Trinity College was founded in 1591 by the Protestant Queen Elizabeth. About a third of its current enrollment comes from Protestant Northern Ireland. Irish Roman Catholic bishops always have forbidden Irish Catholics to attend Trinity but the barriers have been falling in recent years. Lately it has been common for Catholics to receive a dispensation to study at Trinity although the ban still is officially in effect.

University College was not founded until 1851 but in 1908 it became the national university of Ireland. It has more than twice as many students as Trinity and almost all of them come from Ireland.

As the official announcement suggested, the hard facts of economics had a lot to do with the merger. Prime Minister John Lynch some time ago appointed a commission to study the situation and determine whether there was much duplication of courses and facilities. The commission report said there was, and recommended more cooperation between the two institutions. But students, faculties and administrations thought that merger was the better solution and so did the government.

Despite the economic pressures, it is unlikely that the merger would have been proposed were it not for the growing cooperation between Roman Catholics and Protestants around the world. The gradual simmering down of religious antagonisms in Ireland also is reflected in the political attitudes between North and South.

Need Seen for Court Decision

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 27, 1867.

"States rights is a myth," said the Waupun Leader.

It isn't often we find a Wisconsin Radical making such an honest admission of the result of the labors of its liberty-destroying Congress.

So far as Congress could do it by legislation, States Rights have been blotted out. If served at all, the salvation will come through the decision of the Supreme Court.

As a matter of right, and to establish the judicial precedent of all times to come that neither Congress, nor the President, nor the people themselves can constitutionally destroy a State, or deprive it of any of its powers, we hope the Mississippi and Georgia cases — tests for all the others — will be prosecuted to a decision in the United States Supreme Court even if it takes, as had been predicted, a period of 20 months.

Adenauer Had Sharp Insight Into People, Feared Rabble Rousers

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

I first knew Dr. Konrad Adenauer a few years before he took over the West German chancellorship at the age of 73 — a courtly man then, and a courtly man he remained to the end of his life.

He had experienced slight contact with any Americans — his life was quite restricted — but he had studied carefully our founding fathers' philosophy and on the subject of Thomas Jefferson he was the best informed European statesman I ever met.

In fact, in later years I invited him on behalf of the University of Virginia to address a convocation of the university, which Jefferson established, and to speak from the portico of Monticello.

Dr. Adenauer announced the invitation in the German newspapers and he proceeded accordingly. His plane reached New York when a flash from Bonn stated that Germany's vice-chancellor had suddenly dropped dead. Dr. Adenauer's hope to visit Jefferson's hearth at Charlottesville vanished with his recall home.

Understood the German. Much is written about his statesmanship, but it had a root that I have always felt was the most decisive but unsung mark of the greatness in him. He understood the Germans, of course, but most important of all he understood their weaknesses, and he had the courage to confront the Germans with their shortcomings.

Taylor

"We have not handled power well in the past," Dr. Adenauer told me long before he took office, "and we must be warned, safe-guarded and pre-conditioned against repeating our own mistakes."

Any hint of war guilt, and reflection on German dynamism, was political dynamite. Dr. Adenauer could safely say this privately. But, when the time came, the courageous candidate said it from the electioneering stumps as well.

One rainy night in Munich the going was very rough. He was terribly discouraged and he repeated to me many times through the years that this was the worst political moment of his life.

Feared Rabble Rousers. Often a rabble rouser becomes a ruler — a transformation that requires a very ordinary kind of charity — and the rabble rousers that Adenauer feared would arise in defeated Germany had arisen in Bavaria.

We walked toward the platform, Adenauer hit from all sides by the boos and jeers of the organized claque. He turned to the podium and began: "We Germans have not used our power well in the past . . . we have not used our power well," his constant theme everywhere.

With this basic admonition, and in his victory, he really set straight the first inner convictions of postwar Germany. Economic measures bored him, as apparently they bored Winston Churchill. When you talked economics with the Chancellor he simply lost interest. Behind the scenes, this fact became a major problem in Europe.

There'd been hope that he could persuade de Gaulle to let Britain enter the Common Market and that he was the only man who might be able to persuade de Gaulle to stop sabotaging the Common Market itself. A great walker, he sometimes spent his holidays at Murren, Switzerland, on the flank of the magnificent Jungfrau, where the plateau's paths are flat and lovely.

No Economics. I had been enlisted for this attempt with him, but we'd no sooner shaken hands at the head of his favorite path when he said with a laugh: "Not one word out of you about economics. Economics! Save your breath, and keep pace with me—if you can!" An abortive plan was killed off in a twinkling of his holiday eye.

Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard bored him as much as the subject. He always unstintingly praised Erhard's economic skill but felt he had no flair for domestic politics. Adenauer proved right when Erhard succeeded him.

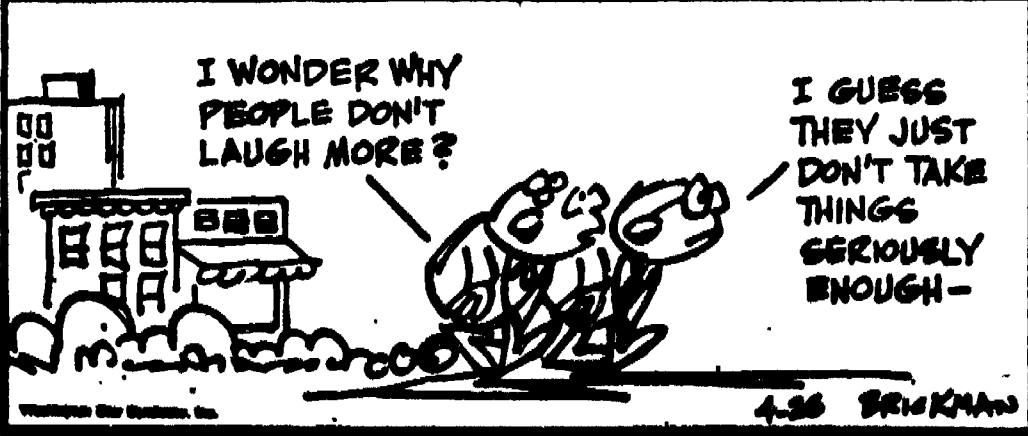

He understood de Gaulle better than any statesman in Europe. He told me de Gaulle, with all his greatness, was nevertheless "a mystic, a true mystic" and when, often, I've described the Frenchman as such in this column the word came from Adenauer.

But Dr. Adenauer reserved his greatest esteem for an American: John Foster Dulles. The personal bond was deeper, more affectionate and consequential than our public, or Germany's, could know, and he had a similar respect for selfless John J. McCloy. The wisest German statesman of our century has earned the right to rest in peace. (Copyright, 1967)

State Budget Could Easily be Upset by School, Cities Demands

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The revised state budget, nearly ready for action on the floor of the Assembly after weeks of intensive deliberation by the legislative Finance Committee, probably offers a fair chance for achieving the "no new tax" goal of the Knowles administration.

Wyngaard

But the margin of maneuverability is a slender one. As the legislative financiers calculate it, they will have a treasury reserve of about $7 millions at the end of the fiscal biennium if their revised budget is adopted. Given the tendency of the Legislature for some extra-budgetary spending and remembering the total expenditure program encompasses something close to one billion, one hundred million dollars, that is a tiny and fragile margin of balance, indeed.

Perhaps the most remarkable fact about the committee's revised bill is that it cuts back the appropriation recommendations of Gov. Knowles very little. When the Legislature was organized in both houses by the Republicans, the news dispatches emphasized that "conservatives" were chosen to dominate the finance committee. That may be.

No doubt most of these men prefer to be called conservatives, in the meaning that they appear to be cautious spenders. Yet they have done very little to cut down the governor's spending proposal, which was likened to a "liberal" program.

BUDGET HARD TO CUT

This comment is not intended to disparage the performance of the committee. The budget review process this year was probably more effective than ever before. Part of the reason is that the machinery has been improved through the constructive work of the State Department of Administration Bureau of Finance. It can probably be said that the legislative budget makers this year, because of such aid, and because of their own long hours of devoted work, had a better grasp of their subject and knew more about what they were doing than most of the earlier committees in modern times.

The experience, instead, illustrates what is so rarely understood in politics — that it is usually very difficult, and mostly impossible, to cut back on public services and their costs once established. The effectiveness of such expenditure review is usually shown more directly, if negatively, in holding down the rate of increase and in the discouragement of new proposals for inflation of the total of governmental costs and tax liability.

Now the question is the willingness of the Legislature as a whole to validate the spending blueprint as it has evolved from its agents on the Finance Committee. There is nothing sure about it. The risks are numerous and reasonably obvious. It will be difficult for the Republican leadership to hold the line on the issue of charging back more of the costs of state mental hospitals to the counties.

PLEDGE UNUSED FUNDS

Already legislators are offering provisional pledges — if there is any money available after the budget is enacted — to support other expenditure drives that are politically appealing.

The League of Wisconsin Municipalities is determined to restore state property tax credits to a sum sufficient to rebate 10 per cent of typical tax bills. The proposal will be attractive, if only because a substantial number of legislators will want to find some excuse to resist the blandishments of the Alliance of Cities for an even more generous program of bailing out the bigger city mayors.

Finally, there is the issue of liberalizing the school aid formula. This will be extremely difficult to stop if it is allowed to reach the roll call stage in either house of the Legislature. Yet any meaningful revision of the school subsidy system would wipe out the carefully calculated surplus, and more, and endanger the goal of avoiding additional state taxation for the biennium.

Surplus of Energy Endangering World

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

If a scientist were writing a history of mankind, he would divide civilization into three phases: The lack of energy, the conflict over energy, and the surplus of energy.

By "energy" is meant any force that produces and constructs, whether this be human slaves, wind, water, coal, oil, gas, electricity, or nuclear fission.

Harris

For the first several thousand years of human life, there was a lack of energy. We had to struggle to stay alive, and even so noble a state as Athens required nine slaves for every one free citizen, in order to provide the energy for defending and expanding the state.

As we entered the Middle Ages, there began a violent and prolonged conflict over the new sources of energy. Slavery and indenture passed away, not because of humanitarian impulses but because they were more expensive and cumbersome than the newer forms of energy. The growing use of coal alone initiated more changes in the world's social system than any number of intellectual notions or political ideologies.

New Slave Surplus

This system has gone on for more than 500 years; our minds and emotions are still involved in the conflict over energy. But we are now in the third phase of history: A surplus of energy.

With the advent of nuclear fission, the world has come out of darkness for the first time. In physical and technical terms, we are now living in an utterly new society — one in which the entire world's energy needs can be supplied without taking some way from anyone else.

This has never been true before. There has always been a Darwinian struggle for slaves, for water, for coal, for oil, for gas, or for electrical sources of power. Now, the true meaning and magnificence of Einstein's equation can be seen in the unlimited energy released by nuclear fission.

But humanity still lives in the emotional and social and political darkness of the second phase of history. Our conflict is greater than ever before, and the great life-giving qualities of nuclear energy are being mobilized for death and destruction among the nations.

It is the crushing irony of the 20th century that we now have, for the first time, the means to eliminate poverty and starvation and the gross inequalities among peoples; a means by which no one will lose what another gains, but all will benefit mutually and permanently.

Yet, at the same time, we are employing this Promethean gift to perpetuate the ancient struggles for power and pre-eminence, for political dominance and ideological pride. With Paradise so close to our grasp, we seem to be moving closer to Hell every day.

Westmoreland Talked Little of War Criticism

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is said to be very sensitive to criticism about his handling of the war in Vietnam. But his critics seem sensitive, too, to criticism about criticism.

There was a good example of it this week after Gen. William C. Westmoreland made a 51-paragraph speech on the war — enough to fill half of a newspaper page — and then answered questions that took up the rest of the page.

But in all he said the commander of the U.S. forces in Vietnam used only one paragraph, plus one sentence in another paragraph, to criticize American critics of the war.

Yet, it was a very excellent speech, full of details and background and explanations for the U.S. part in the war, the very kind of speech some people think Johnson should have made long ago to the American people, but hasn't.

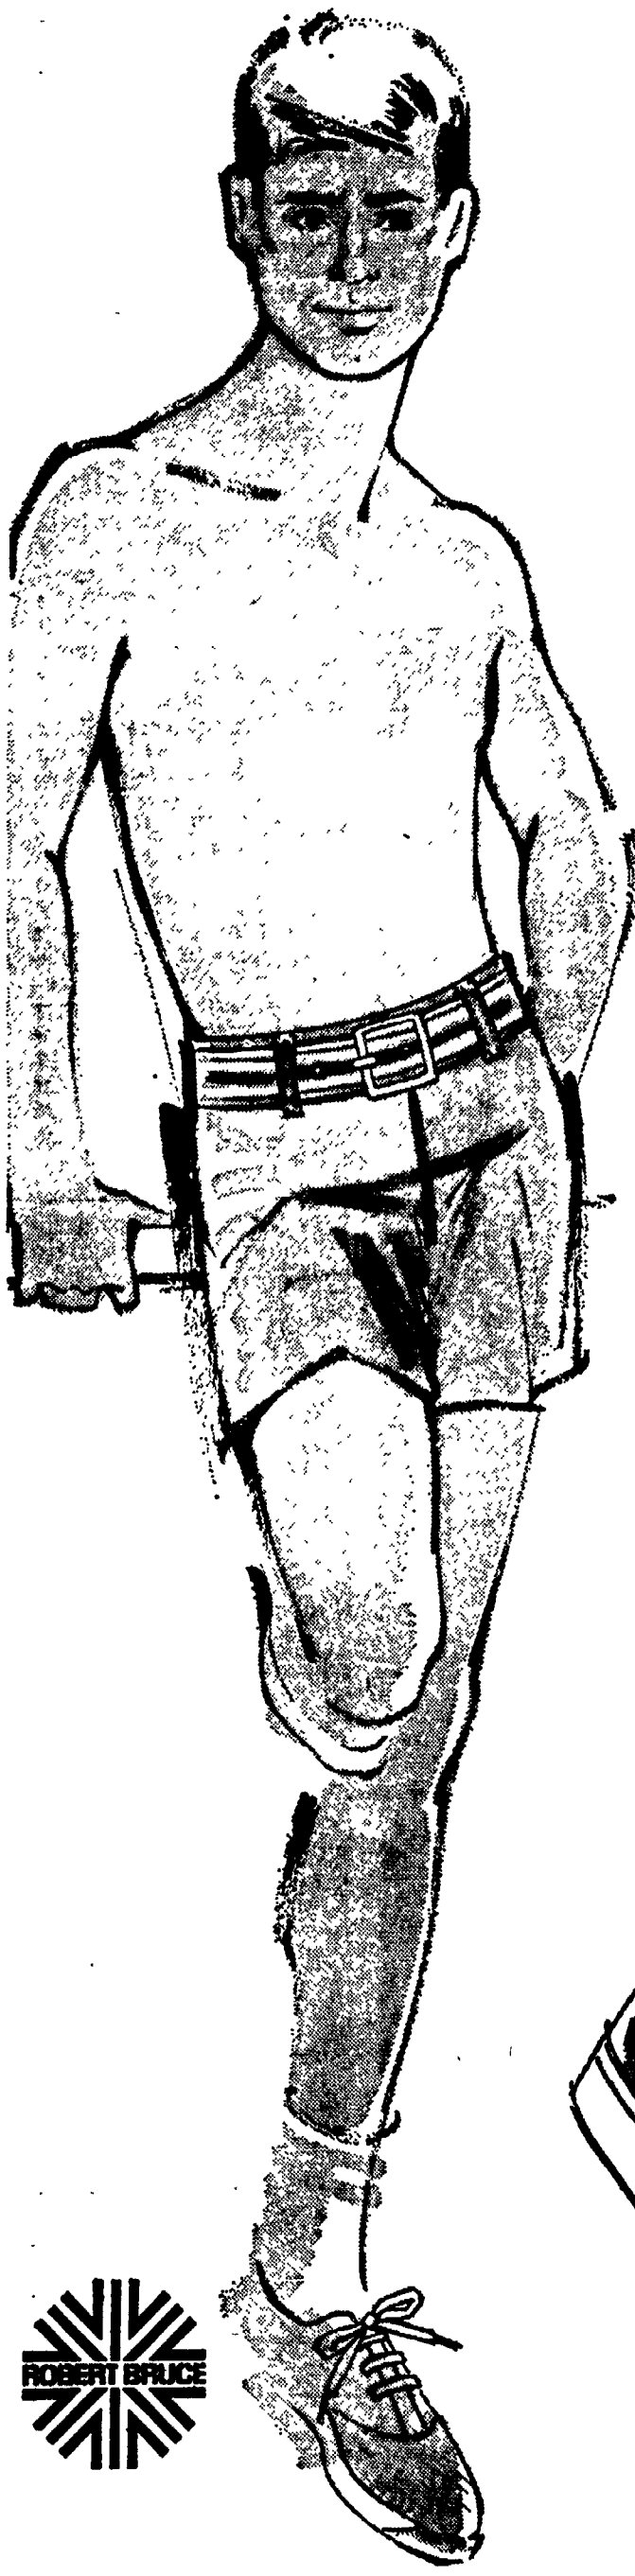

They interpret the criticism, he said, as "crumbling morale" in this country and popular opposition to the war. He added: "The longer the enemy keeps fighting, the higher the cost in American lives."

Westmoreland's speech with a speech of his own that called for an end to the bombing although the enemy never moved any closer to the peace table when Johnson ordered a bombing pause a number of times.

Johnson and Westmoreland must have figured it would. In this war few seem to change their minds. Therefore, it would seem, the best Westmoreland could hope for was to make the critics self-conscious.

Prime Targets

It was the third consecutive day of American raids on prime targets in North Vietnam's Hanoi-Haiphong heartland.

The U.S. Command did announce the loss of two more American planes over North Vietnam Tuesday, raising the number admitted lost Monday and Tuesday to six during the strikes on MIG airfields and key targets around Hanoi and Haiphong. U.S. spokesmen said 516 American planes now have been lost in the air war against North Vietnam.

14 Marines Killed

In the ground war, U.S. Marines battled strong enemy forces in the rugged mountains below the demilitarized zone Tuesday and reported 14 Marines killed and 38 wounded in three engagements.

The ground action in northernmost Quang Tri Province began Tuesday morning when a small convoy of U.S. Marine engineers was ambushed in a mountain pass. The enemy force, of unknown size, opened up with small arms, automatic weapons and mortars, killing five Marines and wounding 22.

North Vietnam's official news agency has charged that American planes shot up the British freighter Dartford in Haiphong harbor Tuesday and wounded six of its crewmen, two of them seriously.

The 2,739-ton Dartford is owned by a British company in Hong Kong, but the owners said it was under charter to another company which a spokesman refused to identify. Shipping sources in Hong Kong said most if not all of the crew were Chinese, but the company spokesman refused to confirm this and said the company had no information on the alleged attack.

measured by the experience of other states which do not have aeronautics commissions."

Jordan also criticized state methods for providing airport construction aids.

The commission, he said, "requested $3,320,000 from the state general fund to enable the state to share airport construction costs not covered by federal aid. The governor and the joint finance committee denied the request. The governor proposed that the aeronautics commission submit user's revenue bill to the current Legislature to provide the funds."

'Not Within Scope'

"The commission," Jordan said, "does not consider the action to be within the scope of its statutory responsibility. Another group studying the matter recently recommended to the governor that no additional funds be provided."

"Lack of funds for airport construction," he stated, "and the staff to administer it, is well recognized as a major problem that is retarding airport development. This conflict of financing should be promptly resolved."

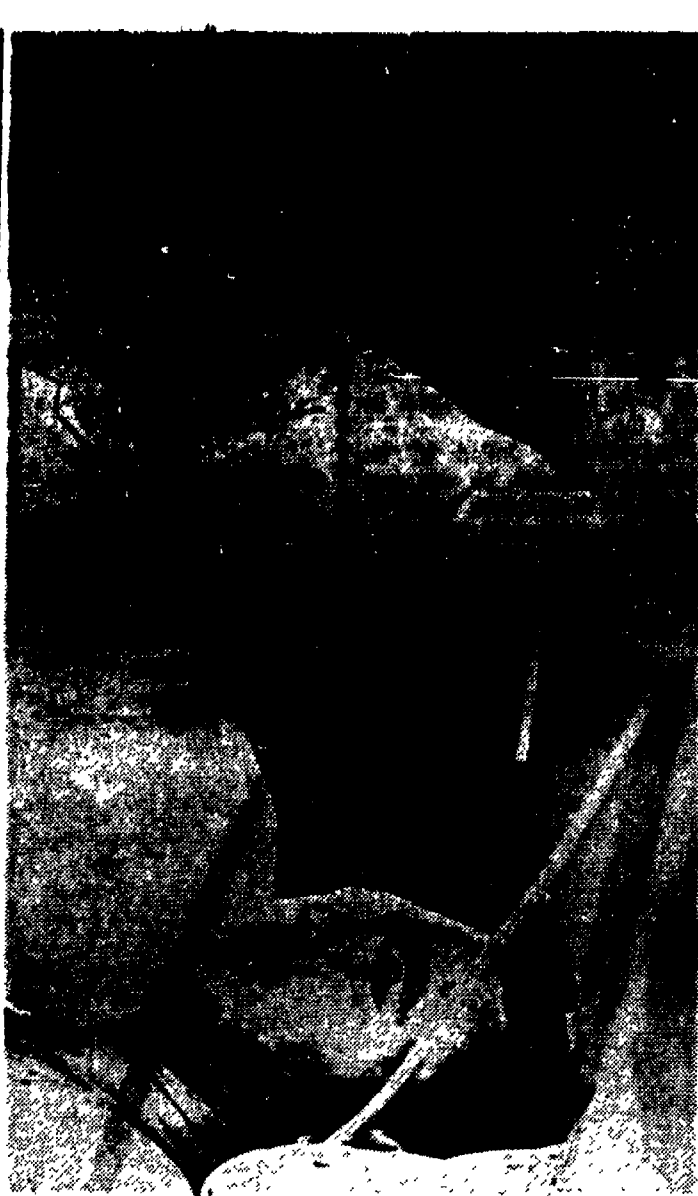

Jordan said the commission feels that the responsibility for the solution of the state aid problem should come from airport users and local units of government. He said the need for increasing federal aid should be "a joint responsibility of all concerned, including our congressmen, supported by the executive and aeronautics commission."

He told the group of about 250 officials that the changing division of project costs will continue to increase the airport owners' burden in 1967 and the load on the local property tax base.

He explained that the state sharing in sponsor's cost on an annual program basis has decreased from 24 per cent to 7 per cent in the last 10 years. The percentage of federal aid participation in state airport construction has decreased from 43.3 per cent to 36 per cent.

Jordan pointed out that federal aid requests for 1967, "unfunded available funds by 375 per cent. State funds needed to match sponsor's costs on a 50-50 basis exceed available state funds by 485 per cent."

the height of World War II operations in the Pacific, and with 17,000 tons a month dropped during the Korean War.

The bulk of the effort is directed at North Vietnam, although airpower is used on an unprecedented scale to support ground operations in the south.

In various configurations and sizes — from 250 pounds to one-tonners, plain impact types to delayed fuses — bombs are hitting virtually anything directly or indirectly associated with Communist operations in South Vietnam.

Other Reason

Destruction is not the only reason for the bombing.

Although no administration official has ever stated publicly that U.S. planes are being used to terrorize North Vietnam, Air Force Secretary Harold Brown said pointedly in a major policy speech last December:

"All of these targets are hostages to U. S. airpower which operates over North Vietnam every day. That power can be increased to a much higher level if it is concluded, on balance, that this will contribute to the attainment of our objectives."

"It is also a constant and visible reminder to the people of North Vietnam that their leaders cannot avoid the cost of aggression."

Still, administration spokesmen say the chief consideration in the selection of targets is the question of how many civilians might be killed. Policy is to

Gov. Wallace Denounces Bomb Incident

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. Lurleen Wallace angrily denounced as "cowardly" today the bombing of the home of a federal judge's mother, and posted a $5,400 reward to find out who did it.

The governor's strongly worded statement came after an explosion, which fire and police officials said came from a bomb, damaged the two-story brick residence of widowed Mrs. Frank M. Johnson Sr. Tuesday night. No one was injured.

Mrs. Johnson's son, U.S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. of Montgomery, has handed down several recent school integration decisions.

Mrs. Wallace said in her statement that the usual maximum reward in such incidents is $400 but that she was increasing that by $5,000, and added for emphasis, "this reward is being offered right now."

Further, she ordered state law enforcement agencies to work around the clock if necessary "until the guilty person or persons are apprehended."

The judge was a member of the three-judge panel which last month ordered all Alabama schools integrated by September.

Soviets Reject U. S. Bid

Move to Improve War Prisoner's Lot Rebuffed

By JOHN M. HENSTOWEN
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has turned down a U.S. request for a joint move to try to improve the lot of American prisoners of war in North Vietnam.

The rebuff from Moscow this week is interpreted in the State Department as fresh evidence of a toughening line on the part of the Soviet government in support of North Vietnam.

This marks a sharp swing away from the Soviet position in February when Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, meeting with British Prime Minister Harold Wilson in London, played an important role in seeking to get peace talks started.

Embarrassing Failures

The peace mission failed and apparently the Soviets found the failure and their part in it embarrassing because of their rivalry with Communist China in opposing the United States and supporting Communist forces in Vietnam.

Several days ago, U.S. officials said today, the United States asked the Soviet government to bring about a change in the North Vietnamese government to bring about a change in the condition of the POWs — captured American airmen — held by North Vietnam.

The Soviet reply, officials said, boiled down to saying North Vietnam is a sovereign country and the United States should take up its problem with Hanoi directly. The United States does not recognize or have direct relations with Hanoi, but officials said it already had addressed a new appeal to North Vietnam through the International Committee of the Red Cross.

The State Department's figures through April 18 show 126 American airmen confirmed as prisoners in North Vietnam, 88 suspected, and 269 missing — a total of 583.

A new wave of concern swept through the government here after publication recently of photographs of American POWs by an American photographer permitted to visit Hanoi. The photographs and descriptions gave rise to official fears the men might have been subject to drugs or brainwashing.

The United States has sent a number of approaches to North Vietnam in the past for freeing or exchanging prisoners or, failing that, for allowing them to be visited by Red Cross or other representatives who could regularly observe their condition.

In effect what the United States asked the Soviet government to do was support the efforts of the International Committee of the Red Cross.

Officials said Soviet cooperation in working as an intermediary reached its peak at the time of the Kosygin-Wilson conference which coincided with a lunar New Year cease-fire in Vietnam. The aim of proposals forwarded to Hanoi by Kosygin then was to try to find a basis for extending the truce and beginning active negotiations.

another," Kiesinger said, "without doing anything of which the other is not informed."

Johnson referred to Adenauer as "the great man who was laid to rest yesterday, whose passing we all mourn."

"He would have wanted us to do what we have done: reaffirm the friendship between the people of the Federal Republic of Germany and the people of the United States of America," Johnson said.

He and Kiesinger, Johnson went on, would review their problems in depth when Kiesinger visits the United States.

"It was clear from our discussions," he added, "that the friendship and the close relationship of two decades will be continued and that there will be constant, complete and full consultations before action by either country."

Will Be Differences

Johnson predicted that there would be differences of opinion, but that the consultations would be not only friendly but result in agreements that would meet the approval of both peoples.

"We want peace in the world and prosperity for all people," Johnson concluded. "By working together we can make a contribution to these goals."

Kiesinger thanked Johnson for coming "with so many distinguished Americans" to the Adenauer funeral.

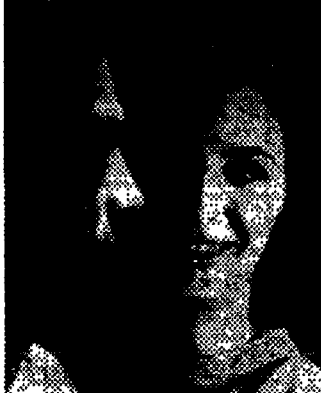

In Paris, the French cabinet was told that Presidents Charles de Gaulle and Johnson had a friendly talk Tuesday at the Adenauer funeral and that they brought up the possibility of a future meeting.

British Prime Minister Harold

Wilson met with Swedish Prime Minister Tage Erlander Tuesday, presumably to discuss Britain's plans to apply for Common Market membership. Both Britain and Sweden are members of the rival European Free Trade Association.

Later in the day Johnson saw Premier Aldo Moro of Italy who, like the Germans, has misgivings about the nuclear non-proliferation treaty.

Life as Idol of Savage Tribe Not Yet Enjoyed

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Retirement comes to some men as a crushing burden and a vast boredom.

They are like a child on a rainy day: they don't know what to do with themselves.

It might help if, well in advance of that farewell dinner with their colleagues, they made a list of their daydreams — and consider whether any are now worth carrying out.

Such a list is surprisingly varied. For example, here is a random selection of daydreams by one who has never yet —

Joined the French Foreign Legion or a Rotary Club.

Become the living idol of a savage African tribe.

No Toupee

Planted a garden, grown a beard, or worn a toupee.

Performed an appendectomy on a submarine by flashlight.

Walked on water.

Skated across thin ice to save a beautiful girl from drowning.

Met a payroll.

Looked across a crowded room on an enchanted evening and fallen hopelessly in love with a total stranger.

Ridden in an ice sled or a surrey with a fringe on the top.

Fought off head hunters on a lonely south seas isle.

Danced all night with Julie Andrews.

Roped and tied a steer in prize winning time at a rodeo.

Eaten off a gold plate, and wiped the platter clean.

Tried to Elope

Eloped with the boss's blue-eyed daughter.

Learned how to work a hula ring, a yo-yo, or a vacuum cleaner.

Owned a racing car, a thoroughbred horse, or an electric toothbrush.

Thrown knives at a woman on a revolving board in a circus act.

Driven a 20-mule team, or cried "Mush!" to a straining pack of huskies in the far north.

Panned gold or dug for it.

Been mentioned favorably in anybody's will.

Climbed to safety up a broken rope-and-slats bridge dangling from a cliff.

Married in haste, or repented at leisure.

Been named as co-respondent in a divorce suit involving a peeress of the realm.

Given a lecture at Harvard, Yale, Oxford — or a neighborhood kindergarten.

Knowingly taken money from the CIA.

Ghosted a speech for President Johnson, or written a sonnet in Swahili.

Vodka in Kremlin

Lifted a glass of vodka in the Kremlin.

Worn sackcloth and ashes for past sins, slept on a bed of nails in India, or gotten skin rash from a hairshirt.

Caught a lovely lady spy going through my luggage aboard the Orient Express en route from Paris to Istanbul.

Been asked by Gen. William C. Westmoreland for advice on how to end the ruckus in Vietnam more quickly.

Rowed in a slave ship.

Boredom? How can any man become bored, retired or not, in a world with so many wonderful daydreams still waiting to come true?

Post Card Camera Gimmick Booms in Fox Valley Area

"Congratulations," the post card reads, "you have been selected to receive a new camera free."

"If you agree to have our company service your future film needs," the card which has been mailed to hundreds of Fox Cities home continues, "you may also receive a complete set of home movie equipment." A telephone number is given on the card for a return call.

Salesmen who follow up on the telephone calls tell people in their homes that they want their film processing business.

Solicits Enrollment

He tells the prospective buyer that he wants to enroll him in a home movie film club.

If the person "qualifies" for membership, he is told he will be allowed to buy hundreds of rolls of movie film for around 75 cents a roll.

One Fox Cities area resident reported to authorities that a salesman promised him a movie camera, projector, movie screen and light bar for agreeing to buy 250 rolls of film in two and one-half years.

While the "free camera" referred to in the post card is worth less than a dollar, the salesman will say that the movie equipment is worth about $300. Prospective buyers are asked to sign "membership applications" and to pay $15 down. The "application" is a contract for around $495 in cash. One local resident signed a contract for $497.50. There have been many reports of salesmen getting the consumer to sign the "application" (contract), before reading the fine print.

Buyers are allowed to pay the price in 30 monthly installments which brings the total to $628.50 with carrying charges.

To receive the film at the bargain rate, the buyer is given film stamps. The exposed film has to be processed by the company. The fine print of the contract says the buyer "will pay only the then current price of developing, plus payment of the postage and handling charge upon ordering additional film."

Process Varies

It varies with the different companies operating in this manner, but the film processing usually comes to about $3.20 a roll. A person who agreed to buy 250 rolls of film when signing the contract would be paying another $800 to get the film processed. There is no guarantee in the contract that the price for the film processing will remain around the $3.20 level.

The Chamber of Commerce and the Outagamie County district attorney's office have received several complaints about film distributing firms, many of them from people who already have signed a contract.

Persons who already have signed realize the next morning that they have made commitments of up to $2,000 in some cases.

Signed Membership

One person who complained to the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce signed a membership application for $497.50. With the carrying charges, processing of 250 rolls of film at $3.20 per roll and other "hidden" costs, a person signing such a contract could have made a commitment for up to $1,428.50.

And the contract is perfectly legal.

Louis Micheln, assistant manager of the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce, gives this advice to the buyer and the film salesman:

"The consumer," he said, "must first accept responsibility for his actions in signing contracts which legally obligate the buyer to pay."

Not Canceled

"The changing of one's mind after the contract is signed does not automatically cancel the obligation."

"Many people," Micheln continued, "have buyer's remorse and seek a means of getting out from under the obligation which they have assumed when they signed the contract to purchase."

"Buyers," he warned, "are urged to compare prices and the product with other sellers in the same product line."

"The seller, on the other hand, must assume high standards of integrity, frankness and responsibility in dealing with consumers. Descriptions of products must be truthful and the financial terms of the sale must be clearly stated. Courtesy to the prospective buyer and consideration of his needs are prime essentials of all selling."

Bills Considered

Micheln pointed out that there are two bills under consideration in the state legislature regarding the right of a purchaser to cancel or rescind home solicitation contracts. The proposal, which has been

New Manager Starts Duties at High Cliff Park

Jon Warren, Army Veteran, Succeeds John Franzen

SHERWOOD — Jon H. Warren, 27, a Vietnam veteran, has been appointed manager of High Cliff State Park by the State Conservation Department. He began his duties here today.

Warren, a native of Waukegan, Ill., is a 1964 graduate of Michigan Technological University at Houghton. He was employed by the Conservation Department at Kettle Moraine State Park before going to military service. Warren served in the Army Corps of Engineers for two years, with one year of service in Vietnam. He was discharged with the rank of First Lieutenant early this month.

The new park manager is

1st Inspection For Derby Run Set Thursday

The first inspection for the 1967 Appleton Soap Box Derby will be held at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Gibson Chevrolet new car garage.

Each entrant has been assigned a time to come in and have his car inspected to make sure it complies with national soap box derby rules and regulations. If for any reason a boy's car does not meet with derby requirements, the boy will receive all the necessary help to correct the situation in his racer.

A second inspection will be held May 18 for the benefit of the boys who did not pass the first test.

All available sponsors also will be assigned at the inspection and additional sponsors will be assigned as they are obtained.

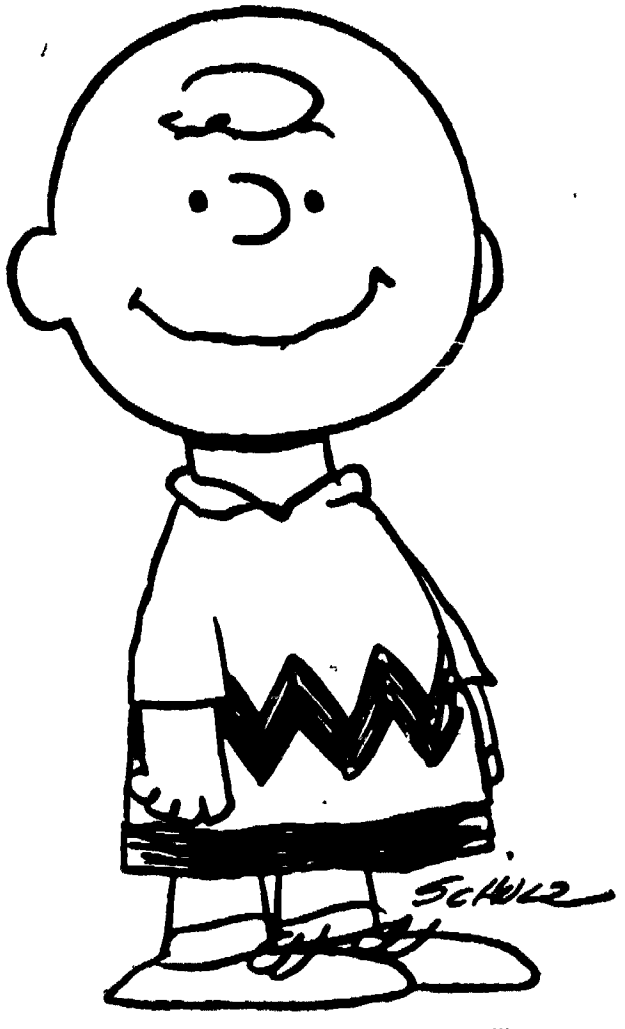

Appleton Soap Box Derby buttons will be handed out for each boy to sell. Proceeds from the button sale are used to offset the cost of the trip for the winner and his family to Akron, Ohio, where the boy will compete in the world champion Soap Box Derby. To date, 136 boys will be vying for the honor of representing Appleton.

Council Committees Begin Reorganizing

KAUKAUNA — Council committees, appointed last week by Mayor Gilbert Anderson, have begun scheduling reorganizational meetings to elect a secretary and review committee assignments.

Public protection and safety committee members will meet with representatives of the police and fire departments at 6:30 tonight, according to Lloyd Kloehn, chairman, and the purchasing committee, headed by Russell Dix, will meet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

12 Die in Factory Explosion in Spain

BILBOA, Spain, (AP) — At least 12 workers perished and 4 are missing in the wreckage of a factory building which collapsed near here Tuesday, officials said today.

Twenty injured workers have been rescued from the four-story building which makes refrigerators and washing machines under the license of the U.S. Westinghouse Co.

Your Money's Worth

Savings Interest Rates Beginning to Soften

BY SYLVIA PORTER

The interest rates you can earn on savings in financial institutions — a commercial bank special account, a savings and loan association, a savings bank — are on the way down the nation over. Increasing numbers of the financial institutions are quietly withdrawing their offers to pay 5 per cent or more on savings; are shortening the period of time they guarantee the high rates; are stiffening their regulations on payment of compound interest.

There are three major forces behind the changed pattern of interest rates on savings:

(1) The Federal Reserve System has been aggressively pursuing a policy designed to make credit easier and cheaper to get in order to revive the economy in general and housing in particular. As a result of its activities, interest rates in the basic money and bond markets of the U.S. have fallen markedly from the peaks of late 1966 and the new lower levels are spreading.

Rates Softening

(2) Savings have been flowing back to financial institutions in an all-time record volume as consumers have increased their rate of saving. As a result, financial institutions no longer feel the need to woo your savings with rich interest paydays in which to seek the institution offering you the most attractive terms for the longest period feasible for you and to accept the contract.

The pattern for lower interest rates on so-called consumer savings has been developing for months. It is now so unmistakable that there is a premium on your quick, decisive action to protect a rich return before it becomes generally unavailable.

There are three major forces behind the changed pattern of interest rates on savings:

(1) The Federal Reserve System has been aggressively pursuing a policy designed to make credit easier and cheaper to get in order to revive the economy in general and housing in particular. As a result of its activities, interest rates in the basic money and bond markets of the U.S. have fallen markedly from the peaks of late 1966 and the new lower levels are spreading.

Rates Softening

(2) Savings have been flowing back to financial institutions in an all-time record volume as consumers have increased their rate of saving. As a result, financial institutions no longer feel the need to woo your savings with rich interest payments — and, in fact, they are increasingly reluctant to "freeze" themselves into a position of paying the rich rates for a long period.

(3) The slowdown in economic growth has contributed to a slowdown in the pace of rise in demand for business loans. As a result of a slowdown in demand for money on top of an increase in the supply of money, the price of (interest rate on) money has "naturally" softened.

The discount rate — the pivotal U.S. interest rate around which all other interest rates revolve — has been cut from 4 1/2 to 4 per cent. The prime rate — the rate demanded by banks from the highest credit risks in the nation — has been reduced from 8 to 5 1/2 per cent. The rates the U.S. Treasury is paying investors on loans to refund its old IOUs and raise new cash for the federal government are well below the historic 1966 highs — and the same goes for rates paid by corporations and municipalities for funds in the open market. While the trend toward lower interest rates in the money and bond markets has now slowed — as both borrowers and lenders test the new levels — the impact on consumer savings rates is just starting to be felt.

Juicy Rates Disappear

Surely you have noticed the dwindling in recent weeks in the volume of newspaper ads trumpeting the payment of juicy rates for a guaranteed period of time.

The key angle for you is not just the actual current rate offered for your savings. Key angles also are the length of time the rate is guaranteed and the frequency with which your interest is compounded.

If your savings are only short-term and you expect to withdraw them for planned purchases in coming months, stay with the most liquid mediums, get the best rates you can and preserve your privilege of withdrawal on demand without a rate penalty.

But if yours are truly long-term savings, shop for the institution offering you the best rate deal for the longest term which fits your needs, lock up the guarantee — and do it now.

The Rev. James E. Groppi marches with members of the militant Milwaukee Youth Council of the NAACP, to which he is adviser, in Wauwatosa where the group demonstrated for two turbulent weeks last summer against the Fraternal Order of Eagles' white-only membership restriction. (AP Wirephoto)

Father Groppi, White Symbol—II Milwaukee Priest Feels Commitment to Negro

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer
MILWAUKEE (AP)—The remark tumbled out offhand in a cigarette-rasped voice that was flat and undramatic.
"All you'll get out of it is your head blown off. I'm sure of it," the Rev. James E. Groppi said.
"The hatred is so great, you can feel it."
The Roman Catholic priest was talking about the attitude of Milwaukee's white community toward him since he was projected into the forefront of the racial controversy last summer.
As adviser to the Milwaukee Youth Council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Father Groppi led the council's marches into suburban Wauwatosa.
Intense Reaction
The demonstrations against membership by public officials in all-white clubs produced a reaction so intense that the National Guard had to be called out to head off possible violence.
"It certainly brought out that Milwaukee, Wis., is no different than Selma, Ala.," the priest said.
Father Groppi's involvement in the racial struggle goes back far beyond last summer.
He once almost gave up his vocation in disgust at a party skit ridiculing a fat Negro prostitute.
And after his ordination, the young priest hammered at the racial issue from the pulpit of an all-white South Side parish to which he was assigned.
Pulpit Leadership
"There were also many people who welcomed this," he said. "Their priests had not been giving them any leadership or support from the pulpit. But there was this other element that polarized and hated me."
Father Groppi welcomed his transfer four years ago to St. Boniface, a virtually all-Negro parish.
"I don't know how I got here," he said. "I guess I was making too much noise on the South Side and they were getting too many letters, too many phone calls. I really don't know."
He had been a South Side boy, a basketball captain at Bay View High School. His father, an Italian immigrant, operated a grocery store there.
Cut Off Feeling
But even then there was unease, perhaps the same kind of unease he sees in young Negroes conditioned to feel cut off from the life led by the white majority.
"My father and mother couldn't speak English," he said. "I'd go to school or to church and what would I see but the white middle class Americans, comfortable and well dressed, getting into cars. This wasn't me. I came from a house where my mother and father were barely able to speak English."
In the midst of the Negro community, a white man began to feel transformed.
"I saw at once when I got

In His Case It Was Only an Oversight
LONDON (AP) — Marcus Lipton, a Laborite who campaigns in Parliament for a major clampdown on people who fail to license their autos, has been booked by police for failing to license his auto.
"It was just an oversight," Lipton, 66, told newsmen recently. "My secretary forgot about it."
The license, known in Britain as road tax, costs car owners $9 a year. The penalty for failure to have one is usually a small fine.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Wednesday, April 25, the 116th day of 1967. There are 249 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1866, actor John Wilkes Booth, sought as the assassin of President Abraham Lincoln, was found hiding at a farm in Virginia. Booth refused to surrender and was shot to death in an ensuing gun battle.
On this date:
In 1607, Capt. John Smith landed at Cape Henry, Va., with the first group of colonists who would establish a permanent English settlement in America.
In 1731, Daniel Defoe, author of "Robinson Crusoe," died.
In 1933, Herman Goering organized the gestapo in Nazi Germany.
In 1941, British troops began the evacuation of Greece.

Social Security Office Offers Aid in Filing Medicare Claims

Medicare beneficiaries in the Fox Cities area who have paid their doctor bills but have not yet filed their claims for Medicare doctor payments are reminded that the social security offices are ready to assist them in filing their claims.
According to Frank M. Donnick, district manager of the Appleton Social Security office, many benefit payments to Medicare beneficiaries are being delayed because applicants are not including all the necessary information. He said that missing signatures and addresses are two of the frequent problems encountered in processing requests for payments. He also noted that some beneficiaries are not getting an adequately itemized receipt from their physician.
Donnick suggested that beneficiaries making their first claim bring the forms and receipts to the social security office. While the claim form is relatively simple, Donnick believes that most people can use some advice the first time they apply. He said that by letting the social security office check the request for payments before they are mailed out, a beneficiary can be sure that his claim won't be delayed because some item was omitted.
Donnick also urged all Medicare beneficiaries to always carry their health insurance cards in their possession.

Food Horoscope

For fun, follow the advice of the stars. For a better way to buy food, follow the advice of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

TAURUS (April 20-May 21)—You are fearless, strong of mind and body, and sincere. Make good use of your fearlessness. Don't shy away from buying the less familiar cuts of beef. Learn what they are and how to cook them. For advice on buying beef, send for "U.S. Grades for Beef," MB-15, Office of Information, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)—Born under the sign of twins, you have a dual personality. When shopping, keep the "dual" aspect of eggs in mind—look for the size and the grade. Compare the prices of small, medium and large for the same USDA grade—A or AA. If the difference is more than seven cents a dozen buy the smaller size and save.

CANCER (June 21-July 23)—Persons born under the sign of the crab are endowed with strong determination, intuition, and purpose. When you shop for canned fruits and vegetables, keep their purpose in mind. The lower grades are a good buy when appearance is not important.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23)—Born under the sign of the lion, you are the romantic type, dignified, courteous, and sympathetic. You make a good host or hostess, so why not entertain frequently? When you entertain important people and want to buy the best steak, try U.S. Prime or U.S. Choice porterhouse.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23)—Persons born under the sign of Virgo are orderly, methodical, and systematic. You don't lose your cool when food shopping. In your orderly and systematic way, check the food ads to see who has the best buys and make a flexible grocery list.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)—Libras are well-balanced persons—tasteful and gifted. You are usually good cooks and go all out for making tasty, flavorful dishes. That's why you should use Grade AA cheddar cheese for your next souffle—you can rely on it for consistently good flavor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22)—Although you—born under the sign of the scorpion—are courageous, ambitious, and eloquent in speech, your strongest characteristic is self control. You don't panic when you buy fresh fruits and vegetables—you learn how to judge quality. Look for heavy, thin-skinned oranges and grapefruit, for example, and the greener heads of lettuce, not too hard.

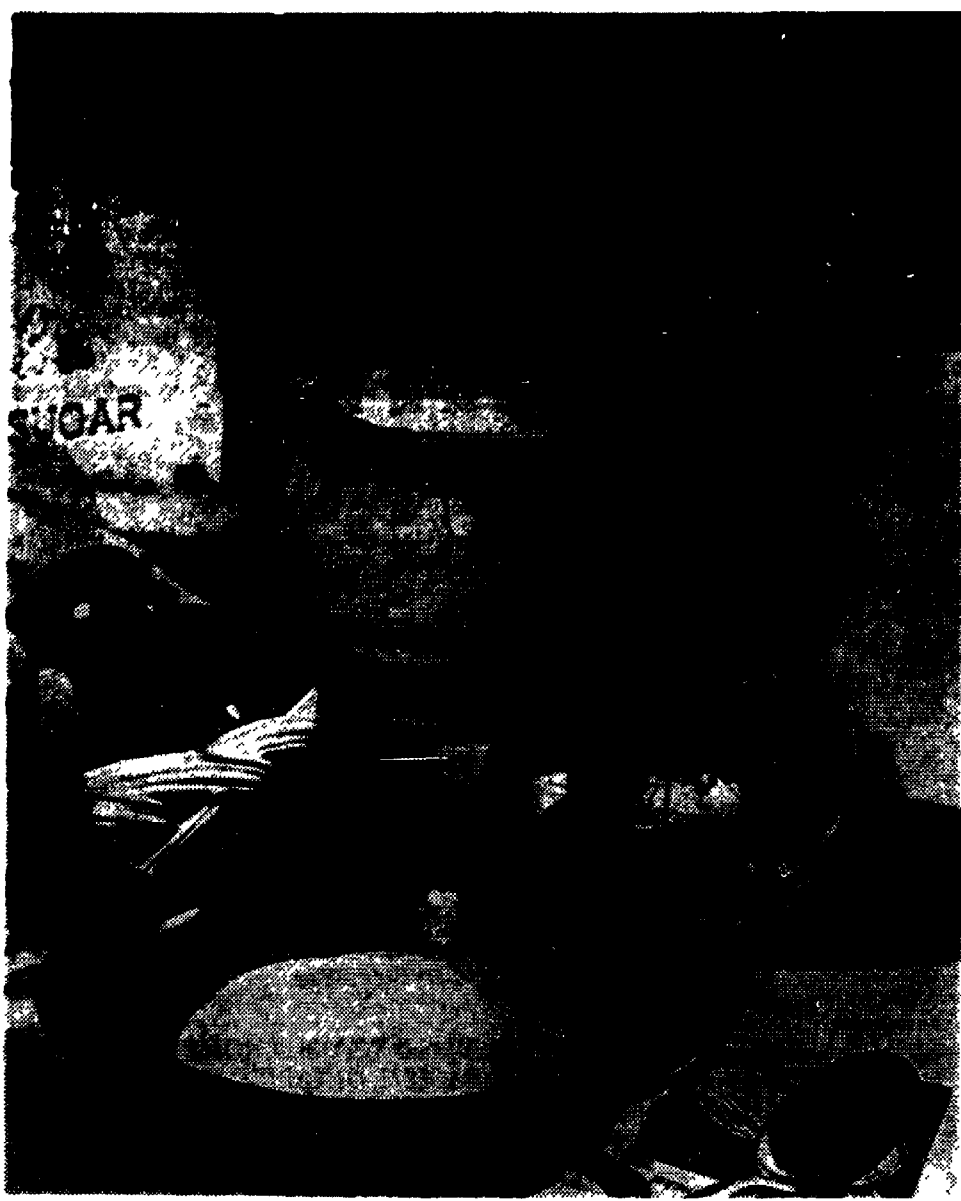

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 22)—Born under the sign of the archer, you are impulsive, honest, quick, and confident. Hit the bullseye when you shop for high quality and wholesome instant non-fat dry milk—look for the "U.S. Extra Grade" shield.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20)—You are careful, secretive, and economical. You remember to watch your pennies when food shopping. You'll find a U.S. Grade A turkey is an economical buy all year around.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)—Persons born under the sign of the water bearer are restless, fond of aquatic sports, pleasing, and agreeable. Your greatest fault is procrastination, but you can turn this into your greatest shopping asset by waiting until the foods you like are plentiful, hence less expensive.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 21)—Born under the sign of the fishes, you are fickle, honest, fond of beauty, and easily led. But, don't be misled by labels—read them carefully.

ARIES (Mar. 21-April 20)—Born under the sign of the ram, you are dependable, energetic, and independent. You are naturally a good shopper, and what you lack in experience you can make up in learning. You can get the free booklet "How to Use USDA Grades in Buying Food," PA-708, by writing the Office of Information, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

One of the Most Successful of new packaged products is instant hot, breakfast cereal, oatmeal packed in individual servings several to a box. With a prescribed amount of boiling water ready, the packet is emptied in the cereal bowl. Pour on the hot water, stir only a few moments until the oatmeal is smooth. That's all there is to it and it tastes exactly like the old-fashioned oatmeal.

3 Days of Bliss can Banish Bulge

Keep refreshments in tune with both the occasion and the season. At the right, light and dark sandwiches to fit the mood. These may be served with bright, light drinks such as apricot brandy sour, wine cocktails or plain fruit juice punch in tall glasses.

Ripe olives are elegant in the glistening orange gelatin salad, left. This romantic offering combines the mellow ripe olives in a tangy mixture of orange juice, lemon juice and orange marmalade.

Party Forecast: Showers!

Crunchy peanut butter, ham, cheese and tuna for the filling for the multiple layered Party Loaf, which is hearty without being heavy. It may be served with a salad and beverage for an evening buffet or be teamed with a sparkling bright punch for an afternoon event.

POST-CRESCENT FOOD EDITOR
Lillian Mackesy

May is a beautiful and traditional month for showering the spring and summer bride-to-be with gifts. A romantic month with spring coming into its own, the time also is a splendid one for using a flower garden theme or one centered around the legendary maypole that speaks of Spring. Whether a cozy kitchen shower is planned with close friends invited or a more formal party or reception for a bigger group, the occasion calls for party foods and decorations both feminine and festive.

This is one time the hostess can go all out in planning, having a wonderful time herself finding the just right decorations for such a party. One of the newest ideas available is the collection of paper tablecloths, nut cups, napkins and other decor to match, even including a festive paper dress for the hostess. There also are quantities of honeycombed party hostess and big umbrellas for center decorations, just right for such a party.

One fine idea for a kitchen shower, particularly if held as a morning coffee, is to festoon a clothesline over the serving table (or secure along a kitchen cabinet or wall) and attach a lot of little but useful kitchen equipment to it. A whip beater, spatula, jar opener, tiny screwdriver, candy thermometer, two-pronged fork, hand sieve . . . these are among the things which make good gifts . . . as party decorations at the same time. If close friends or neighbors are invited to the party, each one can "donate" a little

The colorful cranberry lends its ruby tone to the molded spring vegetable salad, its dressing, and the chiffon filling for the pretty May baskets. A candle, daisies and satin ribbons help create the illusion of a May pole and the springtime to make an attractive centerpiece.

Shrimp Aspic Has Crumb Crust

With summer fashions on display, this is the season for starting (and keeping a faithful to) weight-watching campaigns. Hostesses with a yen for pretty foods should keep in mind that many of her feminine friends, as well as a good number of men these days, are "on a diet" for the purpose of shedding a few pounds.

Now that keeping fit campaigns are being sponsored, talked about and the dangers of obesity and overweight being tabulated, weight-watching has become popular.

However, hostesses need not fret over the choice of an entree for a ladies' luncheon, or even be in a bind about what to serve to couples. Served with a yogurt dressing, this luscious pie is a wonderful, low calorie selection.

Shirt Grows Into Tailored Shift

This new fashion, you'll see a lot of a new fashion wonder.

It's the shirt that grew . . . and grew . . . until it turned into a dress. The result is the shirt-dress, a popular style this season.

This man-tailored shift, with button-down collar and long cuffed sleeves, is a favorite in bright prints. Some styles have contrasting cuffs and collar of gleaming white cotton.

gelatin base? The filling is surrounded by a golden crumb crust prepared with French onion crackers.

Here are the recipes for both the pie and its dressing.

SHRIMP ASPIC PIE
2 cups french onion cracker crumbs (about 60 crackers)
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
1 pkg. mixed vegetable flavor salad gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1/4 cup cold water
2 teaspoons cider vinegar
1/2 cups medium-sized cooked shrimp
1/2 cup diced green pepper
2 tablespoons thinly sliced radishes
1 small grapefruit, sectioned, then halved, drained

Blend together crumbs and butter. Press firmly against bottom and sides of nine-inch pie pan. (The only way is to use an eight-inch pie plate.) Bake in preheated, 375-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Cool.

Dissolve salad gelatin in boiling water. Stir in cold water and vinegar. Chill until mixture begins to set around the edges. Combine shrimp, pepper, radish slices and grapefruit; fold into gelatin. Chill again until mixture mounds slightly. Pour into pie shell. Chill in shell until firm, about three to four hours. Serve with dressing. Recipe makes six servings of pie.

SALAD DRESSING
1/4 cup plain yogurt
In a small bowl, thoroughly blend cottage cheese, sugar, lemon juice, curry powder, pepper and salt. Fold in yogurt.

Cover and chill at least one hour. Recipe makes one cup dressing. There are about 315 calories per serving of pie plus dressing.

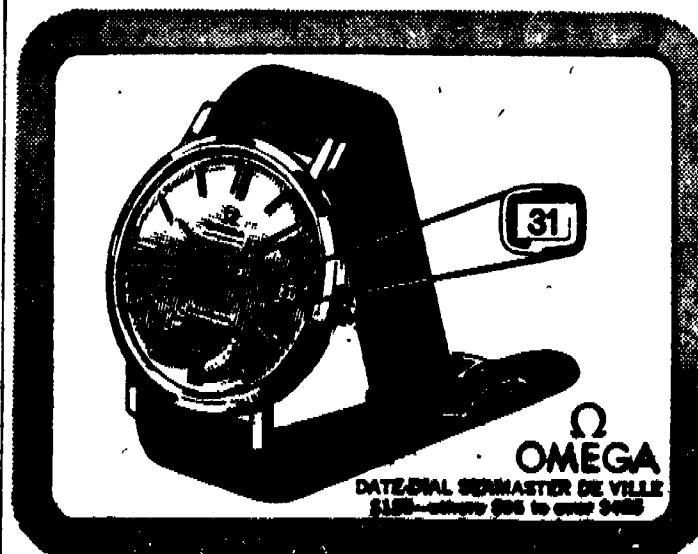

1/4 cup plain milk cottage cheese
1/4 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
Dash white pepper
1/4 teaspoon salt (optional)

Show Features Art of Children From Hong Kong

MILWAUKEE — Art work done by children in Hong Kong schools will be on exhibit in the Children's Gallery, Milwaukee Art Center, through May 21. Paintings, prints, collages and paper cut-out figures done by students from seven to 17 years of age will be featured.

Most of the young artists are Chinese and use native festivals and holidays as the theme of their work.

The exhibit was originally shown at the Museum of Modern Art, New York, as the second in a new series demon-

Say Vows in Double Ring Nuptial Rite

Marriage promises were exchanged by Miss Kay Williams and David Arndt in a 3:30 p.m. ceremony Thursday at St. Bernadette Catholic Church. The Rev. W. C. Mc Kinnon officiated at the double ring rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams, 424 S. Warner St. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Arndt, 1830 Van Dyke St.

Miss Susan Williams attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Paul De Young, Mrs. Fred Schwalenberg and Miss Vicki Renier.

Scott Caldie performed best man's duties. Groomsmen were Paul De Young, Fred Schwalenberg and William Arndt. Guests were seated by Jack Marx and Gerald Goehler.

A reception was held at the Darboy Club, Darboy.

The bride has been employed by Marathon Employees Credit Union, Neenah. Her husband is serving in the Marine Corps at Sanford, Fla., where the couple will reside.

Bold Bid Calls for Good Play

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If you're bold enough to come charging into the bidding with just one useful queen you should also be skilled enough to get the most out of the cards. You may also need the same kind of luck that New Jersey expert Jerry Silverman enjoyed in playing the hand shown today.

Opening lead - ♥ K

West opened the king of hearts, and Silverman ruffed in dummy. He tested trumps by leading dummy's ace and was pleased when the jack fell. If this play had been made from the doubleton king-jack all might turn out well.

Silverman next cashed the ace of clubs, dropping the singleton queen. When declarer continued with dummy's king of clubs, West discarded a heart since he didn't know what to lead back if he ruffed with the king of trumps.

Declarer next led the nine of clubs and overtook with the ten of clubs. West discarded another heart. South ruffed his remaining heart with dummy's last trump, cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond. This enabled him to lead a trump, forcing out the king.

Returns Heart

It was now safe for West to lead a heart, since dummy was out of trumps. South ruffed and led his last trump to draw East's nine. At the same time Silverman carefully discarded the jack of clubs from dummy. South could therefore cash the last two clubs, staying in his own hand to do so.

It was the sort of hand that calls for a round of drinks, and Silverman is not the sort of man who defies tradition. However, since the tournament was held at Grossinger's, the famous Catskill resort, each of the players tossed down a goblet of borscht.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes. You hold: S-Q 10 7 4 2, H-Q 6, D-7, C-10 7 6 3 2. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades. You might be tempted to bid four spades if your low diamond were a low heart. This would increase the value of the queen of hearts and would also give you a void suit instead of a singleton. As the hand stands it is far too weak for a jump to game. The simple raise is a better description of the value of your hand.

Attractive Foods for Spring Shower

gift or the hostess, of course, can provide them all.

It's an excellent idea, however, to clear the gifts with all the guests beforehand, so duplicates are kept to a minimum. As for the foods to serve, we're all in favor of make-ahead dishes that may look fancy and delightfully complicated, but really aren't. Favorite sandwich spreads can go between slices of dark and light breads cut heart-shaped to fit a romantic mood. (Cookie cutter works here.)

If the shower is the kitchen-morning variety, simply serve superb coffee with a favorite coffee cake or sticky buns. Keep the coffee perking, hot and hearty, and the party will be a success.

The May Day theme can be carried out with a gelatin vegetable mold serving as the base for pretty Maypole and rice cereal May baskets holding a delicious cranberry filling.

Then there's always the classic sandwich loaf with its ribbons of colorful filling contrasting with the soft cream cheese-sour cream frosting piped or knifed into lovely trim.

Another recipe suggested today is the Orange Blossom Ripe Olive Salad that's simply stunning in appearance and unusually delicious. A molded gelatin salad, ripe olives are used to make a pretty pattern when the salad is turned out onto the serving plate.

Here they are for a happy morning, afternoon or evening.

ORANGE BLOSSOM RIPE OLIVE SALAD

3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
3 cups orange juice
½ cup lemon juice
¼ cup orange marmalade

2 cups canned pitted ripe olives

Sprinkle gelatin on one cup orange juice to soften. Stir over low heat until dissolved. Remove from heat and add remaining two cups orange juice, lemon juice and marmalade. Chill until mixture starts to set. Arrange about 10 olives cut in halves in pattern on bottom of 1½-quart mold. Fold remaining olives into gelatin and spoon carefully into mold. Chill firm. Recipe makes six servings.

GARNISH NOTES: To make orange garnishes in addition to salad mold increase gelatin mixture to following proportions: four envelopes unflavored gelatin, four cups orange juice, two-thirds cup lemon juice and three-fourths cup orange marmalade. Cut one large orange in halves; squeeze juice and pull out membrane. Pour in partially set gelatin and poke pitted ripe olive in each half. Chill until firm. Cut into thirds.

PARTY LOAF

21 slices white bread, trimmed crusts
Softened butter

¼ cup crunchy peanut butter
¼ cup chopped pimiento stuffed olives
¼ cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon chili sauce

1 can flaked tuna, drained (8½-to-7-ounce can)
1 tablespoon capers
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ teaspoon instant minced onion

½ teaspoon oregano
¼ cup mayonnaise

4½ ounces canned deviled ham
½ cup grated cheddar cheese
Dash Tabasco

1 tablespoon drained sweet pickle relish
1 tablespoon mayonnaise

16 ounces cream cheese, softened
½ cup dairy sour cream

Place three slices bread side by side on serving platter; spread with butter. Combine all ingredients for peanut butter filling; spread half over the three slices. Top with another three slices of bread, buttered on both sides.

Combine ingredients for tuna filling. Spread half on second layer of bread slices; top with three more slices of bread, again, buttered on both sides. Combine ingredients for ham-cheese filling; spread half on third layer of bread.

Repeat process, using remainder of fillings layer by layer. Top with last three slices of bread, buttered only on under side next to filling.

Whip cream cheese with sour cream until smoothly blended. Frost sides and top of loaf. Pastry tube may be used if desired. Garnish as desired. Chill until serving time.

CRANBERRY VEGETABLE MOLD

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
2 cups cranberry juice
½ cups ginger ale
2 tablespoons tarragon vinegar
1 cup shredded green cabbage
½ cup grated raw carrots
½ cup diced green pepper
½ cup sliced red radishes
Salad greens

In a small saucepan, sprinkle gelatin over half-cup cranberry juice. Let stand for five-minutes to soften. Place over low heat and stir constantly until gelatin is dissolved. Add gelatin mixture to remaining cranberry juice mixed with ginger ale and tarragon vinegar. Chill until the mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Fold in raw vegetables. Pour into a six-cup mold, filling the mold very full. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens and serve with Creamy Cranberry Salad Dressing.

CREAMY CRANBERRY SALAD DRESSING

1 cup sour cream
1 (8 ounce) can whole berry cranberry sauce
¼ cup Italian type salad dressing Combine all ingredients and blend well. Chill until ready to serve. Recipe makes two cups dressing.

MAY BASKETS

56 caramels (1 pound)
½ cup water
6 cups Rice-Honey dry cereal

Melt caramels with water in top of a double boiler. When mixture is smooth add Rice-Honey; mix well until evenly coated. Remove from heat but keep over hot water. (Moisten hands with cold water for easy handling.)

Shape into 12 baskets using greased muffin pans for a form (greased custard cups may also be used.)

Shape handles on greased waxpaper or foil last when candied cereal is slightly stiffer. Let stand at room temperature for one hour.

Gently run a sharp knife around the edge of each cup and loosen. Fill with cranberry chifon filling. Top with handles.

CRANBERRY CHIFFON FILLING

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 (1 pound can) cranberry sauce
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar

Place gelatin in custard cup. Add cold water and let stand for two minutes. Place custard cup in pan of boiling water until gelatin dissolves. Add to cranberry sauce, crushed with a fork or whole cranberry sauce. Add salt, lemon rind and lemon juice; chill until mixture begins to set.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Beat in sugar one tablespoon at a time. Fold into cranberry mixture. Spoon filling into baskets and chill until firm. Attach handles just before serving.

Basin Bathing Done in Steps

"Basin bathing" can be easy, quick, and thorough if you soap yourself section by section — then rinse with a damp towel and wipe with a dry towel as you go along.

Start with the face, neck, and arms; then do torso, legs, and feet. A sponge will hold more lather than a washcloth for this type of bathing.

Return of Taxpayers' Money Raises Question of Honesty

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was elected mayor of this town of 1,700 people by a write-in vote in 1966. It is my first public office, and I am inexperienced in the ways of politicians.

Some Federal-State bureaus want to spend $60,000 to restore an unneeded airport runway. I hold that since the other runways can handle the traffic easily this expenditure would be a waste of money. I want to turn the $60,000 back to the public treasury.

I am told that this would be foolish. The word is, "If we don't take the $60,000 some other town will." I feel this is the same as saying, "Let's rob the bank because it's going to be robbed anyway."

Please help me resolve this ethical problem, Ann Landers. Is it right for our town to accept Federal taxpayers' money, assuming the facts are precisely as I have stated them? I look to you for guidance. — Richard S. Morrison, Mayor of Delta, Utah.

Dear Mayor Morrison: If any of my readers run into Diogenes, I hope they'll send him to Delta, Utah. There he will find an honest man.

It is heartening to know, in this age, when larceny (both petty and grand) is defended as "a way of life" that some people are still concerned with ethics.

Unless a committee of five Delta businessmen can produce evidence that the runway is needed — or will be needed because of future growth — turn the money back to the government.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Ten years ago my husband and I had a terrible argument, and I locked him out of the house. He went to his mother's and she persuaded him to stay two weeks "to teach me a lesson."

I'm happy to say we worked out our difficulties, and our marriage is now a very good one. Recently my mother-in-law, in a joking manner, reminded us of the incident (in the presence of other members of the family) and said she would do it again because "it is a mother's duty to protect her children at all times."

Our son is being married in a few months, and I would like to know how to handle the situation if his wife locks him out of the house and he tries to come home to me. Should I let him in? — Bloomfield Hills.

Dear Bloomfield: No. Tell him to go home and settle his domestic problems with his wife. The mother who tells her children (son or daughter), "If things don't go well, you can always come home," does them no favor. Countless separated and divorced couples would have pulled up their socks and learned to live

Samuel Pepys Gets Letter From Tax Man

LONDON (AP) — Samuel Pepys, dead for 265 years, has received a letter from the tax man.

The famous diarist who wrote of the 1666 fire of London and the 1665 plague was also known as "father of the Civil Service."

Tuesday a letter for Pepys was received by his publisher, G. Bell and Sons.

It was an inquiry from the Civil Service's Tax Department asking for Pepys' tax district, whether he got a state pension and if he had declared his current income.

Said a spokesman for the publishers: "We have been publishers of Pepys' Diary for 70 or 80 years and there is a certain amount of work going on on a new edition."

"This may have brought the name Pepys to the tax sleuths. We shall return the form saying that Mr. Pepys is no longer employed by ourselves."

Calumet Unit Tells Officers

New officers were elected by Calumet County Extension Homemakers at a recent spring meeting. Mrs. Paul Ecker, Stockbridge, will be president; Mrs. Rueben Koffarnus, route 1, Hilbert, vice president and Mrs. Barney Mullins, Brillion, secretary.

Committee chairmen will be Mrs. Victor Geiser, New Holstein; Mrs. Joseph Mirsberger, Hilbert, and Mrs. Charles Miller, Brillion.

Mrs. Ecker also was named State Education Chairman in International.

The group is offering a $200 scholarship to a senior girl planning to major in home economics in college. Applications must be accompanied by an essay on, "Why I Am Choosing Home Economics as a Career." Applications may be sent to Miss Joan Prochnow, Chilton Court House, until May 10.

Frozen Vegetables Star in Modern, Quick Version of Italian Minestrone

Minestrone is the Italian word for soup and, in Italy, soups are many and varied. They range from thin beef or chicken consommés, flavored with a few vegetable slices or a handful of pasta, to hearty thick combinations that go under the broad general name of minestrone or "big soup".

There are innumerable variations of minestrone. Essentially it is a vegetable soup with the addition of macaroni, spaghetti, rice or barley. The more flavorful variations call for the addition of meat in some form or the use of a beef broth base.

In parts of Italy, minestrone is the popular midday menu choice.

Traditional accompaniments are grated Parmesan cheese for sprinkling over the soup, a tossed green salad, crusty bread or bread sticks and a dessert of cheese and fruit.

The following minestrone recipe takes all the traditional flavor, but eliminates tedious preparation because it is made with ready-to-use frozen vegetables. Besides convenience, the frozen vegetables assure the maximum in food value and bright color.

QUICK MINESTRONE

- 1 teaspoon olive or corn oil
- 1/4 cup chopped salt pork or bacon
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1/4 cup frozen chopped onion
- 2 cans (10 1/2 ounces each) beef broth
- 2 1/2 cups water
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley
- 1/2 teaspoon dried basil leaves
- 1 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon coarse grind black pepper
- 1 can (1 pound)

- tomatoes, drained
- 1 cup frozen chopped celery
- 5 small frozen whole potatoes, slightly thawed and cut into eighths
- 1/2 cup elbow macaroni
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen mixed vegetables (2 cups)
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen sliced zucchini (2 cups)
- Grated Parmesan cheese

Heat oil in large (about four-quart) kettle. Add salt pork, cook, stirring, about one minute. Add garlic and onion; cook until onion is soft. Add beef broth, water, parsley, basil, thyme, salt, pepper, tomatoes and celery. (If dried parsley preferred, substitute one and one-half teaspoons for fresh.) Bring to a boil. Add potatoes, macaroni and mixed vegetables. Return broth to a boil and cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add zucchini, separating it with a fork. Cook, stirring occasionally, five minutes, or until zucchini is tender. Do not overcook. Taste and adjust seasoning, if desired. Serve with grated Parmesan cheese.

Recipe makes two and one-half quarts or eight generous servings.

Brillion Church Group To Hear Seminary Chorus

BRILLION — The 30-member chorus from St. Lawrence Seminary, Mount Calvary, will sing at the 7:30 p.m. Tuesday meeting of the Christian Mothers Society.

The Rev. Leonard Woelfel, St. Mary pastor, will give the opening spiritual message.

Special Tribute

A special tribute to honorary members of the Christian Mothers Society here will be observed during the program as a commemoration of the society's 75th anniversary this year.

Honorary members are Mrs. Henry Barth, Mrs. Michael Becker, Mrs. Frank Binfield, Mrs. Frank Bohman, Mrs. Charles Burich, Mrs. George Caldwell, Mrs. Frank Dorshner, Mrs. Ferd. Fischer, Mrs. Dan Geiger Sr., Mrs. George Geiger, Mrs. Henry Geiger, Mrs. Ed Goes, Mrs. Michael Kleiber, Mrs. James Levasch, Mrs. Arthur J. Neumeyer, Mrs. Joseph Paradise, Mrs. Adolph Fritzl, Mrs. John Schmieder, Mrs. George A. Schneider, Mrs. John Schneider, Mrs. Joseph Schuh, Mrs. John Stelmets, Mrs. David Stern, Mrs. John Vechert Sr. and Mrs. Louis Wolfinger.

A bulletin board display will tell the society's history. The mother of Mrs. Frank Bohman, Brillion, was one of the 38 charter members. Mrs. Bohman still has her mother's Christian Mother medal and charter which will be on display at Tuesday's meeting.

Members are reminded that they may bring a guest to the meeting.

Executive Group Approves Revising Planning Bylaws

Fox Valley Regional Unit To Act at Annual Meeting

The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission executive committee Tuesday afternoon approved with minor changes a proposed revision in the articles of a agreement which would change the commission to the Fox Valley Council of Governments.

The vote came at a special meeting called to prepare for Thursday's annual commission meeting. Nine of 12 commission member communities were represented at the meeting, and the vote was unanimous after several questions about the proposal were cleared.

Professor Will Discuss New 'Humanism'

Dr. Koffka Heads Honors' Day Event at Lawrence University

Dr. Elisabeth Koffka, of the Lawrence University history department, will discuss "The Dilemma of Modern Humanism" in a convocation address scheduled for 10:40 a.m. Thursday at Memorial Chapel.

Her talk will mark the school's annual Honors' Day observance.

Mrs. Koffka, a professor of history, came to Lawrence in 1961 from Smith College, Northampton, Mass., where she taught for 30 years. While at Smith she spent five years as director of that college's junior year abroad program in Geneva, Switzerland.

A doctor of philosophy graduate of the University of Giessen, Germany, Mrs. Koffka left a faculty post there in 1929 when her husband, the late Dr. Kurt Koffka, was offered a research professorship in psychology at Smith. Koffka was one of the three founders of the Gestalt school of psychology.

Since coming to Lawrence, Mrs. Koffka has twice held visiting lecturer positions at the University of Rochester, New York.

Thursday's convocation will include presentation of such traditional awards as the Lawrence Spoon and Spade, the Babcock award, and departmental honors.

Appleton Moose To Hear Past Governor Sunday

Clayton Crooks, Wausau, past supreme governor of the Moose Lodge, will be guest speaker at the enrollment and dinner at the Appleton Moose home starting at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Visitors are expected from Green Bay, Kaukauna and Clintonville. Members of the Women of the Moose will cater the dinner.

Appleton will be host to the next district meeting at 8 p.m. May 2.

Officers of the Appleton lodge were installed this week. They are Charles Baker, governor; August Appel, junior governor; David Baker, prelate; Harold Nofke, treasurer; and Andrew Jimos, trustee. The Women of the Moose drill team, directed by Mrs. Earl Wooden, assisted in the ceremony.

Sen. Nelson to Speak at WSU-O

Study of Natural Resources Set by Wisconsin Academy

Wisconsin's natural resources will be considered this weekend by the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts and Letters at its 97th annual meeting at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh.

U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson will speak on the subject at 8 p.m. Friday night as the convention keynote. He also will be cited by the Academy for his leadership in the conservation of natural resources in both the nation and the state. The citation will be presented in absentia at the Academy's banquet Saturday night in Reeve Memorial Union. The senator will be unable to stay for the Saturday meetings.

The other citation will be given to Prof. Farrington Daniels, retired head of the University of Wisconsin chemistry department and teacher there for four decades. Dr. Farrington will be honored as a brilliant teacher, editor, lecturer, researcher and administrator in important national scientific projects.

Conference Highlight

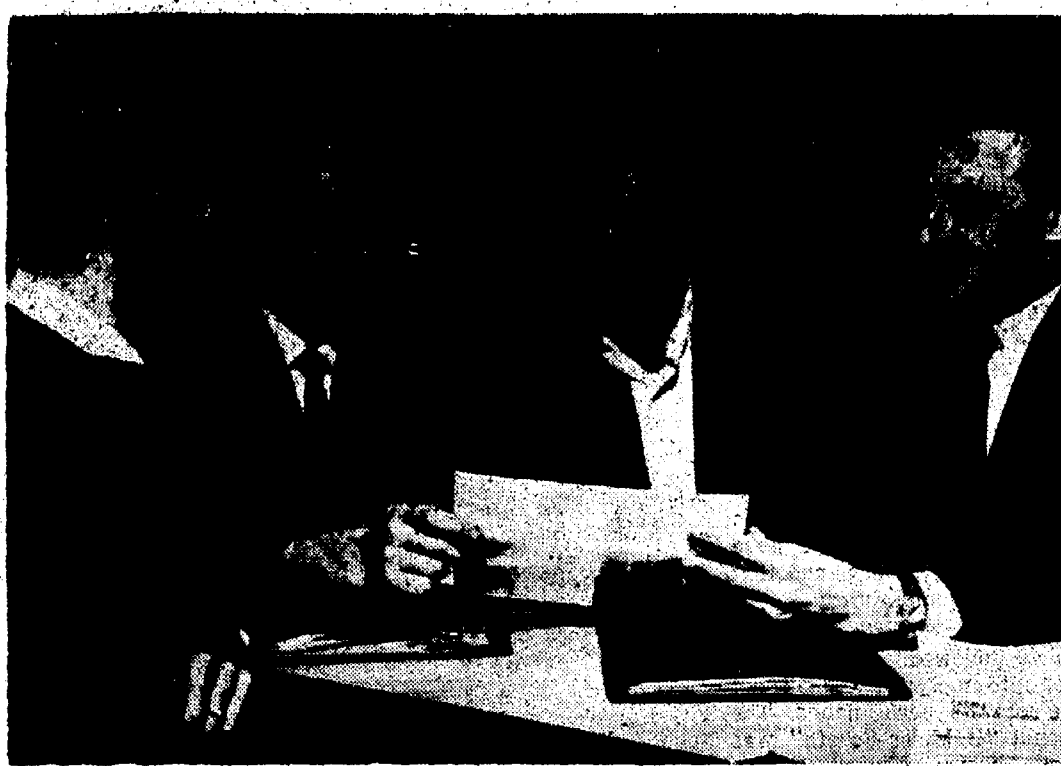

A symposium on the conference theme will highlight both the morning and afternoon sessions Saturday in Clow Social Science Center at the university.

chairman of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission and former head of the High Cliff State Park Association which promoted that resource on Lake Winnebago, will be one of the five morning speakers. Bubolz will discuss the topic, "Guidelines for Major Project Accomplishment in Natural Resource Conservation."

Speaking on the subject, "Human Development, a Prime Natural Resource," will be Prof. Belden H. Paulson, of the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. A. Freeman Holmer, of the State Department of Resource Development, will discuss Wisconsin's water resources; Dr. Robert Lennon, of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service of LaCrosse, will talk on fishery research, stressing propagation and pollution influences in Wisconsin and the upper Midwest.

Aesthetic Attitudes

Prof. Michael Kazar, staff member of the University of Wisconsin, Manitowish Center, will discuss the subject "Aesthetic Attitudes Regarding Nature."

Police Association Asks Merit Raises

Delegates Question City Policy During Executive Session

Representatives of the Appleton Professional Policemen's Association requested merit raises during an executive session with the city council's public safety committee at city hall Tuesday.

Machine Firm Reports 9 Broken Windows

Appleton police are investigating vandalism at the Van Ryzin Machine Co., 1520 W. Haskell St., where nine 20 by 16 inch windows were reported broken Monday night.

The vandalism was reported late Tuesday morning by company officials who said similar vandalism has occurred frequently in recent weeks.

No action was taken but the matter may be brought before the council at some future committee of the whole session.

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff and Attorney Gordon Myse, who represents the association, indicated that about 20 members of the force should get merit raises but wanted to know what the city's policy would be.

Open Contract

It is not known whether the association, through its attorney, wants to open the 1967 contract which was arrived at with the city a few months ago. At that time wage increases and additional fringe benefits were granted.

City officials said today there is no money in the budget for the merit pay adjustments requests. They indicated the budget includes funds to cover terms of the contract which had been ratified by members of the police department.

There is nothing in the contract referring to merit pay increases, officials said.

The contract does not expire for several months.

Driver Hurt in Four-Car Crash

Suffers Severe Head, Face Cuts as Auto Rams Parked Vehicle

A 37-year-old Appleton man suffered severe head and face cuts early this morning when his car rammed into the rear of a parked car, causing a four-vehicle accident on W. Wisconsin Avenue, near N. Summit Street.

Kenneth Ardell, 1715 W. Reeve St., was taken to Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah, by ambulance. His head went through the windshield of his car.

Appleton police said Ardell was eastbound on Wisconsin Avenue when his car rammed a parked car owned by Michael R. Martino, 1932 N. Richmond St. The Martino car was pushed into the rear of a parked car owned by Dennis L. Zimmer, 829 W. Grant St., which in turn was slammed into the rear of a third parked car owned by Kathleen D. Steibs, 429 W. Sixth St.

Extensive damage was done to all four cars, according to police.

Parks Head Seeks Lights From Avenue

Lights being removed from College Avenue — to be replaced with a new system during the reconstruction — could be used along roads in Pierce Park, city officials were informed today.

R. F. Rindt, supervisor of parks, asked if it would be possible to have 30 surplus lights transferred to the park department.

The request originally stemmed from the park and recreation commission and will be considered by the public safety committee which indicated sometime ago the lights would be added to side streets in the central business district.

The park department would erect one light at Lutz Park boat ramp for landing and loading of boats during darkness, and "to discourage vandalism to boats that on occasion are tied to the piers overnight."

County Board Talks Set Before UW Site Tour

MADISON — The Assembly Education Committee decided today to meet Monday with representatives of Brown and Outagamie County boards, the Green Bay mayor's office and the state site selection committee prior to touring two proposed University of Wisconsin-Green Bay campus sites.

The Assembly Education Committee is considering a bill which would move the planned campus from the approved Shorewood site on the city's northeast side to the Larsen Farms site on the southwest side.

Assemblyman Russell Wartinbee, R-LaCrosse, committee chairman, said he wanted "to look over the situation so I can be better able to make a decision."

Open House Scheduled Sunday at Appleton Sheltered Workshop

An open house is scheduled from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday at the Sheltered Activity Center, 522 W. Seventh St., under sponsorship of the board of directors.

Programs now underway will be shown and the building's upstairs facilities and what could be done with them will be pointed out to the public. The program has grown from four to 11 children in the last year.

Plans are underway to open the upstairs part of the building for an expanded program within the next six months, according to Mrs. Kyle Ward Jr., chairman of the board.

Expect Okay Soon On Pipeline Grant

$1.5 Million Sought From HUD Office

Mayor George Buckley will be given a decision soon, by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) on Appleton's request for a $1.5 million water expansion program grant.

Both The Post-Crescent and the mayor received separate letters today from Edward Bruder, Chicago, assistant regional administrator for metropolitan development for HUD.

"We are in correspondence with the mayor regarding the matters under consideration and expect to advise him soon as to the result of our consideration," Bruder told The Post-Crescent. "We appreciate your interest in this program," he added.

Meetings Completed

And in writing Mayor Buckley, the federal official said he did not think another meeting with Appleton city officials would be necessary at this point as the mayor had suggested in a previous letter.

A few months ago eight city officials, accompanied by U.S. Senator Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) and Rep. John Byrnes (R-Green Bay), met with Bruder at Chicago and supplied supplemental information to the city's grant application as requested.

"There appear to be no technical questions unresolved as far as our staff engineers are concerned," Bruder said, adding the Appleton request was being weighed as to how it fit into the city's overall future planning.

Notification Soon

"We expect to advise you as to the result of this consideration very soon, and feel that a meeting at this time would be unproductive," Bruder concluded.

Last weekend Senator Nelson, in Appleton for speaking engagements, said in an interview that HUD officials in Washington, D.C. advised him Appleton's project met all requirements, rated a high priority and the next step would be to make a fund reservation.

It would indicate the city would be in line for a grant with the beginning of the new fiscal year, July 1.

Teachers Elect James Peotter To Head AEA

New officers for the coming year were elected by the Appleton Education Association (AEA) Tuesday at the annual meeting.

James Peotter, first vice president, was elected president, replacing Robert Damon; Joanne DeGroot replaces Peotter as first vice president; Ronald Knorr is the new secretary, replacing Mrs. Norma Winsor, and Mrs. Edwarda Schroeder is the treasurer, replacing Ben Foltz.

A second vice president will be selected by the executive committee to replace Alan Stoner, who, due to other commitments, resigned the post.

Avoid 'Jealousies, Bickering'

Executive Urges Unity For Air Transportation Industry in Wisconsin

SHEBOYGAN. — About 250 persons attending the 12th annual Wisconsin Aeronautics Conference here today were urged "to stay away from inter-industry jealousies and petty bickering over locations of airports, types of facilities and timetables of establishment."

Robert Draper, president of Oster Manufacturing Co., Milwaukee, and a director of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, told the aviation group, "There is going to be more business for every one of you and more growth for Wisconsin in total, if you present a united front for the air transportation industry as a whole."

Draper urged everyone connected with aviation to be emissaries for new business and new economic growth and to make air transportation one of the major selling points.

Total Promotion

"Next," Draper said, "I think you should unceasingly promote the better air facilities for Wisconsin on the basis of our total economic growth whether such facilities are public or private."

Explaining reasons why air facilities are important to the state's economic growth, he praised many Wisconsin communities for doing "outstanding jobs" in soliciting industrial development.

"These cities," he said, "are willing to build buildings for industrial use; they are becoming more and more interested in industrial parks; they are going through zoning and land use planning that is necessary; and they are actively soliciting and working."

"But at the same time," Draper stated, "many of them have not taken into consideration the importance of air transport facilities and I think they should."

'Dynamic' Economy

Reviewing Wisconsin's economic situation, Draper said, "Wisconsin's economy is dynamic enough to recover rather well from such things as a major industrial layoff by our largest private employer; and secondly that the trends of the past two or three years are no flash in the pan sensation, but represent solid industrial economic growth."

He said the state's public fiscal picture "seems to be reasonably sound."

"While no one at this point can realistically predict the outcome of the legislature's budget and tax deliberations," Draper said, "it seems obvious that our growing industrial and economic fortunes are providing us with an expanding tax base sufficient to fund most of the public services the people demand and to fund them without increased tax rates."

"With all this in mind," he said, "it seems safe to say that the Wisconsin economic picture is bright."

Appleton to Discuss Housing for Elderly

City, Welfare Officials Plan Program Under Federal Grant

Appleton officials will meet with a representative of the State Department of Public Welfare next week to discuss this area's potential for low income public housing for the elderly.

Members of the council's welfare-ordinance committee indicated at their meeting Tuesday that the public housing program, subsidized by the federal government, would be explored and given "serious consideration."

Welfare Director Merton Ehrlicke has informed city officials there is a need for such housing for Appleton's low income bracket senior citizens.

Directors Recommendation

On the basis of Ehrlicke's recommendation, the city council has asked the committee to pursue the matter.

No date has been set with the state representative for next week's meeting which will be conducted here.

Recently a group of elderly residents petitioned the council to undertake a public housing project in conjunction with state and federal governmental units.

Several other area communities have applied for grants for public housing projects.

Man Who Swung At Officer Pays For Bad Conduct

A 19-year-old Appleton man, who swung at patrolmen while being questioned on the porch at his wife's home, was fined $50 and costs or 24 days in jail this morning after he pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct.

Appleton police arrested Thomas A. Schilling, 2615 Brookdale Court, after they were called to the home of his estranged wife at 612 N. Durkee St., about 1:10 a.m. today. Police were told at that time there was a prowler in the neighborhood.

When police arrived at the house, they found Schilling on the front porch. When asked for identification, Schilling reportedly threw his wallet on the ground and became belligerent. After swinging at investigating patrolmen, Schilling was handcuffed and taken to the police station.

He appeared this morning in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Bicycle Licenses to Be Issued Saturday

KAUKAUNA — Bicycle licenses will be issued Saturday at the police station with representatives of the Veterans of Foreign Wars on hand to assist and to put reflector tape on bikes to help make them visible to motorists after dark.

Bicycle licenses are not being issued during the week, but only on Saturdays when additional help is available. Parents sending smaller children for licenses are asked to have make, model, color and serial numbers of the bike listed on a sheet of paper to facilitate operations.

State Commission Asks New Data On Menasha-Kaukauna Power Link

PSC Hearings In Madison In Third Day

MADISON — An engineer from the Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC) staff today asked for new data basic to the request from Menasha and Kaukauna municipal electric utilities to connect the two systems.

William Kielthau of the PSC staff submitted the request for the revised figures as the hearing on the proposed interconnection began its third day.

A spokesman for the two municipal utilities agreed to have their engineering consultant provide figures and indicated the work would make necessary another delay in the proceedings which already are in their third installment, having begun last January.

The hearing then turned to evidence and testimony from Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. Van B. Wake, attorney for WMPCO, was allowed by Menasha and Kaukauna attorney Melvin Crowley to skirt items that might be changed by the new data requested by the PSC.

New Information
The revised study will show the effects of changes in ratios showing demands upon Kaukauna generating equipment. Kielthau also asked for "more realistic" lead factors which show the difference between average load on the utility system and the peak load required.

Mead and Hunt, engineering consultants to the Menasha-Kaukauna Interconnection Committee, had based its recommendations for equipment, if the utilities are linked, upon a 40 per cent load factor. Kielthau observed that this was unrealistic in view of past experience. Previously, the factor has been 60 per cent of peak demands, he said.

Kielthau also said he was asking for the new information even though the changes would increase the apparent advantages of the Menasha-Kaukauna proposal. He also sought a report clarifying the amounts of energy to be shared by the two utilities.

Misinterpreted
Wisconsin Michigan officials privately viewed the PSC request as indicating the rates at which Wisconsin Michigan was being selling power to the Kaukauna utility were apparently "misinterpreted and misapplied" in the proposal.

Taking the stand for Wisconsin Michigan were John McLean and John K. Babbitt, assistant vice presidents, during the period preceding the interconnection proposal.

McLean testified that Kaukauna had required "significantly higher" amounts of power from Wisconsin Michigan during 1966 to fill the gap between the utility's generating ability and customer demand. He also testified that in 1965 Kaukauna had asked for a revised contract with Wisconsin Michigan but that after the request was met with a proposed contract, further meetings failed to produce a new agreement.

Last September, McLean testified, Wisconsin Michigan put new rates in effect for Kaukauna which amounted to a decrease in the charges. He gave the opinion the rates were "not unfavorable" to Kaukauna.

Babbitt offered testimony regarding a pair of charts showing the amounts of electricity generated at the Kaukauna hydro-electric plant on the Fox River at varying rates of stream flow over a 30-year period.

Crowley, following the testimony of the two officials, was permitted to defer cross-examination until a later time.

Assistant Fire Chief to Quit After 24 Years Service

Merton A. Schulz, 207 W. Pershing St., an Appleton fireman for more than 24 years, will retire May 5, Fire Chief Roland Kuehn said today.

Schulz, an assistant chief, is the second man of that rank to retire from the department in the past month. Francis Schuldes, another 24-year-veteran, retired March 25. The fire department has a total of four assistant chiefs.

Schulz was appointed fireman Jan. 24, 1943. He was named driver in April 1949, lieutenant in April, 1955, and captain April, 1957. He was elevated to assistant chief on Jan. 16, 1965. The Hortonville native worked at Lieber Lumber Co. before joining the fire department. He attended Hortonville High School.

Schulz and his wife, Genevieve, have two sons, both married. He said he intends to get a part-time job after retiring from the department.

Impressive in Every Way

Cliburn Uses Musical Intelligence With Sensitivity in Oshkosh Recital

BY ROBERT BELOW
Of Lawrence University

Van Cliburn's performance, before a full house in Oshkosh Tuesday evening, was truly impressive in every way. He can play fast and slow, loud and soft, with an amazing range of variety in between the extremes.

His rhythm and phrasing are usually sensitive, and his feel for structure is compelling. He seems able to do whatever he wants with the piano, though sometimes this does not coincide with the composer's own markings. But these liberties of interpretation are never designed to attract attention. They are the product of the artist's concept of the piece, a concept which is obviously the result of much careful thought and calculation. There is a real musical intelligence at work here, as well as great sensitivity.

Fresh Performance
The National Anthem opened the concert, followed by a well-balanced trio of Brahms pieces and the Beethoven "Appassionata Sonata." The latter is usually beaten to death, but Cliburn played it without banging or virtuosic showing off, with control and respect. The midnight fires which burn beneath its surface were all the more real because they were not constant.

Rising Market Greets Activity

Bullish Factors Include Auto Sales Report, Oil Earnings

NEW YORK (AP) — Trading was heavy as the stock market churned onward to its tenth straight daily advance early this afternoon.

Gainers outnumbered losers by about 3-to-2 as profit taking trimmed the best early advance.

Rising auto sales, higher earnings for oil companies and can manufacturers and less-than-expected declines in profits for major steelmakers were among bullish factors mentioned by analysts.

They also saw increased buying by the mutual funds and other institutional investors.

Block Trading
The market was higher from the start and a parade of big blocks changed hands.

Early gains exceeded losses by a ratio of about two-to-one before some profits were taken. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.62 points at 892.82, trimming its best morning gain of 2.56.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 3.8 at 326.0 with industrials up 1.6, rails up .1 and utilities up .2.

General Foods, an important blue chip, was up more than 2 points and Sears Roebuck gained about 1 1/2.

Up a point or so were Boeing, IBM, Polaroid, New York Central, Standard Oil of California and Merck.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange.

FAA Orders Relocation of Runway Point

OSHKOSH — The Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) has ordered Winnebago County to either move the landing point at the north end of the present north-south runway at the county airport 790 feet south or face restrictions in the use of the runway for North Central Airline.

In a letter from Lyle K. Brown, regional FAA engineer, the county was ordered to move the runway threshold 790 feet south because of obstructions (trees and homes) at the north end of the runway. The possible restrictions would only apply to North Central airplanes.

Moving the threshold would involve moving some of landing lights and remarking the runway to indicate that North Central planes could not use the northern 750 feet of the runway when landing from north to south.

S. J. Wittman, airport manager, said he had not been informed what the restrictions would be if the order was not complied with. He added he would seek this information at the state aeronautics conference being held today and Thursday at Sheboygan.

Eagles Obtain Bears' Ditka

Philadelphia Sends QB Jack Concannon, '68 Pick to Chicago

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles announced today the trade of quarterback Jack Concannon and a 1968 draft choice to the Chicago Bears for tight end Mike Ditka.

The 27-year-old Ditka played out his option with the Bears last season and becomes a free agent May 1.

As a free agent he can deal with any team in professional football.

No. 2 Choice
The 24-year-old Concannon was the Eagles' No. 2 draft choice from Boston College in 1964, and has sat on the bench most of his three years in the National Football League.

Ditka, a former star at the University of Pittsburgh, was drafted in 1961 by the Bears and developed into one of the leagues premier pass receivers and blockers. He was named several times to the All-NFL team.

Concannon, got a break late in the 1966 season as a starting quarterback, directed the Eagles to two victories. He was the quarterback in the NFL's Playoff Bowl last January in which the Eagles lost to the Baltimore Colts.

The Eagles badly needed a veteran tight end with the recent retirement of Pete Retzlaff, while the Bears are hurting at quarterback as the result of Rudy Bukich calling it a career after last season.

Philadelphia reportedly gave owner-coach George Halas the choice of the Eagles' three quarterbacks — Concannon, Norm Snead and King Hill.

Professor Says State Can Control Obscenity

"The state not only has the right but, in many cases, a responsibility to control hard core obscene material," a noted English professor told the Fox Cities Marquette Alumni Association Tuesday.

Speaking on "The Control of Obscenity — A Continuing Dilemma," was Dr. Joseph Schwartz, chairman of the Marquette University English department.

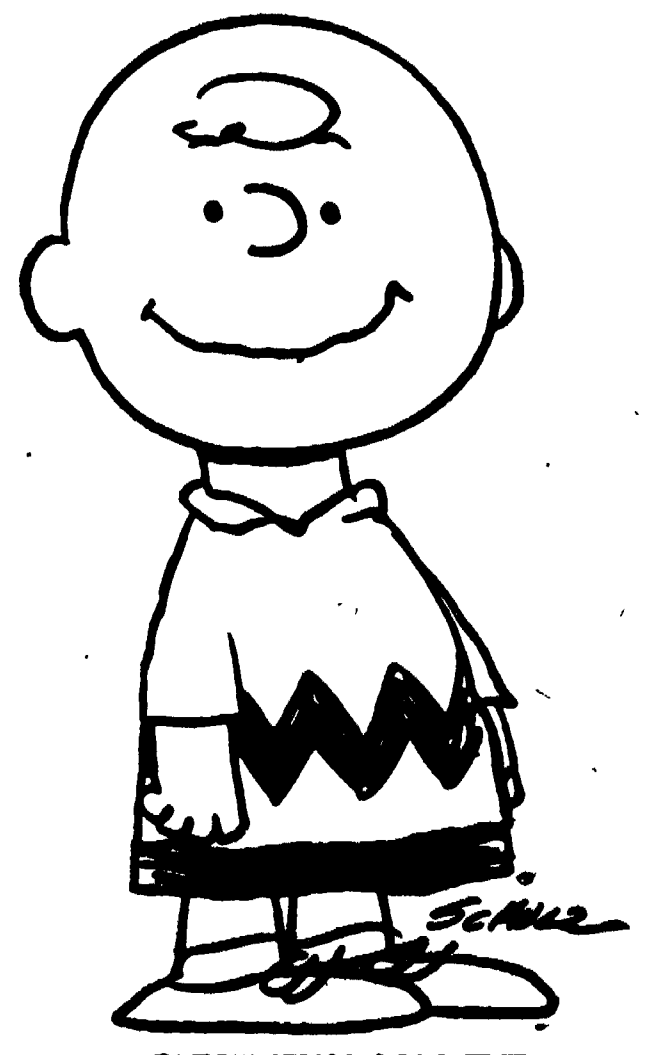

Expanding on the state's rights to control obscene material, the professor told the group that difficulty arises when the state has to deal with three factions — freedom of speech, the need for free artistic expression and common decency.

"However, there is no question that a responsibility exists; after all, if someone advertises a bogus cancer cure, the state can step in, because the written language is used to destroy," he said.

Anti-Social
The same, Dr. Schwartz added, is true of pornographic literature, which may cause anti-social behavior.

"There are many who argue this point saying that there is no scientific proof of the cause and effect of pornography but there

Faculty to Get Pay Increase At Plamann

Plan Action on Salary Schedule With $5,800 Base

Salary increases for teachers at Plamann School, the Outagamie County-operated school for retarded children, won the backing Tuesday of the county's Handicapped Children's Education Board.

In order to keep up with a trend for teachers throughout the state, the board met with the teachers at the school and agreed on a formal salary schedule.

The board approved a schedule which provides, roughly, a $300 annual salary increase over the pay the teachers are now receiving. Previously, there had been no schedule in existence. The schedule, however, still has to be approved on Tuesday night, May 9, when the county board meets.

Maximum of $8,300
The base pay for beginning teachers with bachelor's degrees is $5,800. The schedule provides a $250 increase each year until a maximum of $8,300 annually comes in the teacher's 11th year.

For teachers with a bachelor's degree, plus 12 credits towards a master's degree in their specialty, beginning pay would be $6,000 with $250 annual increases until the 12th year when the maximum of $8,750 is reached.

The highest grade is for teachers with 24 credits towards a master's degree. Teachers in this group start at $6,200 annually. The increment is $250 each year until the 12th year when the salary reaches $8,950. Then come $100 annual increases until the 15th year when the maximum becomes $9,250.

Fringe Benefits
Fringe benefits include 10 days per year sick leave, accumulative to 60 days, medical insurance on a 50-50 basis with the county paying half the premium, $20 a day for substitute teachers pay, and four days emergency leave in case of death of a member of the immediate family.

All teachers now on the faculty will be on the schedule by July 1, 1968. The school now has four teachers, with plans for a fifth to be added in time for next fall's term.

The Handicapped Children's Education Board signed the contract Friday afternoon. Members of the board are three county board supervisors — Chris Roepcke, Town of Cicero, chairman, Eugene Kloes and Mrs. Barbara Steger, both of Appleton.

The school, which is administered by Cooperative Education Service Agency, is open for all trainable people and children in the county.

Brush Fire Squelched; Gasoline Odor Checked

Appleton firemen prevented a brush fire from reaching a railroad box car near the Riverside Paper Co. parking lot about 12:50 p.m. Tuesday. Firemen remained at the scene about 20 minutes.

At 11:58 a.m. Tuesday, firemen were called to check on a gasoline odor in the basement of the Viking Theater and A & P Food Store building in the 300 block of W. College Avenue.

USDA Rulings Up Producer Milk Prices

See Minimum $4.75 In Valley Area Federal Market

Two rulings Tuesday by the U.S. Department of Agriculture should boost producer income for Class I milk marketed in 39 federal order areas, including the Northeastern Wisconsin order as of May 1.

In this area it will result in a minimum of $4.75 per hundred-weight through next April. The price was $4.45 in April and was scheduled to dip to $4.35 in May before the decision was announced.

The department eliminated seasonal price variations on Class I or bottled milk and increased the price by establishing differentials or Class I price schedules on an annual average basis plus 20 cents per hundred-weight each month through April.

The decision provides a minimum basic formula price of $4.05. The differential or premium over the basic formula price will be at a level of 74 cents throughout the year.

Minimum Level
The Class I price in Northeastern Wisconsin will be a minimum of $4.99 less the supply-demand factor of up to 24 cents or a minimum of $4.75.

On most federal order markets the base price is the Minnesota-Wisconsin average price paid farmers for milk going into manufactured products such as butter, cheese and powdered milk. The Class I price is determined by adding the differential to the manufactured milk price.

The decisions follow regional hearings across the nation at which area cooperatives appeared to request price changes. Consolidated Badger, Shawano, and Lake to Lake Dairy Cooperative, Kiel, were represented at the hearings by National Milk Producers Federation Pure Milk Products Co-op also was in on negotiations.

The increase amounts to slightly less than one per cent per quart to the farmer, reflecting a total price of 10 and one-half cents per qt. at the farm level. This compares with 9 1/4 cents per quart a year ago and a peak of 11 1/7 cents per quart (less hauling costs) received by the farmer in October of 1966.

Policy Shift Made for City Bar Licenses

Appleton Committee Eliminates Special Application Sessions

Beginning July 1, all applications for bartender's licenses must meet full approval of various city inspection agencies before they will be considered at a regular meeting of the council's welfare-ordinance committee.

The policy shift was made by the committee at its organization meeting at the city hall Tuesday night.

In the past the committee occasionally held special sessions between its regular meeting and council meetings to act on applications.

However, this will be a thing of the past all committee members agreed, according to Chairman Richard Huisman (1st). Other members include: Ald. Orville Strutz, (17th), vice chairman; George Schwartzbauer (10th), secretary, William Errington (15th) and William Wachtendonk (3rd).

Fiscal Policy
The committee's decision to eliminate any further "quickie sessions" on license applications will go into effect July 1 because that is the start of the fiscal year for licensing purposes.

Some applicants have been of the impression they may pay a $5 fee and can receive a license within a few days, it was explained. But this is not the case.

It takes from three to five weeks for inspections by the department of inspection, health department and character checks by the police department.

City Requirements
When a person applies for an operator's license he receives instructions from the city clerk's office to go to the police station to be fingerprinted. The applicant is also required to get a chest x-ray.

Once all information is gathered, including the police chief's recommendation, then the committee acts to grant or deny the application.

In other action, the committee:

Feted for Role in Education

France Decorates Lawrence Instructor

Anne P. Jones, who holds the John N. Bergstrom professorship of French at Lawrence University, was given a decoration by the French government in a ceremony in her home Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Jones was made a Chevalier dans l'Ordre des Palmes Academiques. The decoration was awarded by Rene Allewaert, cultural attache of the French consulate in Chicago.

Highest Regard
The Palmes Academiques is an order reserved for persons the French government considers particularly significant in education. Miss Jones was honored for her role in building "a faculty of consistent quality" at Lawrence, plus the quality of her own publications.

"We have the highest regard for the work that goes on here," commented Allewaert. "I have met with Lawrence students several times in the past — they are curious about France and their practice of the language is very sound. This is our way of bringing our best wishes to the French department at Lawrence."

Allewaert himself holds the rank of commander in the same academic order. Miss Jones is the first Lawrence professor to be decorated by a foreign government in 39 years. At that time the late Dr. Louis C. Baker was named an officer in the Royal Order of the Great Star of Roumania for leadership of American delegates to an international congress for secondary and college education in Bucharest.

Edited Books
A member of the Lawrence faculty since 1937, Miss Jones specializes in contemporary French literature. She has edited two books of readings for college French students, "Hier et Aujourd'hui" and "Lectures Choisies: Andre Malraux." She also made the first English translation of Jean-Paul Sartre's essay "Faces" which was published in a philosophical journal last year.

Miss Jones has done graduate work at the Sorbonne and has lived in France for several periods. She is listed in "Who's Who in America" and in the "Directory of American Scholars." Lawrence awarded her the Uhlig Memorial Award for excellent teaching in 1963.

This weekend Miss Jones will participate in a national colloquium on the writings of Andre Malraux at the University of Kentucky in Lexington.

Prices Must be Protected, Milk Marketing Parley Told

Orders Should Aid Dairyman Not Insure Low Cost Product

MADISON — Unless federal milk marketing orders are used to protect farm income instead of preserving short term low consumer prices they may become too expensive for the long range interest of the farmer and his cooperatives which depend upon the orders.

This was the warning issued this morning at the opening session of 22nd annual Midwest Milk Marketing Conference here at the University of Wisconsin by Arthur Miller, economist with Pure Milk Products Co-Op of Fond du Lac.

Miller, discussing the future of federal orders policies and programs, said "Producers and their cooperatives will have to assume greater responsibility in the future to fit production and supplies to market needs."

He called for a change in the pricing to an economic type formula instead of bare minimums which serve only short term needs. He said federal orders will have to consider the "wider movement of milk with a broader sharing of Class I prices so all farmers whose product is needed in the market may be included in a pooling arrangement."

Future federal orders must reflect a changed attitude toward the dairy industry, he said, especially in price relationship policy.

In particular he pointed to the New York-New Jersey order which enjoyed a $5.28 average Class I price at the 210-200 mile zone with 53 per cent fluid use while 36 North Central Markets had a Class I average of $4.31 for 63 per cent in fluid use.

Greater Efforts
"We need greater efforts by the dairy industry to educate the public on long run dangers of sacrificing dairy income to counteract domestic inflation, to promote foreign trade and foster international relations," he said.

Farmers will have greater need for the assistance of federal orders as their numbers dwindle and the "limited number of handlers have greater power in the choice of milk to be accepted for the market."

Recommend Policy
He questioned the value of consolidating present market orders because of the intermovement and intercity exchange. Local markets are no longer clear cut. He suggested

Kimberly Driver Bruises Head in 2-Car Accident

LITTLE CHUTE — David Dupont, 22, 132 Birch St., Kimberly, suffered a bruise on the head when the car he was driving was involved in an accident about 12:45 a.m. Tuesday, according to village police.

Dupont was traveling south on Madison Street, stopped for the flashing red lights on Main Street and then pulled into the intersection, colliding with a car being driven east on Main by Joseph Hinkens, 46, 514 Grand Ave., Little Chute.

Damage to the Dupont vehicle was estimated at $500 and to the Hinkens vehicle $150.

Train Windows Broken Again Near Shiocton

For the second time in less than a week, vandals have damaged windows on a Green Bay and Western freight train near Shiocton.

Railroad officials reported at 7:50 p.m. Tuesday that windows on a caboose were broken by the flashing red lights on Main Street and then pulled into the intersection, colliding with a car being driven east on Main by Joseph Hinkens, 46, 514 Grand Ave., Little Chute.

Damage to the Dupont vehicle was estimated at $500 and to the Hinkens vehicle $150.

rather, that a single national order might result.

Paul Kelly, acting head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at Kansas State University, said the dairy industry should adapt the federal order program to serve as an instrument in forming national policy.

He felt it important to think in terms of "what price and income generating mechanism dairymen want and consider feasible methods of obtaining them."

Kelly saw no fundamental changes in the capacity to produce dairy products but forces exist to expand output in excess of domestic and import needs. The domestic demand for dairy products is substantially unchanged from 1964. He also noted the export - import situation, including the Food for Peace program, has no major gains to offer U.S. dairymen in the future.

He predicted dairying would continue to be concentrated in a few states with the Midwest reserve in the lake states. The trend toward increased Grade A use will continue at present rates; commercial dairy farmers will gain in importance in terms of total off-farm milk sales; herds will grow to sizes above 50 head while those of 20 head and below will disappear; milk production per cow will continue to increase about 3 per cent a year.

Woman Placed on Probation for Thefts

Sharon Lee Busch, 20, 377 N. Richmond St., was placed on probation to the State Department of Public Welfare for two years Tuesday afternoon when she pleaded guilty to the theft of three plastic dolls, two cartons of cigarettes and a pair of stockings April 17 from the Red Owl Store, 700 W. Wisconsin Ave.

Mrs. Busch appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 following investigation by Appleton police.

Jacob Shapiro, will conduct its business meeting Saturday morning and presentation of scientific papers Saturday afternoon.

Papers Presentation
Sectional programs and presentation of papers of the senior Academy will be from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday. Shapiro, of the biology department at WSU-Oshkosh, will moderate the science section, while Frank L. Klement, of Marquette University's history department, will direct the presentation in the Letters section.

The annual business meeting, highlighting the election of officers, is scheduled for 4:15 p.m. Saturday. President-Elect John W. Thomson, Madison, will receive the gavel at this meeting and serve officially as Academy president at the 6:15 p.m. banquet that night.

Outgoing president, David J. Behling, Milwaukee, will present the banquet address, "The Search for Security."

Life Memberships
Besides the presentation of Academy citations by Chairman Carl Welty, Beloit, the banquet program will include the presentation of Junior Academy of Science awards and the honoring with life memberships Dr. Anselm O. Keefe, head of St. Norbert College biology department, and Stillman Wright, Bethesda, Md.

The Wisconsin Idea Theatre will present the program "How Now Sacred Cow?" in the Reeve Union Lounge after the banquet Saturday night.

Sunday morning activities include guided tours of the Paine Art Center under Director Richard Gregg, and the Oshkosh Public Museum under Director Jack Kuony. A box luncheon in the Museum's public room at noon will end the conference.

Thursday Meeting

State FHA Official to Address Fox Valley Human Rights Unit

Lawrence S. Katz, Milwaukee, director of the Wisconsin Federal Housing Administration (FHA) will speak at the Fox Valley Human Rights Council meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Red Room of the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co.

Katz, a graduate of the Marquette University Law School, Milwaukee, was an attorney for the industrial commission for 10 years before becoming president of the Metropolitan Construction Co., in 1946.

In 1962 he was appointed state director of FHA and has been actively involved in successful large urban renewal programs.

He also serves on the University-Milwaukee faculty and is active in civic, welfare and religious organizations. Katz has spoken frequently on minority housing topics in the past.

The public is invited to the lecture. There is no admission charge.

Director With

The United Community Services of Appleton, Inc., which directs the annual United Red Feather campaign, has voted to retain its executive director in a full-time capacity as of May 31.

Malin

on a year-to-year basis, and in July 1966 the boards agreed that each should work toward a full-time director.

In Appleton, the goal for Red Feather agencies has increased from $173,143 in 1963 to $264, 835 in 1966.

In 1966 Appleton began to move toward the development of an area-wide united fund, and in the first step toward a more united campaign, included the Outagamie Chapter of American Red Cross and the Mental Health Association of Outagamie County. However, solicitation for these agencies, as for all county agencies, is conducted only in Appleton and Grand Chute under the present campaign arrangement.

At the present time, Malin said, the Outagamie Association for Retarded Children, Inc., is discussing the possibility of coming into the fall Red Feather campaign, and the USC board has already committed itself to including The Fox Valley Family Service Association, Inc. when that agency has been in operation, according to UCS standards, for one year.

During Avenue Construction

Grand Chute Firemen
Offer Fire Protection

Town of Grand Chute officials Tuesday offered services of their fire department in case of an emergency during the College Avenue project, prompting Mayor George Buckley to thank them for "a most gracious gesture."

Thomas A. Thorson, town chairman, sent the mayor a letter which included a resolution passed by the town board, informing Appleton officials that they could count on the services of the town volunteer fire department, without charge, in the event of any fire emergency.

The town board noted in its resolution that the avenue project "requires temporary interruption of water service to fire hydrants on College Avenue."

"We certainly hope the occasion doesn't arise, but are happy to be able to extend this offer of assistance in the hope it will demonstrate again our willingness to cooperate with your municipality in areas of mutual concern," Thorson wrote.

Mayor Buckley said he checked with Fire Chief Roland Kuehl and was advised all hydrants in blocks surrounding the College Avenue area are in good operating condition.

"It is reassuring, however, to realize that help from the Town of Grand Chute would be available in the event of a major conflagration and I am grateful to the town board for its offer," Buckley said.

Committee Hits
Plan for Sales Tax Exemptions

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A plan to exempt the purchase of trucks and equipment by private carriers and farmers from the state sales tax has been opposed by a legislative watch-dog committee on tax exemptions.

Such a measure would mean a loss to the state of about $3.8 million a year, said the screening group headed by Assemblyman Franklin Jahnke of Green Lake County. The measure was introduced by Assemblyman Norbert Nuttelman of LaCrosse County, chairman of the assembly's Agriculture Committee.

The exemption review committee protested that such a measure would reduce the amount of state money available to apply as credit to local governments for the reduction of personal property tax levies on farm livestock, real estate and commercial and industrial inventories.

Appleton Inspector to Head State Fire Group

Lt. Hugo Strelow of the Appleton Fire Department's inspection bureau last week was named chairman of the Wisconsin State Fire Inspectors Association which met at Stevens Point.

Strelow, who will hold the office for one year, has been a member of the association eight years. He has held several other posts in the state unit.

Forensic Tests

University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center (FVC) students placed in four of five contests in the inter-center forensics tournament Friday and Saturday at the American Baptist Assembly, Green Lake.

First place in extemporaneous speaking went to Appleton freshman, David Ward. Freshman Judy Anderson, Neenah, won second place in narrative reading and Neenah sophomore, Susan Andrew took third place in oratory. Sophomore Laurie Dallman, Menasha, was a finalist in the discussion contest.

The only category in which a Fox Valley student failed to place was program reading.

Ten Fox Valley students competed in the annual event, along with approximately 90 others from 10 other centers. Speech instructors Jim E. Danielson and Ken Anderson were coaches for the Menasha campus entrants.

Public Hearing
To Air Rezoning

COMBINED LOCKS — A public hearing on the rezoning of about one and one-half lots from 1-family residential district to light industrial district will be held at 8 p.m. May 2 by the village board.

The property, owned by Edward J. Lindberg, is located adjacent to Pump Street and County Trunk Z. The rezoning is desired to permit construction of a warehouse in the area.

Adjacent property, also to be utilized by the warehouse, is already zoned light industrial. A permit to construct a 100 by 600 foot warehouse at an estimated cost of $70,000 has been issued to Fred T. Kampe, Neenah. Immanuel Construction Co. will be contractor for the concrete and steel building. Space in the warehouse will be leased to area industries by the owner.

May 1 Deadline Set
To Secure Dog License

KAUKAUNA — Dog owners in the city have until May 1 to secure licenses for their pets at the police station, according to Harold V. Engerson, chief of police.

Persons failing to secure licenses by that date will be arrested and ordered into court, said the chief.

Board Seeks Public Reaction To Proposed Study Committee

A school study council committee, to be composed of people in the community, as proposed some months ago by Kenneth Sager, a board of education member, was tabled once again Monday until the May meeting. The move, in order to seek public reaction to such a proposal, came after a lengthy discussion.

According to a resolution introduced by Sager more than a month ago, the council would be appointed for one-year terms by the board president, and consist of a minimum of 9 and maximum of 15 members, including the superintendent and a board representative.

The group, representing different geographic, sex, job and social economic patterns of the community and headed by a chairman appointed by the board president, would discuss topics relative to education in Appleton.

In the past, the resolution has been deferred primarily for three reasons — lack of background information, lack of more clearly defined objectives and the feeling on the part of some of the members that a council of this type should be self-perpetuating and autonomous, rather than be so strongly associated with the school board.

Conducts Research
Background information was supplied Monday by Ronald Roberts, a board member who has been in contact with similar councils in Elgin and Arlington, Ill., and has done research on the value of such boards.

The members, however, still hedged on the idea of tying the study group to the board by having the board president appoint members and the chairman.

"I would like to see the choice of people removed from the board," said Charles Buchanan, president. "This could be misinterpreted as a pressure group rather than a group who would study problems, and make recommendations," he added.

According to Roberts, the councils in existence also act as a liaison between the board and the community, and serve as public relations group.

Specific Objectives
The lack of specific objectives also bothered some of the board members.

"I can't see asking leading citizens in the community to serve on this council without better defined objectives," said Victor Sumnicht. "A group of this type has a tendency to die on the vine if the aren't sure of what they are supposed to do," he said.

"There certainly isn't a lack of problems to discuss in modern education," Sager replied, adding that the group does not necessarily have to meet at a scheduled time but only when a problem appeared which they felt was necessary to discuss.

Ald. Glenn W. Thompson (13th) concurred with Sager. "Tonight alone there have been two major problems, summer school and the budget, discussed by the board which such a council could look at," he said.

Kaukauna Man Free on Bond in Shooting Charge

Clayton Frank, 26, 720 High St., Kaukauna, who will have a preliminary hearing Thursday on a charge of reckless use of a firearm, was freed from the Outagamie County Jail Monday night after he posted a $1,000 bond.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller lowered the bond from $1,500 Monday afternoon.

Little Chute police allege that Frank fired a shotgun blast into the bedroom window of his ex-wife, Karen, 828 1/2 E. Main St., Little Chute, about 12:30 a.m. Friday. Frank, who allegedly shot from a car, was taken into custody in Kaukauna about an hour later.

His preliminary hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. Thursday before Judge Keller.

Teacher Group Backs Summer School Action

AEA Asks Council to Grant Board's Plea For More Funds to Implement Program

The Appleton Education Association (AEA), official bargaining agent for public school teachers, has urged the city council to grant a board of education request for an additional summer school appropriation.

Robert J. Damon, association president, sent Mayor George Buckley and members of the council a letter, stating his group was "disappointed to learn earlier this year that the Appleton Board of Education had found it necessary to discontinue the summer school program."

He said many young people depend heavily on the program, needing more instruction than others. "The answer does not always rest in repeating the grade or course," Damon said. "Our board of education has requested additional funds with which a limited type of summer school program can be run," Damon wrote. "Our association concurs with this request and urges that the council give it the utmost consideration. Educating these children who need additional instruction is both prudent and economical."

Shifts Blame
Mayor Buckley's reaction was that the board of education was granted the funds at budget time to carry out a summer school program. "I don't think the council should be blamed because the board has decided to cut this part of its program out," Buckley declared.

Buckley said he appreciated receiving the letter from the association and that he, too, hoped the school board would reinstate the summer school program, declaring "It never had been recommended for deletion by the budget examining committee or council in the first place."

Return Man To Michigan

Arrested in Appleton; Reportedly Faces Car Theft Charges

A 20-year-old Menominee, Mich. man, who allegedly was driving a stolen car when he was arrested for a stop sign violation in Appleton Sunday morning, Tuesday was returned to Menominee by Michigan authorities.

Marvin L. Raulotte, waived extradition when he was brought into Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Monday afternoon. He reportedly faces car theft charges in Michigan.

Haulotte was fined a total of $45 and costs in court here when he pleaded guilty of going through a stop sign at Lawrence and Oneida Streets, and of driving without a license.

It was after a patrolman made the arrest about 7:15 a.m. Sunday that police discovered Haulotte was driving a 1961 auto reportedly stolen from a Menominee, Mich., used car lot Saturday night. A 17-year-old girl, out on a three-day pass from the State School for Girls

Welfare Backs 'Work Release' For Schooling

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Should the "work release" plan for inmates of state penal institutions be broadened to permit selected prisoners to enroll in universities, colleges, technical schools or other educational training programs?

The State Department of Public Welfare believes it would be a good plan, and has arranged for the introduction of enabling legislation in the state Senate.

The work release program has been operated in the state for a number of years, on a selected basis, with evidently satisfactory results.

The state institution release program followed many years of successful experimentation with county jail inmates under the older but similar Huber law. The department functions under strict rules of its own making, and when they are violated, the inmate is returned to confinement.

Color the Violets to Win A Flashy Two-Wheel Scooter

frame painted blue with white fenders, plastic steering handle grips and graphite bearings. The vehicle is 38 inches long and stands 34 inches high. It is a product of the Radio Steel and Manufacturing Company.
Five will be given away as national grand prizes.
Winners of these top awards will be among the boys and girls who qualify for consideration by first winning a local prize, 5 of which will be awarded in the Fox Cities area. These prizes will be Creepy Pencil Sharpeners in the form of turtles, giant beetles, huge ants and spiders. One will be awarded to each Fox Cities boy or girl whose contest entry is one of the 5 neatest and most original in this area. All local prize winners from all cities where this column is published will be reviewed by the contest judges to find the five that are the neatest and most original of all. The Radio Chief Scooters will be awarded to the boys and girls who sent them.
The contest is easy to enter. Here are the four steps: (1) Use your paints or crayons to color the violets; (2) clip out the picture, paste it on paper and mail in an envelope; print your name, age, address and zip code number beneath it; (3) decorate the entry in any neat, original way with paints, crayons, cut-outs or other means; (4) address it to Cappy Dick's Mid-week Scooter Contest at the Post-Crescent and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.
Names of the prize winners will be published here. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON
Words often misused: Do not say, "I cannot help but feel that this is a sorry situation." Say, "I cannot help FEELING that this is a sorry situation."
Often mispronounced: Vapid. Pronounce to rhyme with "rapid."
Often misspelled: Paradox; observe the "ra." Parody; "ro."
Synonyms: Drown, sink, immerse, swamp, overwhelm, engulf, deluge, inundate, submerge.
Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: EMENDATION; a critical improvement by alteration of a text, especially of literary and artistic work. (Pronounce ee-men-day-shun, accent third syllable). "With careful emendation, the author brought his manuscript to perfection."

Brilliant Drama on Hall of Fame

BY TV SCOUT
6:30-8 (Channels 4-5) — The Hallmark Hall of Fame has distinguished itself again with a brilliant original television drama titled "Soldier in Love."

Jean Simmons, Claire Bloom, Keith Michell and Basil Rathbone are starred in an historical teleplay dealing with the lives and loves of John and Sarah Churchill (relatives of the World War II Prime Minister) who were to become the first Duke and Duchess of Marlborough under Queen Anne. Claire Bloom in make-up that defies anyone to recognize the lovely actress, plays the Princess Anne, later the Queen, whose life is laced with loneliness because of her ugly and awkward appearance. Her only true friends are the Churchills and their lives are tightly and sentimentally interwoven. But when a rift suddenly erupts, the violent reactions of the Queen reach sadistic heights. Miss Bloom's acting is flawless, her characterization magnificent. Miss Simmons is equally fine even though her role does not offer the overwhelming acting challenges of the Queen.

6:30-7 (Channels 11-4-9) — Holy Cow! Batman is in danger of losing his cowl (the hood which covers his face and head) when he meets the Mad Hatter and his "Super Instant Masmerizer." David Wayne is the guest villain who wants to get even with the jury responsible for his recent trip up the river. (R)

8:30-9 (Channels 2-7-12) — Programs like this Green Acres are so easy to preview for there is so little to talk about. Ed is following a radio contest. Cow swallows radio. Ed follows cow.

8-9 (Channels 4-5) — Bob Hope Presents the Chrysler Theatre tries exploiting the jewel-thief characteristics of Miami's famous surfers in "Wipeout." The title might have been highly descriptive but for the superlative performance of Shelley Winters as an aging actress and owner of the jewels. Tom Tryon and Don Stroud are the surfers, the latter being the light of Shelley's too quickly diminishing life. There are some good cut-in film clips of Shelley's earlier movies including a singing scene shot almost 20 years ago.

8-10 (Channels 11-4-9) — Wednesday Night Movie is a western titled "The Comancheros," that has practically every stereotyped cowboy character ever created in Hollywood in a rousing and robust action adventure. It stars John Wayne, Lee Marvin, Stuart Whitman, Ina Balin, Michael Ansara and includes such perennials as Edgar Buchanan (Judge Bean), Jack Elam (Horseface) and Bruce Cabot (Major Henry). (R)

8:30-9 (Channels 2-7-12) — Deborah Waley supplies the better parts of tonight's Gomer Pyle—USMC as a glamorous young actress who befriends our bumbling hero. (R)

9-10 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Danny Kaye Show is all swinging hearts and flowers with Shirley Jones joining her host in songs like "Blame it on Love" and "The Begat." There is also a big wing-ding production number ("The Trial of Man vs. Woman") and some rock 'n' wailing on the subject by the Righteous Brothers, who offer "You've Lost That Lovin' Feelin'." (R)

Loyalty Oath for Teachers Ruled Unconstitutional

DENVER, Colo. (AP) —

Three federal judges have ruled that Colorado's teacher loyalty oath, adopted in 1921, is unconstitutional.

The panel's ruling Monday came on an appeal by Alan C. Gallagher, a physics instructor at the University of Colorado, who objected to the requirement.

The 1921 law requires administrators to have teachers under their control take the oath or face a fine and jail term. It requires teachers to swear that they will teach "by precept or example" respect for the United States and Colorado flags and "individual allegiance" to the U.S. government.

The judges held the Colorado law "is violative of due process because the oath is unduly vague, uncertain and broad."

To Your Good Health

Baby Thumb-Sucking Is a Natural Pastime

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M. D.

Dear Dr. Molner: In your column you said that habitual thumb-sucking should be curbed. How?

My 5-month-old son wants his thumb most of his awake time if he is fussy. I've heard so many different opinions on this.

Some say let nature take care of it. Others say break him of it. — Mrs. H. B.

The article you refer to applied to teen-agers or children approaching the teens who are still dependent on their thumb.

In infants, thumb-sucking is a natural pastime. The thumb is always handy for baby to use if a nipple or a pacifier isn't available for solace. If a baby is tired, needs changing, is hungry, wants some petting — anything that makes him fussy — there's his thumb.

It's entirely normal and can continue up to the age of 2 years ordinarily. By then a youngster is finding other ways apathetic. The ambitious wanted jobs that would challenge them. The others wanted security. The ambitious were concerned with long-term goals. The others wanted immediate advantages.

Should all citizens be required to vote?

Yes— No—

No. Proposals that those who fail to vote should be fined are aimed at a symptom, not the disease. Those who are not enough interested to vote conscientiously. As it is, non-voting leaves control in the hands of those who are more interested and concerned, as it should be. In a democracy people should be left free to vote or not to vote, as they themselves prefer. Non-voting is a democratic right of a free people.

Can "coomers" be spotted?

Yes— No—

Yes often they can. A nationwide sampling of boys, 14-16 years of age, was made to determine which were interested in getting ahead. The more ambitious were lively and energetic; the others inactive and to express himself and make his wants known. In general — dare I call it a "rule of thumb"? — if the habit continues past the age of 5, it becomes a problem and requires attention.

I hope this allays your fears. Rather than be swayed by scare stories from non-professionals, it's a good idea for a mother, if she's upset about thumb-sucking, to discuss things with her pediatrician. He can, in short order, decide, on the basis of the child's age and actions, whether it is time to start curbing the habit.

As a child grows older, persistent thumb-sucking can change the formation of mouth and teeth. It can be an embarrassment, and at appropriate age can indicate some unfilled emotional need.

But at 5 months, don't be alarmed because baby is doing what comes naturally.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can happen to a man of 68 who has diabetes and high blood pressure? He refuses to eat as his doctor tells him. None of our friends knows he has diabetes, so he eats sweets and is gaining weight. Whiskey is fattening, too, is it not? I don't know what to do. — Mrs. E.H.

Taking sugar and liquor, and over-eating, is as dangerous for a diabetic as playing with matches is for a child. The severity of his diabetes determines the speed with which disaster will catch up to him in the form of acidosis, heart and blood vessel trouble, ulcers that won't heal, blindness, etc.

I'd suggest a three-way talk: You, the patient, and the doctor. This patient may not care about dying sooner than he otherwise would, but he's not going to enjoy the miseries that will come first. Reading my booklet, "Diabetes, the Sneaky Disease," will give you some factual information, but it will be better if the patient will read it. You can obtain the booklet by sending 25 cents in coin and stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Molner in care of The Post-Crescent.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

IS AN EMOTIONAL DISTURBANCE A MENTAL ILLNESS? YES ☐ NO ☐

No although it depends upon how you distinguish between disturbance and illness. Dr. Paul Christie of Canada estimates that up to 30 per cent of the population have disturbances that are somewhat disabling. Disturbances that are not only disabling but in some sense disastrous with destructive effects upon the life or adjustment of the person are usually diagnosed as mental illnesses of one kind or another.

Psychoses, severe neuroses and undoubted psychosomatic disorders are seen in about 3 per cent of the population.

Costs Go Up On Textbooks In Appleton

Increase Passes To Students as Rental Fees Rise

Because the price of textbooks went up from 25 to 55 percent, an increase in rentals on the elementary level was approved Monday by the board of education.

Kindergarten text fees will be increased from 70 cents to $1; primary, from $6 to $7, and intermediate, from $7 to $8.

The board further approved increasing fees 25 cents yearly at kindergarten and 50 cents yearly at the primary and intermediate levels for the next four years.

Present Figures

"It is hoped that our curriculum adoptions then will be financially sound, and that the necessary text will continue to be current, and in adequate supply," said James Westphal, elementary curriculum coordinator, who presented the statistics.

In other business, the board accepted a resignation from Mrs. Norma Winsor, guidance counselor at Appleton High School-West, and awarded bids on stage equipment and adopted texts for the coming year for a number of courses.

Mrs. Winsor has been with the Appleton system for the past four years. She is a graduate of Iowa Teachers College and received her masters from the University of Wisconsin. Her resignation is effective at the end of the school year.

Adopt Texts

New or revised texts were adopted on the elementary level in social studies, science, mathematics and communicative arts. The presentation of the texts were made by Miss Ellie Eggener, elementary consultant; Richard Goree, mathematics; Raymond Parkinson, science, and Charles Lynch, and Richard Haas, social studies.

On the secondary level, Miss Dorothy Koller, secondary consultant, explained the communi-

Regional Sanatoria Proposed For State, Board Group Told

Members of Outagamie County's health, education and institutions committee heard a report Tuesday prepared by Dr. John Russo on the possible establishment of regional tuberculosis sanatoria in Wisconsin.

The report by Dr. Russo, who is superintendent of the county's Riverview Sanatorium and General Hospital, was read by Supv. Herbert Heible, Appleton, a member of the committee.

A bill has been introduced in the state legislature which would establish seven regional sanatoria in the state.

Pending the possible passage of such a bill, which most observers think is unlikely during this session, the Wisconsin Sanatorium Trustees Association named a study committee to prepare a plan for the merging or closing of existing institutions. Dr. Russo served on the committee.

According to a report which Heible read, only the best sanatoria would be allowed to continue receiving state financial assistance. Nine criteria have been given which sanatoria must meet to determine if they would continue to receive state aid. The Outagamie institution, he said, ranks among the highest in meeting the criteria.

With the passage of such legislation, Riverview Sanatorium could be named a regional institution to serve tuberculosis patients from a wide geographic area surrounding the Fox River Valley.

Art Theft Tied to International Ring

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — International gem thieves may be involved in the theft of $300,000 in Chinese jade and porcelain from a posh ocean-front apartment, police reported.

James Brennan, former secretary to a Chinese prime minister, said the 100 pieces taken from his apartment are well known.

"I can't imagine how the thieves could dispose of them except through international channels," he said.

Juda to Honor 3 Dead Students

JUDA (AP) — Three of the nine Juda, Wis., high school senior girls who were killed Mar. 30 when an airliner struck a New Orleans motel, will be posthumously honored for their accomplishments at the school.

School Principal Jerome Kalk said Monday Miss Sandra M. Goeckis, 18, had been named salutatorian of her graduation class.

Nelva J. Smith, 17, will receive the Chopin Award for her accomplishment as a pianist and Nancy Siegenhafer, 18, will be honored for being the school's outstanding musician.

Kalk said diplomas will be given to relatives of each of the nine girls, who perished when the plane struck the motel in which they were staying during their senior class trip.

Neenah Blanks New London '9' In M-E Opener

Defending Champs' Loose Allows Four Hits, Strikes Out 11

BY ROGER PITT Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW LONDON — Neenah High School took an impressive step toward repeating as Mid-Eastern Conference champions Tuesday by blasting New London, 13-0, in the opener for both teams.

Gary Losse, went the distance for the Rockets, scattering four hits, walking only one and fanning 11. The all-around Neenah athlete enjoyed superb support in the field, and displayed excellent early season control.

Neenah managed only seven hits in the contest, but New London committed five errors.

Losse Chuck Learman was plagued with spotty control, walking four, hitting three other batters and making six wild pitches. The lanky right-hander recorded nine strike-outs.

The Rockets scored two unearned runs in the second inning.

Moves To Second Jim Kallenbaas reached base with a single and moved to second as Kevin Milliken's slow ground ball was bobbled. New London's Tom Meyer rifled a throw to first base on the first pitch. Kallenbaas headed for third and Bill Rieckmann's throw across the diamond soared high over the third base Turn to Page 14, Col. 1

Vickie Lemke and Dave Jacobson Share Bowl-O-Rama Spotlight

19-Year-Old Appletonian Breaks Women's Class B Record; Neenah Man Takes Lead in Class A

BY JIM HARP Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"Fantastic." "Unbelievable." — these were just two of the words that echoed around the 41 Bowl Tuesday night as one all-time Bowl-O-Rama record fell by the wayside, and two new leaders were clinging to front-running positions when the kegging had ended.

The Post-Crescent's fifth annual Bowl-O-Rama was wheeled through a pair of nearly "sell-out" shifts at the 41 Bowl last night. In fact, the 9 p.m. squad did fill all 36 lanes.

Vickie Lemke, a 19-year-old Appleton resident who just completed her first year of league bowling, took over the women's Class B lead with a sensational 872 total, an all-time high in that division. The best previous score that had ever been recorded in Class B was the 811 which took home first place for Patricia Schell, of Kaukauna, last year.

Sensational Bowling In another sensational bit of bowling, 31-year-old Dave Jacobson, route 2, Neenah, jolted a 932 series for the four games to take first place in the men's Class A division.

Jacobson's total was the third-best in Bowl-O-Rama history for Class A. He replaced Orr Strutz, Appleton, who had a 915 on opening night of the tournament and had held that position ever since.

Another major change in Class A saw Robert Fisher, Appleton, move into third place with a booming 890 total. Fisher's best game was his 243 scratch in the fourth line. He was in the driver's seat of the 1967 Rambler American automobile that will be awarded to the first scratch 300 game in the Bowl-O-Rama. Fisher opened his last game with seven straight strikes before picking off nine pins on his first delivery in the eighth.

Working Well Actually, Fisher had his strike ball working well. He finished his third game with strikes in the 10th, 11th and 12th frames, then ran the string of seven in the last line for a total of 10 in succession.

Fisher, except for last-frame trouble in the second and fourth games, could have made a strong bid for the Class A lead. He blew the last two frames of the second game and also blew the final frame of the fourth line.

In men's Class B, Howard Perkins, Neenah, moved into second place with an 889 count and Cliff Wagner, Appleton, tied for ninth with 845. Perkins was

Battle for UW's Quarterback Job to Continue at Neenah

Intrasquad Game, Clinic Set Saturday

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN Post-Crescent Sports Editor

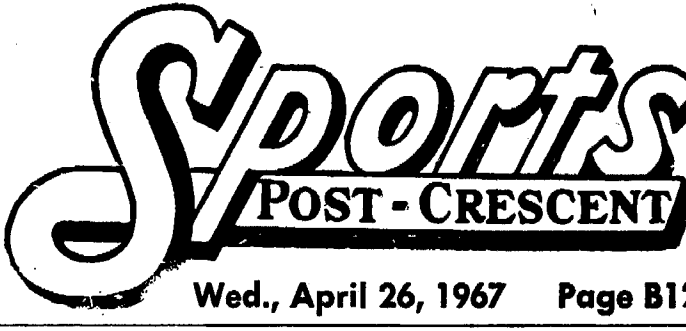

The 4-way battle for the quarterback position on the 1967 University of Wisconsin football team will continue at Neenah Saturday afternoon.

The Badger football road show, which appeared at West Allis last Saturday, will set up shop this week on the home field of the Rockets — the state's No. 1-ranked high school grid team.

A coaching clinic, designed mainly for Fox Valley high school coaches and players, will be held at 10 a.m. The UW intrasquad game will start at 2 p.m. No admission will be charged for either event.

John Ryan and John Boyarjan, who shared the No. 1 quarterback post for the Badgers last season, are being challenged by veteran Chuck Burt and freshman Lew Ritcherson for the top job this fall.

Will Pick No. 1 QB Harland Carl, former Neenah High coach and current UW assistant coach, said here the other day that the Badgers definitely plan to pick a No. 1 quarterback and go with him — rather than alternate signal-callers. The decision on who will get the job will be based on the candidates' showings in the Turn to Page 15, Col. 3

Marichal Finally Wins One

Aspromonte's Single in Ninth Spoils Jackson's Bid for No-Hit Fame

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer

Bob Aspromonte has lined up with one-shot villains Elston Howard and Jim Fregosi on the pitchers' union's Unwanted List.

But the Houston third baseman rates a special spot — alongside ex-teams Joe Amalfitano — on Al Jackson's personal ledger.

Jackson, St. Louis' stylish little left-hander, allowed only one hit — a leadoff single by Aspromonte in the eighth inning — as the Cardinals blanked the staggering Astros 4-0 Tuesday night.

It was the third one-hitter in the majors this spring — and the second for Jackson in his Turn to Page 14, Col. 8 seven-year National League career. Each time, he has picked on Houston.

In First Start Bill Rohr of Boston, making his first big league start 11 days ago against New York, held the Yankees hitless until Howard singled with two out in the ninth. Two days later, Baltimore's Steve Barber went into the ninth with a no-hitter against California before yielding a one-out single by Fregosi.

In 1962, Jackson's first year with the New York Mets, the slender sinkerballer fired a one-hitter against Houston, giving up a first-inning single to Amalfitano.

Indians' Steve Hargan Hurls Second Shutout, Stops Minnesota, 1-0

By ED SCHYLER JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

Sometimes even the best laid plans go awry. Steve Hargan's did, but he improvised well.

"The last thing I wanted to do was walk Tony Oliva," the Cleveland pitcher said Tuesday night. "I was trying to give him a chance to hit."

But with two out in the ninth and Hargan breezing along on a two hitter and a 1-0 lead, the Minnesota right fielder did walk.

"I wasn't planning on pitching to Harmon Killebrew in the ninth inning," Hargan said.

Plan or no plan, there at the plate stood the Twins' slugger. Hargan struck him out.

Scored Only Run

The 24-year-old right-hander did more than just pitch in picking up his second straight victory — both shutouts. He scored the only run.

With one out in the sixth, Hargan beat out an infield hit, went to third on Vic Davalillo's double and scored on Max Alvis sacrifice fly.

The only run Hargan, the lone Cleveland pitcher to go the route this season, has given up in 20 1-3 innings was unearned, and it tagged him with his one defeat. It came during a 21-3-inning relief stint in the Indians' 4-3 opening day loss to Kansas City.

In other American League games Tuesday, the New York Yankees took over first place by trouncing the Chicago White Sox

11-2, Baltimore nipped California 2-1, Detroit blanked Kansas City 5-0 and Boston whipped Washington 9-3.

Broke 2-2 Tie The Yankees broke a 2-2 tie by scoring six times in the fifth inning in a run of singles, Charley Smith's double, two walks, a wild pitch and an error.

Whitey Ford, who won his second game against one loss, contributed two singles to the Yankees' 17-hit attack. Smith also had another double and two singles.

Frank Robinson was the key man in Baltimore's victory, driving in a run with a sacrifice fly in the third inning and tripling and scoring on Brooks Robinson's single in the sixth. Tom Phoebus made the two runs

Foxes' Opener At Quincy Postponed

The Appleton Foxes' season opener in the Midwest League will be delayed at least one day.

Tonight's scheduled Foxes-at-Quincy game was postponed this morning because of wet grounds. The same two teams hope to open the campaign in a single game Thursday night.

Today's postponement will be made up June 7.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) —

Les Schissler of Denver, Colo., broke a 64-year jinx Tuesday night when he rolled the first perfect game in the team event in the history of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Schissler's 300 is the 18th perfect game in ABC annals, but he is the only man to score his triumph in the five-man division. The most recent ABC 300 was shot by Bob Degraff in the 1961 classic doubles.

Ironically, Degraff was bowling just a few lanes away from Schissler when the balding pro hurled his 300.

Hits 753 Series

Schissler, who was bowling with the Ace Mitchell Shur-Hooks of Akron, Ohio, opened with 219 before he rolled the 300. He started his third game with five strikes to run his string to 17, equalling the record for suc-

Elorde Rusty But Manages Split Decision

HONOLULU (AP) — World junior lightweight champion Flash Elorde of Manila, Philippines, gained a split decision Tuesday night over surprisingly tough Fujio Mikami of Tokyo in a 10-round nontitle bout.

Elorde, a strong favorite, looked rusty and never had his Japanese opponent on the verge of the expected knockout.

There was no knockdown, but Elorde bled from cuts at the corner of both eyes, and Mikami had a bloody nose from the third round.

Referee Wilbert Minn gave the fight to Elorde 49-45 in the five-point must system used in Hawaii. Judge Walter Cho scored it 50-46 Elorde, but Judge Bill Pacheco had Mikami ahead 47-46.

Elorde won it 48-46 on the AP card.

cessive scratch set by Billy Knox of Philadelphia in 1913.

Schissler had 234 in the final game for a 753 series. The Shur-Hooks, who are defending classic team champions, totaled 3,148. They need only 2,908 in the second block Wednesday to overtake the Detroit Strohs, who took the classic lead Wednesday with a six-game total of 6,056.

A Lou Sciala of Miami, who took first place in classic doubles several weeks ago with Danny Freeman of Miami, moved into the classic all-events lead Tuesday night after shooting a 649 total series to boost his grand total to 2,942.

Bob Crawford of the Strohs, who took the classic all-events lead earlier in the day with a nine-game total of 1,965, dropped to second.

Two other Strohs, Mike John Ruggiero Jr., and Mike Samardzija, took second place in classic doubles with 1,338.

Mario's Italian Restaurant of Bethesda, Md., moved into second place in the regular team division with a 3,141 series. They were far off the record first place pace of 3,327 set by Pinky's Bowl of Milwaukee.

Laurel Lanes of Warren, Ohio, took third place in the regulars with 3,133, including the fourth highest team game in the ABC record book, 1,170.

Florida Quarterback Will Enroll in UW

MADISON (AP) — A Florida prep football star will enter the University of Wisconsin in September, athletic officials said Tuesday.

Nathaniel Butler, a 6-2, 175-pound quarterback, was named most valuable player at the Sarasota Booker high school where he was team captain.

Vickie Lemke

in the running to challenge Kimberly's Bill Behling for the lead in Class B, but Perkins skidded to a 158 in his last game after bombing a 224 scratch in the third.

Into Fourth Place Major change in women's Class A saw Char Smith, of DePere, climb into fourth place with an 899 total. Right behind was Ellen Stephens, Appleton, who grabbed the fifth spot with a 831 count.

Joan Bahrke, Appleton, climbed to fifth place in women's Class B with her 818 total and Arlene Piasecki, Two Rivers, took over the eighth spot with her 799.

Miss Lemke was practically at a loss for words after her big series. She has been bowling only a total of four years, two of which were in high school competition. She just completed a season in the Latecomers Tuesday League at the 41 Bowl and had a 133 average.

Vickie smilingly recalled that Turn to Page 14, Col. 5

Brown Gets Clean Bill of Health

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dick Brown, former catcher of the Baltimore Orioles, was given a clean bill of health Tuesday after a brain scan examination at Sinai Hospital.

"The doctors told me everything looks fine," said Brown, who underwent two operations last year for a brain tumor which ended his playing career.

It was the first examination for Brown since last August, and unless complications develop he won't have another for six months.

Grogan, Vils Pace Win in M-E Opener

Kaukauna '9' Beats Jays, 5-3

MENASHA — With catcher Mike Grogan driving in three runs, Kaukauna High School, winless in Mid-Eastern Conference play last spring, opened its new schedule by stopping Menasha, 5-3, here Tuesday afternoon.

The Ghosts' four hits, limited the Blue Jays' to four hits, all in the innings in which they scored. The victors touched starter Jack Maubie and Steve Seidl, who took over in the fifth, for eight safeties. Menasha's defense chipped in with four errors, while Kaukauna committed one. Menasha scored twice in the second inning on a walk to Mark Hinske, an infield hit by Jim Gillen, Todd Kuehl's double and an interference call, which permitted one run to tally.

Grogan homered to left to open the Ghosts' run-making in the third. A hit by Scott Lewandowski, a balk, passed ball and an infield out brought in the tying run in the frame.

A walk, John Jensen's single, two errors' choice plays and an error brought in the lead run in the fourth. Two scored in the sixth on hits by Tom VanDeHey and John Pendleton, an error and a 2-run single by Grogan. Singles by Seidl and Kuehl.

plus a fielder's choice produced the Jays' last marker in the seventh.

VanDe Hey, Grogan and Lewandowski all had two of Kaukauna's hits while Kuehl's pair paced the Jays.

Omro '9' Edges Shiocton, 8-7

Lee Hits Sacrifice Fly in the First Extra Inning

OMRO — A sacrifice fly by Gene Lee in the eighth inning proved to be the margin of victory Tuesday as the Omro High School Foxes edged the Shiocton Chiefs, 8-7.

Bob Pollex led off the eighth with a walk, and made it to third on two errors. Lee then hit his game-winning sacrifice fly.

The Foxes jumped off to an early lead, and led 6-0, at the close of three innings. In the second inning, the bases were loaded and Gary Lee tripled in three runs. Rick Cook drove him in before the frame closed.

The big frame for the Chiefs was the seventh, as they scored four runs to tie the game. Steve Scott drove in three of the runs and scored the other.

Kevin King won the decision, while Dan Gast, who came on in the second, took the loss.

76ers Slice Up Winnings

NBA Titlists Divide $87,500 Among 11 Players

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —The Philadelphia 76ers voted Tuesday full shares of $7,186 66 each to 10 players, Coach Alex Hannum and trainer Al Domenico as they split up earnings for winning the National Basketball Association championship.

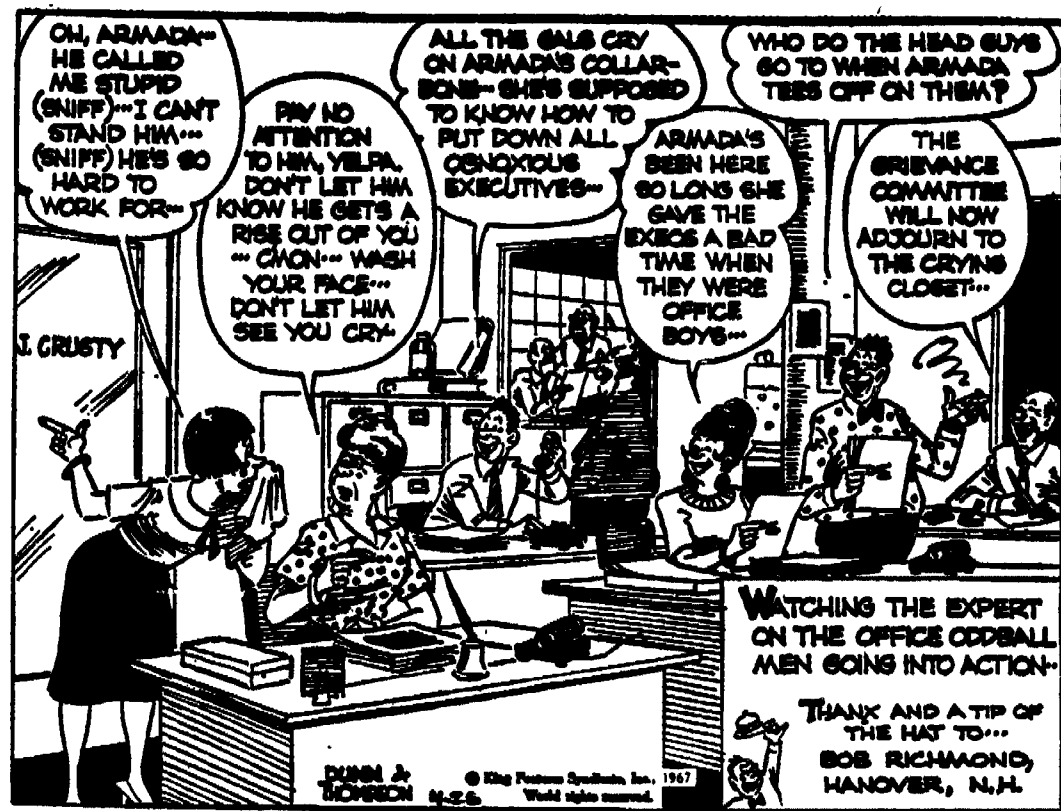

The 76ers, who arrived at Philadelphia International Airport late Tuesday afternoon from San Francisco, where they won the title Monday night, also voted four partial shares in slicing up $87,500.

Along with Hannum and Domenico, full shares were awarded to Wilt Chamberlain, Larry Costello, Dave Gambee, Chet Walker, Luke Jackson, Billy Cunningham, Matt Guokas, Wally Jones, Hal Greer and Bill Melchioni.

The players also voted to give $480 to backcourt man Bob Weiss, who joined the club at the end of the season for the NBA playoffs.

The 76ers received $17,500 for winning the Eastern Division title, $5,000 for the best won-lost percentage in either NBA division, $10,000 for winning the Eastern semifinals, $20,000 for the Eastern Division championship and $35,000 for the NBA title.

Lourdes' Trackmen Tip St. John, 68-50

OSHKOSH — St. John of Little Chute won an equal number of events but lost both relays in dropping a 68-50 decision to Oshkosh Lourdes in a dual meet Tuesday.

The Dutchmen were paced by Tom Felzer, who won the 440 and pole vault. Felzer ticked off a :53.8 clocking in the running event, then reached 10 feet for the winning vault. He also placed second in the 220.

The Knights' Tom Ratzburg offset Felzer's efforts by capturing the discus throw (at 124-9½) and the shot put (at 43-1) and finished second in the high jump.

Other firsts by St. John athletes were Bob VanderZanden in the mile, Steve Hietpas in the half-mile, Joe Ryba in the low hurdles, Joe MacMahon in the long jump and Todd Austin in the high jump. VanderZanden's 4:45.1 clocking was a school record.

Denmark Tips Wrightstown

Krueger Scatters 7 Hits, Wallops Homer in 9-1 Win

Wayne Krueger pitched and batted the Denmark High School Vikings to a 9-1 decision over Wrightstown at Denmark.

Krueger held the Tigers to seven hits, while his teammates collected 15. He also belted a home run.

The Vikings scored in every inning, while the lone run for Wrightstown came in the second inning.

Larry Edinger took the loss.

Clay Lawyers File Appeal in District Court

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Cassius Clay and his lawyers threw one final desperate punch today in an effort to block the heavyweight champion's induction into the Army Friday.

They went before U.S. District Court Judge Allen B. Hannay with an appeal that the government be prevented from taking criminal action against Clay until settlement of a lawsuit challenging the Selective Service System.

Kimberly Scores 80-38 Track Win Over Clints

KIMBERLY — The running of Joe Malsavage in the dashes and the strength of John VanderVelden in the weights gave Kimberly an 80-38 victory over Clintonville in a dual track meet Tuesday.

Malsavage won both the 100 and 220-yard dashes in times of :10.7 and :24.0, respectively, and also anchored the Paper-makers' 880 relay team (Tom Weyenberg, Dennis Jansen, Steve DuPont) to a school record of 1:37.7.

VanderVelden flipped the disc 126 feet, 10 inches for a first in the event, and also copped honors in the shot put with a heave of 44-5¼.

Sherwin Della was the only Clintonville double winner with a :15.8 clocking in the high hurdles, and a 6-2 leap in the high jump.

K-C Ties for Olympics Title

Defeats Coated Basketball Team In Finals, 101-88

Kimberly-Clark forged a tie with Appleton Coated Paper for the title in the YMCA Olympics with a final round victory in the basketball tournament.

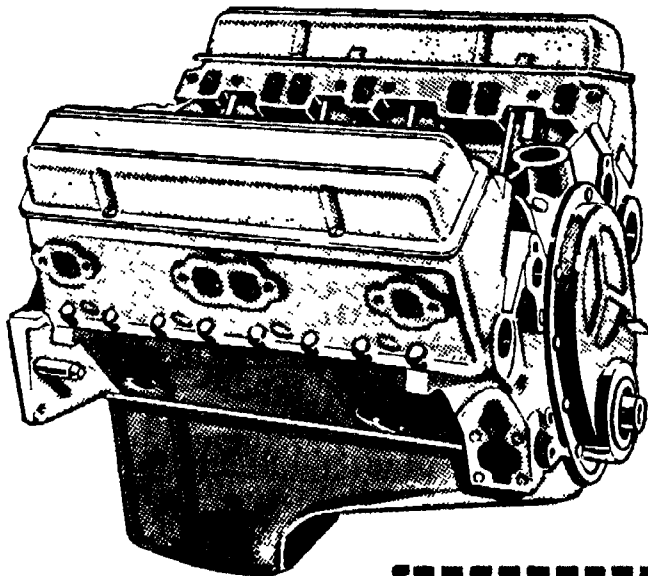

K-C, led by Don Keeley's 32 points, won a share of the championship with a 101-88 victory over Coated Paper. The teams finished with identical totals of 1,505 points.

Jon Lindberg added 25 points to the K-C total and controlled the boards, along with Howie Hamann. Joe Kosterk scored 17 points for the winners, and Hamann added 11.

Roger Bartman paced Appleton Coated, with 23 points, while Joe Bolwerk and Gordy Selbach added 22 and 20, respectively. Dennis Vaubel tallied 17.

Practiced Softball
Miss Lemke's girl friends kidded her about having practiced softball before coming to bowling in her first Bowl-O-Rama.
Apparently, it was what she needed though as she started slowly with a 122 game and then uncoiled the highest of her career, a 221 scratch. She had five strikes in a row in the high game.
After the 221, Vickie came back with 152 and then finished strong with a 189. She carried 188 pins handicap for the series.
Jacobson also was competing in his first Bowl-O-Rama. "I've been just too busy to do much bowling until this season," the former Winneconne High School star athlete recalled. Dave and his father started the Winegamie Golf Course which they sold last year.
Back to Bowling
"Now I have more time to get back to bowling," Jacobson said
"and this was my best of the year." He had 19 strikes in the four games and bombed scores of 256 and 243 in his middle lines to set the stage for his assault to the top.
Other Bowl-O-Rama highlights from Tuesday night included an all-spare game by Valeria Ostrowski, Appleton, in which she rolled 185. Meanwhile, her husband Dave came through with games of 177, 176 and 175 in succession.
Char Smith won the women's squad award on the 7 p.m. shift with a 199 scratch and 31 pins handicap for 230 while Cliff
Wagner won for the men with 235 scratch and 40 pins handicap for 275.
The 9 p.m. shift winners were Jacobson with 256 and 18 handicap for a 274 and Miss Lemke with her 211 and 47 pins handicap for 268.

fitano before slamming the door.
Aspromonte broke up the no-hit bid Tuesday night with a line shot to left. Otherwise, Jackson who came to St. Louis in a 1965 winter trade and posted a 13-15 record last year, was in complete command. He walked three and struck out three in hiking his early-season record to 2-1.
Was in Control
"It was one of my best games because I was in control all the way," he said afterward. "The pressure stopped building after we got the 4-0 lead. Then, the long ball wouldn't have hurt as much."
While Jackson was pinning
Houston with his ninth straight loss, Juan Marichal won for the first time in four decisions, scattering seven hits in the Giants' 6-1 victory over Cincinnati.
In other National League games the New York Mets edged the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in 10 innings behind rookie Tom Seaver's four-hitter; Pittsburgh whipped Philadelphia 7-3 and Atlanta rocked Los Angeles 7-1.
Catcher Tim McCarver gave Jackson all the help he needed with a two-run homer off loser Chris Zachary in the second inning. Lou Brock doubled and scored in the third, then rapped a run-scoring single in the fourth.
Ends 5-Game Streak
Marichal, who held out for a month this spring after compiling a 25-6 mark in 1966, then lost his first three starts, ended Cincinnati's five-game winning string after pitching out of jams in the second and third innings.
Tony Perez' sixth-inning homer ruined the Giant ace's shutout bid.
Jim Hart pounded a two-run homer in the first inning, Mari-chal doubled another run across in the second and the Giants knocked out Cincinnati rookie Gary Nolan with three more in the sixth.
Seaver singled for the Mets in the 10th inning, took second on a sacrifice and third on a wild pitch, and scored the winning run on Al Luplow's single. The Cubs had tied it in the ninth when Don Kessinger scored from second on a two-out error by shortstop Ken Harrelson.
Hits Homer, Single
Willie Stargell lashed a homer and single, drove in four runs and led the Pirates past Philadelphia. Reliever Billy O'Dell blanked the Phillies over the last 4 1-3 innings to earn the victory.
Rico Carty slammed a 3-run homer and Mack Jones knocked in two runs with a single and double as the Braves trimmed the Dodgers behind right-hander Ken Johnson, who scattered seven hits

Has 3 Hits in 35 At-Bats
Santo's Pizzas Are Hotter
Than He Is These Days
CHICAGO (AP) —The pizzas his company makes are much hotter than Ron Santo these days.
The Chicago Cubs' captain and all-star third baseman never has begun a season with such a batting slump.
He went hitless in four trips
Tuesday as the New York Mets and rookie Tom Seaver won 2-1 in 10 innings. Seaver yielded only four singles for his second decision over Leo's lads.
"He did a fine job, but that's no excuse for me not getting a hit," said Santo, who has smashed 93 homers and driven in 309 runs in the last three years. His .312 led the club last year. He now is batting .086.
Santo has three hits in 35 times at bat and has not connected in his last 16 trips.
"If this slump had to come,
I'm glad it did at a time when we are winning our share," he said. "What I can't do with the bat, maybe I can make up for it with the glove."
Santo has been the top fielding third baseman of the National League the last three seasons.
His first error of the year came Tuesday.
Santo says his slump is no different from those other batters sometimes have.
The harder you try, Santo explained, the more the thing grows and grows until only some hits will puncture it.
Manager Leo Durocher isn't much concerned with the Santo slump.
"We just leave him alone...
He'll work out of it any time now," says Leo.

Rozelle Visits
Miami, Talks
'Super Bowl'
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —Pete
Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, conferred with Orange Bowl officials Tuesday and said Miami is strongly being considered for the 1968 Super Bowl football game.
Rozelle met with the Orange Bowl Committee, Mayor Robert King High, and the City Commission.
The first Super Bowl game between the National and American Football League champions was played last January at Los Angeles. Rozelle said a final decision for the 1968 site will be made by a special committee of club owners at a May 23 meeting in New York.
The Miami Herald said Rozelle confirmed that Miami faces competition from Los Angeles, where the leagues have an option to return for two years;
New Orleans, which reportedly will offer free use of the Sugar Bowl, and Dallas and Houston.
High said Rozelle told him financial terms will not be the sole factor in choosing a site.
"We want to pay our way," Rozelle told the officials. He said Los Angeles charged 10 per cent of the gross with a maximum of $50,000 for use of the Coliseum. He recalled this ceiling made the rental charge on a gate of $700,000 about seven per cent.

Terrors' Golf Team Wins
At Waupaca
WAUPACA — Waupaca High School's Jeff Brown captured medalist honors, but Appleton emerged the team winner in a dual match at the Waupaca Country Club Tuesday.
Counting the lowest four individual scores, the Terrors came out on top with a 160-stroke total for nine holes, compared to Waupaca's 162.
Brown shot a 38 on the par-35 course, while teammate Noel Clawson tied for second with Appleton's Mark Winter at 39.
Other Waupaca scores were Steve Shambau at 41; and Bill
Brown, 44.
Other Appleton scores were Craig Boysen, 40; John Gall, 40; and Bill Witt, 41.

Plane Crashes Into Atlantic; 15 Feared Lost

Air Force Pilot Apparently Ditched to Avoid Nantucket

NANTUCKET, Mass., (AP) — A U.S. Air Force plane loaded with sophisticated radar gear crashed into the Atlantic Ocean like "a ball of fire" Tuesday night. There was only one known survivor among the 16-member crew.

The pilot, Col. James P. Lyle, 47, was credited with ditching the four-engined Superconstellation in a heroic effort to avoid the sleepy island village of Nantucket.

Lyle, who has 47 combat missions on his record, was one of 13 crewmen missing. Two bodies were recovered.

Rescued from the water was Lt. Joseph L. H. Guenet, 29, Montreal, Que., the navigator. He was listed in fair condition.

Last Minute Maneuver
"I am convinced that he—Lyle—was fighting desperately to get it to the water and avoid this summer colony," said Albert L. Manning, one of three experienced private pilots who agreed that a last-minute maneuver kept the craft from striking the island.

The plane left Otis Air Force Base at Falmouth on Cape Cod at 6:50 p.m. and crashed in flames 10 minutes later 1 1/4 miles south of Nantucket, an island just off the coast of Massachusetts.

The piston-powered craft was one of several the Air Force uses as "pickets," flying race track patterns in 12-hour shifts over an area extending over the Atlantic from the Canadian border to Charleston, S.C.

Skies were clear and visibility almost unlimited this morning as search boats, planes and helicopters swarmed over the area.

'Burst of Fire'
All that could be seen, however, was a large oil slick, a half mile square.

Rene A. Orleans, one of the private pilots who witnessed the crash, said he had "never seen anything like it. It skidded along the water for about 4,000 feet and when it hit there was this huge burst of fire and a big red fireball."

Officials at Otis said they had reports before the crash that crewmen were manning individual life rafts for a ditched landing at sea, but there were doubts that many could have survived the explosion.

If the crewmen were able to don their rubber suits and escape in the life rafts, they could survive at sea "for a considerable period of time," Col. John M. Konosky, wing vice commander, told a news conference at Otis.

The crash was the third fatal plunge in less than two years involving Otis radar planes, which fly air defense missions between Newfoundland and Bermuda.

The propeller-driven craft cost $2.5 million and carry additional millions worth of radar equipment.

Two Die as Plane Crashes in Texas
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — An Air Force reconnaissance plane crashed in flames and the two men aboard perished as it skidded into a home Tuesday night.

Farm Accident Fatal to Girl, 4

Lori Ann Wittlin
Of Rural Hortonville
Fell Under Spreader

NEENAH — A four-year-old rural Hortonville girl died at Theda Clark Hospital late Tuesday night, 5 1/2 hours after she was run over by the wheels of a manure spreader on her parents' farm.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps planned a post-mortem examination to determine the cause of death of Lori Ann Wittlin, second youngest of five children of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Erwin Wittlin, route 1, Hortonville.

The accident occurred about 6:30 p.m. Lori reportedly was riding on a tractor driven by a brother. The manure spreader, being pulled near the girl when she fell under the wheels after jumping from the tractor. She reportedly had intended to get a ride on another tractor driven by a second brother. The accident occurred near the barn. The Wittlin farm is on Rock Road near Outagamie County Trunk S in the Town of Ellington.

The girl was taken by family car to New London Community Hospital and from there by Cline and Hanson ambulance to Theda Clark after doctors recommended treatment by a specialist. The girl reportedly suffered severe internal injuries.

Outagamie County Sheriff Norbert Marx said this morning his office would investigate the accident.

Provision of Kellert Bill

Merger of Aeronautics Critiqued at Conference

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SHEBOYGAN — Provisions of the Kellert reorganization bill, which would merge the Wisconsin Aeronautics Commission into a new state transportation department, came under heavy criticism here today at the 12th annual Wisconsin Aeronautics Conference.

Thomas K. Jordan, commission director, said the Kellert bill "would affect every airport owner-user and airplane owner in the state and interstate traffic using state airports."

Jordan explained that the bill, now being considered by the Legislature, proposes to abolish the five-member commission and transfer its powers to the secretary of transportation and its functions to the transportation department.

'Serious Damage'
"After careful study, Jordan said, 'The aeronautics commission has advised the governor and Legislature that the course would seriously damage the state's economic and aeronautics interests. The commission recommended that it should be transferred to the proposed department of transportation in fact, it might be found that the results will not be desirable as

The bill, as now amended, would make the five-man commission an advisory body to the secretary of transportation.

"Wisconsin, under present law," Jordan said, "has made aviation progress equal to that of any state in the country. There is no assurance that the proposed change will produce better results in the future. In fact, it might be found that the results will not be desirable as

DETROIT (AP) — James P. Hoffa is the Democratic nominee for state representative from Detroit's 18th District.

15-Year-Old Girl Could Get Electric Chair

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Juvenile Court judge looked at Mary Crane, 15, and said: "Mary, it is my sad duty to bind you over to the grand jury. I hope someone will be able to provide the help you need, because it is not available in this court."

The girl is charged with first-degree murder. The slaying involved $2.

Juvenile Court officials said they believe she is the youngest girl ever to be bound over to an Ohio grand jury for murder. The maximum penalty is death in the electric chair.

The teen-ager is charged with the fatal shooting last December of Paul Williams at his East 151st Street home when he refused to give up $2 he allegedly had taken from her girl friend.

U.S. Continuing to Apply Bomb, Bomb, Bomb Theory

Incredible Tonnage Rate Almost Surpasses That of World War II

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tactic is bomb, bomb, bomb — of raids over the north and the U.S. planes are doing it. list, the April tonnage seems likely to exceed the World War II rate.

'Just Unbelievable'
Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara often points to the bomb tonnages to show that the magnitude of air operations in Southeast Asia "is just unbelievable. . .fantastic in size against any previous standards."

The 77,000 tons in March compares with 29,000 tons per month spilled against the Japanese at War II.

4 Teen-Agers Killed in Fiery Auto Collision

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A flaming car-truck collision Tuesday in the Milwaukee suburb of Franklin took the lives of four teen-age boys and caused serious injury to two Idaho truck drivers.

Killed were:
Rufus A. Weaver Jr., 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus A. Weaver Sr., of Oak Creek; Andrew J. Bennin, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome C. Bennin of Franklin; Daniel Gustin, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gustin of Oak Creek; and Thomas Lewis, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Lewis of Oak Creek.

The truck drivers were identified as John Klingaman, 32, and Kenneth Hitchcock, 47, both of Rathdrum, Idaho. They are reported in poor condition at St. Mary's Hospital Burn Center.

Police said the car carrying the four youths struck the truck broadside, just behind its cab. The truck was loaded with two 15,000 to 20,000 pound generators on its flatbed. The tangled mass of both vehicles was carried about 125 feet down the highway. The car, caught under the flatbed, was crushed under one of the generators. The gasoline tank on the car and the diesel oil tank on the truck both ruptured and burst into flames after the crash.

Cesar Chavez Speaks in Milwaukee

BY DAVID GIFFEY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — Cesar Chavez, California leader of organizational efforts among farm workers, Tuesday night paid his first visit to Wisconsin to organize support of state labor leaders for a boycott against the products of a California grape processing firm.

Chavez arrived unannounced in Milwaukee shortly before 8 p.m. to appear at a meeting at El Centro Hispano-Americano, a Spanish-American center on Milwaukee's south side.

The meeting was attended by about 50 backers of farm labor organizations including representatives of the AFL-CIO, United Auto Workers (UAW), Obreros Unidos (United Workers) and Protestant and Roman Catholic clergymen.

Chavez left Milwaukee about 11 p.m. to return to Delano, Calif., scene of a strike against Perelli-Minetti Co., the firm which also is the object of the boycott.

Sought Support
The 39-year-old head of United Farm Workers Organizing Committee said he spent the last six days traveling around the country organizing support for the boycott. He arrived in Wisconsin after visits to New York and Chicago.

The boycott was announced late last week in Wisconsin by Jesus Salas, Wautoma. Salas heads United Workers, an organization of migrant farm workers, and last year led a march from Wautoma to Madison to demand improved working and living conditions for migrants in Wauwasha County.

Chavez asked for support of Wisconsin labor leaders in the boycott. The Perelli-Minetti firm exports to other states, prominent brands of brandy and vermouth.

"We need the cooperation of the people in their respective communities to get these Perelli-Minetti products off the shelves," Chavez said.

Chavez' organization is seeking "fourth-party" mediation in the strike which has been going on for 21 months. He charged that the Teamsters Union in Delano signed a "sweetheart contract" with the company after farm workers' picket lines had been set up.

"Agricultural workers," he said, "are not covered by the National Labor Relations Act and, therefore, unfair labor practices cannot be filed against Perelli-Minetti."

The strike started, Chavez said, after the company refused to recognize the UFWOC as a collective bargaining agent.

"I've never seen people suffer so much during a strike as the one we have in Delano," he said. "They have been living from the strike fund, eating from the strike store. Everything they do they have to go through a committee for approval."

Chavez criticized large grape growers and the state administration of California as being "unfriendly" and creating a "power structure" so that "it's almost impossible to build a union."

Wisconsin has become a target for the boycott, according to Chavez and Salas, because the state is one of the major consumers of brandy in the nation.

Leaders Confer for Two Hours

BONN, Germany (AP) — President Johnson said today he and West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger agreed they would have "constant, complete and full consultations" before either of their governments takes decisions on matters of interest to both countries.

The President spoke to newsmen after his second meeting with the West German chancellor since his arrival Sunday for the funeral of former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Johnson said he and Kiesinger had taken "no hard and fast decisions" but he hoped there would be more to announce after the chancellor visits the United States "at an early date."

The two men spent more than two hours together at Kiesinger's residence. The President said they discussed:

1. The projected treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons;
2. Trade and monetary problems;
3. Troop deployment;
4. The security of the two nations;
5. The prosperity of their peoples.

After the discussions with Kiesinger, Johnson took off by plane for Washington accompanied by Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Kiesinger, who spoke to newsmen first, put the emphasis on the agreement to consult. West German leaders have often complained in the past that they were not consulted sufficiently before American decisions.

Kiesinger has said that the Soviet Union and the United States were in "atomic complicity" on the nuclear pact, to which the West Germans have strong objections.

"We will speak openly to one

Dirt Picked Up by Surveyor's Scoop

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 3's little scoop picked up a clod of lunar soil today, moved it several feet and dumped it on its own foot pad.

The pad is white, giving a better background for photographing.

Therefore scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, controlling Surveyor's lunar surface explorations, were able to use all the color filters available in the spacecraft's cameras in taking pictures of the soil sample.

They didn't know at first whether the object scooped up was soil or rocks but when the door of the scoop was closed the material squashed, proving it was soft soil.

Uphold Europe Borders

Communists Call for End of NATO Alliance

KARLOVY VARY, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Communist party leaders of Eastern and Western Europe signed a declaration today aimed at upholding present frontiers in Europe and persuading the West to abandon the North Atlantic Alliance in favor of an all-European security system.

The Karlovy Vary declaration on peace and security in Europe was signed on the final day of a three-day meeting of chiefs of 24 ruling and non-ruling Communist parties at this health resort. The conference was shortened by one day and no official reason was given.

But Czechoslovak informants said it was because of the death of Soviet communist Vladimir Komarov. Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev was among those at the conference.

The declaration is aimed against the policies of West Germany and its claim to represent the entire German nation. It seeks to promote neutrality for Western Europe, hostility to U.S. influence in Europe, rejection of allied plans for renewing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization expiring in 1969 and recognition of all present European borders, including those of divided Germany as permanent. An all-European conference on European peace and security is proposed.

Family to Get Pay Increase At Plamann

Plan Action on Salary Schedule With $5,800 Base

Salary increases for teachers at Plamann School, the Outagamie County-operated school for retarded children, won the backing Tuesday of the county's Handicapped Children's Education Board.

In order to keep up with a trend for teachers throughout the state, the board met with the teachers at the school and agreed on a formal salary schedule.

The board approved a schedule which provides, roughly, a $200 annual salary increase over the pay the teachers are now receiving. Previously, there had been no schedule in existence. The schedule, however, still has to be approved on Tuesday night, May 9, when the county board meets.

The highest grade is for teachers with 24 credits towards a master's degree. Teachers in this group start at $6,200 annually. The increment is $250 each year until the 12th year when the salary reaches $8,950. Then come $100 annual increases until the 15th year when the maximum becomes $9,250.

Fringe Benefits
Fringe benefits include 10 days per year sick leave, accumulative to 60 days, medical insurance on a 50-50 basis with the county paying half the premium, $20 a day for substitute teachers pay, and four days emergency leave in case of death of a member of the immediate family.

All teachers now on the faculty will be on the schedule by July 1, 1968. The school now has four teachers, with plans for a fifth to be added in time for next fall's term.

The Handicapped Children's Education Board signed the contract Friday afternoon. Members of the board are three county board supervisors — Chris Roepcke, Town of Cicero, chairman, Eugene Kloes and Mrs. Barbara Steger, both of Appleton.

The school, which is administered by Cooperative Education Service Agency, is open for all trainable people and children in the county.

Firm Vows Early Start On Brillion Sidewalks

$22,559 Project Will Begin as Soon as Conditions Permit, City Council Is Told

BRILLION — Construction of over five miles of city sidewalks by Verbruggen Construction Co., Little Chute, will begin as soon as weather and ground conditions are suitable, it was learned at the city council meeting here Monday. Contract price is $22,559.

Property owners cannot put in their own sidewalks, according to an ordinance passed Sept. 26, 1966—which states that no city resident can put in, take out or repair sidewalks without permission of the city council.

Areas included in the sidewalk project are Center Street, Lee Avenue, Roselawn Drive, Calumet, Beach, Pine, South and N. Francis, Custer, Horn, Monroe and Elm streets. Despite some opposition from property owners, sidewalks will be constructed on W. Ryan Street from Glenview Ave. to N. Main St.

Several changes have been made in the program. Changes include sidewalk addition on E. Ryan Street on the north side from N. Francis Street to the entrance of the line kiln swimming area; sidewalk deletion on the south side of W. Ryan Street from the Wisconsin Public Service Corp. office to Glenview Avenue; and sidewalk construction on the south side of E. Ryan Street from N. Francis Street to the railroad tracks was deleted from the plan, except for filling for future sidewalk construction.

First Representative
A representative of the Verbruggen firm will be at the May 8 city council meeting to present a curb, gutter, sidewalk and pump station progress report, in response to a request made by Mayor Clarence Wolf.

A resolution was adopted to seek reauthorization of the city's worldwide program for community improvement.

Woman Fined $20 After Fatal Crash

CLINTONVILLE — Mrs. L. A. Russell, 52, Chicago, Tuesday afternoon pleaded no contest before Municipal Justice Nathan E. Wiesse to a charge of failure to yield from a stop sign. The plea was entered on behalf of Mrs. Russell by an attorney.

She was fined $20 and paid courts costs of $6.70. Mrs. Russell was the driver of a car that struck a vehicle being driven by John Buehrens, 62, Clintonville, who died several hours later from injuries suffered in the accident. The accident occurred at 1:35 p.m. Monday as Buehrens was going south on Hemlock Street and Mrs. Russell was driving west on Ninth Street.

Calumet Officials Question Site for Vocational School

Hephner Says Valley Institution Should be Built in Harrison

CHILTON — The location of the proposed area vocational school for the Fox River Valley, long a discussed topic, was once again raised Monday at a meeting of Calumet County officials here.

The meeting was called to explain the development of such a school and was conducted by Robert Ristau, supervisory vocational consultant to the State Department of Public Instruction. Also present were Gene Lehrmann, assistant director of Education, and D. J. Bordini, Kaukauna Vocational School director.

The question was sparked by a comment from Assemblyman Gervase Hephner, who told the group that a site had already been selected. Lehrmann, however, contended that he knew of no decision and that the question was still discussed by officials in Madison.

Selection Delayed
He also told Calumet officials that a site may not be selected until a board for the Fox Valley area school was appointed. Included in the board, he said, would be two employers, two employees, two members-at-large and one supervisor, selected from the entire area.

Hephner did suggest that a good location could be in the Town of Harrison but received no reaction from the other officials in attendance.

Satellite schools in local communities were also mentioned but, again it was explained by the state officials that this was another question which was not yet clarified.

Ristau explained that a base rate of 2 mills per district would be needed to build, equip and maintain the school. He said he felt that this rate would be more than adequate and would not have to be raised in the foreseeable future.

The school, he said, would be

Fine Weyauwega Man $25 After Accident

WAUPACA — James O. Ploetz, 23, 408 E. Wisconsin St., Weyauwega, was fined $25 and costs Monday when he appeared before Municipal Justice George Whalen and pleaded guilty of failure to have his vehicle under control.

Ploetz was arrested after he was involved in a one-car accident 1 1/2 miles south of Manawa on State 22 April 17. According to county police Ploetz lost control of his car and the vehicle overturned.

open to anyone 18 and over or a high school graduate. Tuition for a student wishing to study a trade not offered at the local school, would be paid for by the district.

It is anticipated that the district school will be organized by July 1.

In Advancement Association Building

Hilbert Youth Center Opens May 27

HILBERT — Opening of the village's first Youth Center, in the Advancement Association owned building on Chestnut Street, is scheduled May 27.

Clem Palmbach volunteered to work with the young people in getting the program organized and dances were held regularly at the high school. The volunteer fire department assisted with providing a skating rink and several parents helped Palmbach and his wife with chaperone duties during the winter months.

A vote at the high school showed 135 in favor of a youth center to 18 opposed. Students also indicated the type of activities they preferred.

The Hilbert Advancement Association offered its building for a start. It is also used weekly by the Boy Scouts which the organization sponsors. The unit also agreed to purchase paint and supplies to improve the building.

One businessman provided a heater, another donated his services to install plumbing, others gave a juke box, gravel for the parking lot, donated the use of machinery and "have been most generous and cooperative," Palmbach said.

Officers were elected this week at the high school with John Palmbach chosen president; Patrick Halbach, vice president; Shelby Jentsch, secretary, and Pauline Mauthe, treasurer. Clem Palmbach will serve as adviser.

The center, which has two 42 by 30 foot rooms will be open Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights from 7 to 11 p.m. and on Wednesday night from 7 to 10 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Mauthe, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hemauer and Palmbach and his wife will serve as chaperones.

Other parents are asked to volunteer their services.

Pool and dancing will be on the first floor with ping-pong and other games for the basement.

A code of behavior has been set by the student officers which will include: No smoking, no alcoholic beverages, no abusive language, no show of affection, no soft drink bottles on pool tables. Offenders will be liable for all property damage and only persons high school age and older are allowed to use the building.

A paint and fix-up committee is being planned.

Officers will seek permission from the Hilbert board of Education to hold a dance to raise funds for the project. Organizations or individuals wishing to donate funds or equipment may contact Palmbach.

County Approves Planners In Health, Sanitation Study

Wolf Commission Hydrologist Assigned to Project; Report Expected at Meeting in May Authority was given Tuesday morning to the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission to begin immediately making a health and sanitation study in Outagamie County.

The study will be made by Gerald Paul, a hydrologist who recently joined the commission's staff.

Approval for the study was given by the health, education and institutions committee of the Outagamie County Board after committee members, William Morris, executive director of the commission, and Paul concluded a discussion of what should be contained in the study.

Set Next Month
The county will not have to pay for the study, since it is a member of the commission. It will be undertaken during the next month, with at least 10 full working days devoted to the project. A report is expected to be made to the committee in late May.

Morris pointed out that some groups have questioned the validity of such a study if it was undertaken by a hydrologist (a water expert). The Appleton League of Women Voters, reportedly, has raised the objection.

"I feel," Morris said, "that this report can be the basis for follow-up action to see if there is a need for an in-depth study. We may find that in some instances there are health and sanitary areas which already are adequately covered and inspected. On the other hand, we'll certainly find weaknesses in other areas, such as the way food is served in public establishments."

Sanitarian Proposals
Supv. Russell De La Hunt, Kaukauna, chairman of the health, education and institutions committee, explained that there have been proposals made that the county hire a full-time sanitarian. He also pointed out that the League of Women Voters has recommended a merger of the Outagamie County and Appleton health and sanitation departments.

The League suggestion, he added later, has been endorsed by the Outagamie County Medical Society. Also, he said, the county has run into a "legal snag" about whether it even has the authority to hire a sanitarian.

Going into the possible results of the survey which Paul will undertake, De La Hunt said, "if it is determined in the future that this county needs a sanitarian, we'll find a way to put him on the payroll."

Study Sought
He said he would like to see Paul "make as comprehensive a study as possible in the area of possible unsanitary conditions in health, food and drink."

Supv. Herbert Heible, a committee member from Appleton, said the county "needs samples of two things. The sample should be geographic, covering all areas of the county, and it should cover a wide variety of potential or existing problem areas."

He suggested that Paul might look at such potential problem areas as cesspools, milk plants, cheese factories, restaurants, water supplies, and waste disposal.

New London Appreciation Dinner

Volunteer Team Urged to Carry on North District Scouting Program

NEW LONDON — Scoutmasters, district officers and supporters on the North District of the Fox Valley Council of Boy Scouts were issued a challenge Monday to form a team of volunteers to carry on during the absence of a professional executive.

Earl Kubale, new Valley Council Scout executive, issued the challenge at the North District's annual appreciation dinner. Kubale's statement was in reference to the resignation of Charles Wolfelin, Clintonville, who has accepted a position in Danville, Ill. with the Boy Scouts. Wolfelin had been district executive for 4 1/2 years.

Kubale said there is a short-

15 Girls to Compete In Alice Preliminary

Winner of Six-County Contest Will Attend Green Bay State Pageant

HILBERT — Fifteen girls will compete in the District 8 Alice in Dairyland contest here May 20.

Candidates are Lynn Buyski, Karen Garry, Margaret Haut and Sharon Herfort, Green Bay; Jane Grunwaldt, Karen Schwandt, Susan Eich and Sally Kluge, Appleton; Cheryl Hafeman, Greenleaf; Judy LeFavre, Casco; Paula Thiel, Sherwood; Constance Weyers, Kaukauna; Barbara Kloes, Kimberly; Kathy Kreis, Newton, and Donna Forack, New London.

District 8 is comprised of Calumet, Door, Kewaunee, Manitowish, Brown and Outagamie counties. The winner here will compete with 13 other district winners at Green Bay, June 8-10.

Leander Roehrig, chairman of the Hilbert Advancement Association, local sponsor, is in charge of arrangements. Girls will be at the high school at 9 a.m. for interviews, and attend a noon luncheon at the 49er Steak House.

Afternoon activities include a parade and a tour of the area. A public dinner will be held at St. Peter Lutheran Fellowship Hall in the evening, when the district winner will be announced.

Oscar Woelfel, University of Wisconsin Extension Leader in Northeastern Wisconsin will be the featured speaker. He is a native of Stockbridge and graduate of Chilton High School.

Calumet County Home Economics Agent, Miss Joan Prochnow, and Hilbert High School Vocational Agriculture instructor, LeRoy Meles, will serve as host and hostess for the Alice in Dairyland contestants at the high school.

Final plans for the event will be made by the Advancement Association May 1.

age of professional scouters and it is difficult to find replacements for positions left open by retirement, expansion and advancements.

Added Effort
"It is difficult not having a professional man, but many districts have progressed with a little added effort of the volunteers," he said. Kubale urged the people attending to get together as a team.

Richard Van Sistine, Valley Council president, said scouting must continue to grow to serve as many boys as possible. He announced the annual council meeting would be June 20 in Appleton.

Wolfelin received awards from the Valley Council and from the North District representatives for his service in the district.

Wolfelin expressed confidence in the ability of district officers to continue to build the scouting program in the area on past performances.

A special award was made to Percy Hughes, Clintonville, who has been an active organizer of boy scouting in that city for 48 years. Hughes in accepting the plaque, said "Boy Scouting not only has been good for the youngsters, but has kept me young."

Max E. Steig, Clintonville, displayed a charter he received in 1913 for a scout organization in Clintonville. The charter included the names of William Howard Taft, and Theodore Roosevelt.

Represent State Youth Center Delights At Farm Parley

Ronald Hillman Chosen for 12-Day Nebraska Institute

CHILTON — Ronald Hillmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hillmann, has been notified that he will be Wisconsin's recipient of a scholarship enabling him to attend the National Agricultural Youth Institute in Lincoln, Neb. The institute will be held Aug. 14 through 26 at the University of Nebraska.

One young man from each of the 50 states and Puerto Rico are selected to participate with all expenses paid. Candidates are juniors with a high academic achievement. Evidence of leadership and a genuine interest in following agriculture as a career were important criteria.

Hillmann has been a Future Farmer of America Chapter officer for two years. He is a Wisconsin Farmer candidate and also a candidate for state office. He has been active in athletics as well as other school and community activities.

Every State

The purpose of the National Agricultural Youth Institute is to acquaint young men from every state in the nation with the opportunities in the agricultural industry.

The institute will provide an opportunity for participants to become acquainted with national leaders in science, education and agricultural industry, as well as with outstanding young men from each state. Attention will be focused on the importance of agriculture, strengthening farm-city relationships, and the many diverse opportunities in agricultural careers.

CHILTON — The Kiwanis Club will sponsor its 13th annual, $5-a-plate hospital benefit dinner May 6, at Whitey's Altona, New Holstein. This is the club's major service project of the year.

Robert Neller of Appleton, will be the speaker.

All of the proceeds are donated to Calumet County Memorial Hospital.

In charge of the dinner is Fred Eggers; ticket sale chairman are Dan Albedyll and Vern Gonzo; music, Claude Weber; door prizes, Bob Mand; decorations, Mrs. Robert Mand and Mrs. Vern Gonzo.

Tickets are being sold by Kiwanians from Chilton, Hilbert and New Holstein.

Brillion High Chemistry Class Tours Institute

BRILLION — High school chemistry students toured the Institute of Paper Chemistry research laboratory in Appleton Monday, where they viewed experiments in organic chemistry and biochemistry and heard lectures by Institute professors.

Students saw a scale model of the papermaking process and browsed through the Dard Hunter Paper Museum where artifacts of the paper industry and papermaking process are housed.

Some time ago, the same class toured the Brillion Iron Works. They saw the iron melting method and the application of that process to industry.

Ralph Anderson, chief metallurgist at the Iron Works, explained some of the chemistry of gray iron. Anderson will present further lectures on the subject to the class at the high school.

The research and industrial application field trips are intended to make students aware of the role of chemistry in industry and in commonly used products, according to Mrs. Kenneth Konop, chemistry teacher.

Horsemanship Clinic Slated At Manawa

MANAWA — Gary Day, of the Doubleday Training Center, Gresham, will be the instructor and speaker for the showmanship and horsemanship clinic beginning at 10:30 a.m., May 7 at the Rodeo Arena.

The clinic, sponsored by Rodeo Club Riders Saddle Club, is intended to help young horsemen with the coming show season.

Areas of instruction will be showing at halter, English and Western pleasure, English and Western horsemanship, barrel racing, and pole bending.

The clinic is open to the public with a $1 entrance fee for horse and rider and 50 cents for spectators.

Executive Group Approves Revising Planning Bylaws

Fox Valley Regional Unit To Act at Annual Meeting

The Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission executive committee Tuesday afternoon approved with minor changes a proposed revision in the articles of agreement which would change the commission to the Fox Valley Council of Governments.

The vote came at a special meeting called to prepare for Thursday's annual commission meeting. Nine of 12 commission member communities were represented at the meeting, and the vote was unanimous after several questions about the proposal were cleared.

For More Aid Modification of the commission's structure would provide that the highest assembly be made up exclusively of elected officials. The federal government has stipulated that increased federal grants will be available to municipalities which are members of an area-wide regional planning organization whose members are elected rather than citizen members.

If the plan is approved Thursday at the commission meeting in Menasha, it will go to member municipalities for ratification.

Commission officials said regional planning will continue to be the major operation of the council of governments if it is approved.

Possible Members According to the revised bylaws, membership on the council will be open to cities, villages, towns, counties, and school boards. Those units of government, along with regional planning commissions, are considered "municipalities" according to state statute.

The elected head of each unit desiring membership on the council would have one vote in council affairs. The commission presently has 12 members including cities of Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, and Kaukauna; villages of Combined Locks, Kimberly, and Little Chute, and towns of Buchanan, Grand Chute, Harrison, Neenah and Menasha.

Halstead's new duty will be radar technician with Headquarters and Headquarters Battery. He held the warrant officer rank for 10 years but had it vacated because there was no position available at the time of his enlistment in the Waupaca unit.

Succeeding Halstead at the Waupaca unit will be Philip Schlafer, 22, Dale. He enlisted in the National Guard in October, 1963. He is a 1962 graduate of New London High School and attended Lakeland College, Sheboygan.

New Officers of Order of Moose To Be Installed

CLINTONVILLE — Newly elected officers of the Order of Moose will be installed in a ceremony Saturday night at the Moose lodge following a 6 p.m. potluck supper.

The officers are Willard Fletcher, governor; Ray Olson, junior governor; Loy Brisco, prelate; Gerald Esler, secretary; John Sasman, treasurer; and Joe Paul, trustee for three years. Continuing on the board as trustees are Roland Spjorski for two years and Matt Dahm for one year. Henry Berndt was appointed outer guard; William Samz, inner guard; and Marvin Christopherson, sergeant-at-arms.

The Women of the Moose will conduct the installation ceremony. John Peterson will be the installing officer and Mrs. John A. Johnson will be the installing guide.

A social hour will follow the installation.

Orders Should Aid Dairyman Not Insure Low Cost Product

MADISON — Unless federal milk marketing orders are used to protect farm income instead of preserving short term low consumer prices they may become too expensive for the long range interest of the farmer and his cooperatives which depend upon the orders.

This was the warning issued this morning at the opening session of 22nd annual Midwest Milk Marketing Conference here at the University of Wisconsin by Arthur Miller, economist with Pure Milk Products Co-Op of Fond du Lac.

Miller, discussing the future of federal orders policies and programs, said "Producers and their cooperatives will have to assume greater responsibility in the future to fit production and supplies to market needs."

Economic Formula

He called for a change in the pricing to an economic type formula instead of bare minimums which serve only short term needs. He said federal orders will have to consider the "wider movement of milk with a broader sharing of Class I prices so all farmers whose product is needed in the market may be included in a pooling arrangement.

Future federal orders must reflect a changed attitude toward the dairy industry, he said, especially in price relationship policy.

In particular he pointed to the New York-New Jersey order which enjoyed a $5.28 average Class I price at the 210-200 mile zone with 53 per cent fluid use while 36 North Central Markets had a Class I average of $4.31 for 63 per cent in fluid use.

Greater Efforts

"We need greater efforts by the dairy industry to educate the public on long run dangers of sacrificing dairy income to counteract domestic inflation, promote foreign trade and foster international relations," he said.

Farmers will have greater

He questioned the value of consolidating present market orders because of the intermovement and intercity exchange. Local markets are no longer clear cut. He suggested rather, that a single national order might result.

Recommend Policy

Paul Kelly, acting head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at Kansas State University, said the dairy industry should adapt the federal order program to serve as an instrument in forming national policy.

He felt it important to think in terms of "what price and income generating mechanism dairymen want and consider feasible methods of obtaining them."

Kelly saw no fundamental changes in the capacity to produce dairy products but forces exist to expand output in excess of domestic and import needs. The domestic demand for dairy products is substantially unchanged from 1964. He also noted the export - import situation, including the Food for Peace program, has no major gains to offer U.S. dairymen in the future.

He predicted dairying would continue to be concentrated in a few states with the Midwest reserve in the lake states. The trend toward increased Grade A use will continue at present rates; commercial dairy farmers will gain in importance in terms of total off-farm milk sales; herds will grow to sizes above 50 head while those of 20 head and below will disappear; milk production per cow will continue to increase about 3 per cent a year.

Nelson Claims Drug Firms Shortchange Prescription Customers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., in a speech to be delivered on the floor of the Senate today, cited numerous specific examples of how he said leading drug companies have systematically shortchanged Americans for prescription drugs.

The Wisconsin Democrat said that in some instances, the public has paid 20 and even 30 times a fair price for certain drugs.

In his speech, designed to shock the drug industry into reforming what Nelson calls an inflated pricing system for prescription drugs, the Wisconsin Congressman announced that the monopoly subcommittee of the Small Business Committee will begin an investigation of fair prices with public hearings on May 15.

Appleton Man Denies Interstate Transport of Coins Taken in Robbery

Donald R. Peters, 28, 916 Ridge Lane, pleaded innocent Monday to a charge of interstate transportation of coins taken in a $50,000 robbery in Menasha March 19.

Peters was arraigned in federal court at Milwaukee. No date was set for his trial. An alleged accomplice, Lawrence V. Miller, 21, 603A W. South Park Ave., Oshkosh, is awaiting trial on an armed robbery charge. Miller and Peters are free on bonds.

potential problem areas he might look into such as watershed and reservoir contamination, lake overflows, ground water supply, public drinking systems, plumbing systems, and contamination of public waters.

De La Hunt said he fears there are possible health hazards with drinking water supplies in villages since, "in some cases, water is never tested after it leaves the wells."

He also told Paul that, as part of the study, "I'd like to see you order a full-course dinner in some small restaurants in the county. I'd like to know how the food is prepared, how it is served and where it comes from."

Referring to an extensive study of health problems in Outagamie County made by the League of Women Voters, De La Hunt suggested to Paul that he ask League spokesmen "for examples of the unsanitary conditions they speak of; and then go check them out."

"Also," he said, "ask the president of the medical society (Dr. James Gmeiner) just what is so bad that makes them feel we ought to consolidate our operations with the city of Appleton's."

EUB, Methodist Merger To Be Decided by Voting at Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — The fourth quarterly meeting and church conference will begin at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 3 in the Behling Lounge of the First Methodist Church. The Rev. L. Clarence Kelley, Green Bay District superintendent, will preside.

The agenda includes a vote on the "Plan and Basis of Union" between the Salem Evangelical United Brethren Church and the First Methodist Church.

The Salem EUB church will vote on the proposed merger at the congregational meeting Sunday.
